ARTHUR SMITH NAMED HEAD OF LIQUOR BOARD

Foreman, Sprague Other Members.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Pictures on Back Page.)

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Gov. Horner tonight named Arthur S. Smith of Bloomington chairman of the state liquor commission to serve four years. Other members were Col. Albert A. Sprague and Milton J. Foreman, lieutenant general of militia, both of Chicago, to serve six and two years respectively.

It had been reported earlier in the day that Col. Sprague would assume the chairmanship, but early in the evening the governor named Smith.

The chairman was secretary to the committee of legislators and citizens appointed by Gov. Horner to study liquor laws. Parts of the report the committee made were incorporated in the liquor control law which passed the house Tuesday night and was signed Wednesday.

Backer of Gov. Horner.

Chairman Smith is a young Democratic leader in central Illinois. He is owner of the Purity Ann Baking company of Bloomington and during the 1932 campaign was one of the principal backers of Gov. Horner in his section of the state. It is known that he has been tendered several other posts but refused them.

Foreman is a picturesque figure in Illinois political and National Guard life. A lawyer for years, he was a Republican alderman during the Dunne and Harrison administrations. During the war he led the 122d field artillery overseas and in post-war years commanded the 33d division. He was retired with the rank of lieutenant general of militia.

Col. Sprague is a merchant and long time Democratic leader in Chicago. He had a distinguished war record overseas. He served as commissioner of public works in the cabinets of both Mayor Dever and Mayor Cermak.

The commission will meet to organize tomorrow afternoon in the Chicago offices of the department of finance, 30 North La Salle street. It was expected that they would agree upon a secretary and make preliminary arrangements for the direction of the law.

Only One Present.

Chairman Smith was the only member of the commission in Springfield when the governor made his announcement. He was called from Bloomington to the executive mansion this morning. Mr. Smith told reporters he had no idea whom the commission might name secretary. It was thought that the governor would be consulted on this point before tomorrow's meeting.

Chairman Smith will draw $5,000 salary, while that of the other members and the secretary will be $4,800.

Power to Revoke Licenses.

It also has the right to issue and revoke licenses and one of its members must sit upon the license appeal commission set up to provide Chicago with a measure of home rule. This complicated provision holds that the secretary of state, the chairman of the state commission, and a third member to be named by the Chicago city council shall constitute the appeal board providing that all three are not members of the same political party.

Since Secretary of State Hughes and Mr. Smith are Democrats, unless the city council names a Republican, Mr. Foreman as minority member of the commission will become a member of the Chicago appeal board.

Must File Inventories.

While the governor was pondering over the membership, Assistant Director of Finance J. M. Braude notified all retail dealers in liquor to file an inventory of their stock on hand when the bill went into effect last night.

Braude estimated that the new law will bring more than six million dollars into the state's coffers within a year. He was busy forwarding regulations for the stamping of bottles, boxes, kegs and cases and informing the retailers that they must file an initial inventory under oath when applying for a license. The revenue stamps will be distributed within a few days and can be purchased at either the Springfield or Chicago office of the finance department.

"Until the stamps are furnished," Braude said, "the department expects all manufacturers and importing distributors to pay a tax on the basis of tonnage sold."

CAPONE'S PART IN DYERS' WAR TOLD AT TRIAL

Protection Given by Gang Czar Bared.

BY WALTER FITZMAURICE.

Morris Becker, master cleaner and dyer, and the state's star witness so far in the racket conspiracy case, took the stand yesterday to relate the part played by Al Capone, master racketeer, in the cleaning and dyeing conspiracy for which Dr. Benjamin M. Squires and seventeen others are on trial before Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan in Criminal court.

The 74 year old cleaner and his stocky son, Theodore Becker, both loud voiced and positive, told the jury that persecution from the union element among the defendants was so harsh that in 1927 they called on Capone to protect them.

Deny Paying for Protection.

The No. 1 gangster, whom the state indicted with Dr. Squires and the 17 others, but whom the government refused to remove from Atlanta penitentiary for trial, was entirely satisfactory as their guardian, the Beckers asserted. That they had ever paid Capone a nickel for his services both denied.

As Morris Becker put it:

"Our shops had been bombed forty times, and the union had bled us for $3,000 to call off a strike. The police, the state's attorney and the United States attorney would do nothing, so we called on a man that could protect us—Al Capone. He did the job well, for he liked me, and we never paid him a nickel for what he did."

Transition in Union Related.

Identification of Capone as protector of the Beckers was only part of their story concerning activities of the absent defendant—and the less sensational part, as well. Conditions in the cleaning and dyeing industry changed between 1927, when Morris Becker called in his neighbor, Al, and 1931, when Dr. Squires, economist of the University of Chicago, became the cleaning and dyeing czar, Becker testified.

"I had disposed of my business and started anew," he said. "One day I got a call to see Capone, and went to his headquarters in the Lexington hotel. Al told me the boys were waiting to see me downstairs."

"Who were the boys?" asked Assistant State's Attorney Thomas Dodd Healy, assisting Special Prosecutor Edwin J. Raber on the case.

Points Out 5 Union Chiefs.

The 74 year old Becker, who had worn his booming voice hoarse in shouting the story of his grievances, stepped off the stand, threaded his way among the rows of defendants and their lawyers and, with extended arm, pointed out five defendants. Literally, he "put the finger" on the following: James P. Gorman, Al Boris, Ben Abrams, alias Alberts; Charlie Goldstein and Jean Franks, the union chiefs around whom Dr. Squires built his Cleaners and Dyers' Institute when that organization was founded.

Murray Humphries, one of the defendants in the trial, who is a fugitive on both federal and state charges, also attended this session, Becker said. Also present were Capone cousins, Phil D'Andrea and a [illegible] henchman, Sam (Doc) Ginsberg, who were indicted in the conspiracy case but never arrested.

Gets Rare Consideration.

Because of his friendship for Capone, who affectionately called him "Daddy," the elder Becker got rare consideration from the "boys" at the Lexington hotel meeting, he said.

"Gorman asked me if I would go along," he related. "I said I would never go along after what they had done to me for thirty years. Besides, I said, to raise my price to that of the Squires institute would cost me $30,000 a year. They agreed to pay me $15,000 a year, and paid me $3,750 before I refused to take any more."

Son Describes "Shakedown."

The younger Becker, louder voiced and more belligerent to defense attorneys than his father, testified to a $3,000 "shakedown" performed on his company by another defendant, Walter Crowley, head of the City Dye Workers and president of the then Master Cleaners and Dyers' association, in settlement of a strike.

It was this "shakedown" that impelled the Beckers to call on Capone, they testified. It was in 1927 and Gorman had called a strike, the elder Becker said. Gorman called and advised him to send his son to "see the boss," naming Crowley. The younger Becker went downtown to the Master

TRAYLOR "NOT SO WELL," SAYS HIS PHYSICIAN

After a day of encouraging improvement Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank, who is seriously ill in his home at 426 Barry avenue, was reported "not so well" this morning.

Shortly before 2 o'clock this morning Dr. William R. Cubbins said that the banker's pulse, temperature, and respiration had risen, the pulse from 100 to 130, the temperature from 98.8 to 103.6, and the respiration from 36 to 40. The respiration change was not so great since it had fluctuated between 36 and 40 during the night.

Since his third and last relapse a few days ago Mr. Traylor had gained considerably in his fight against pneumonia. Yesterday was considered an encouraging day. During the evening, however, the banker began losing some of that gain. He was sleeping quietly this morning.

Rules Distance from Bar to School Is Not Direct Line

Newark, N. J., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—A saloon may be directly across a city street from a school and still be ruled more than 200 feet away for the application of the state liquor law. The city commission ruled that the distance of the tavern of E. and E. Rogers from the Essex County Boys' Vocational school across the street must be measured not along a straight line or along a "jay-walking" path, but by crossing the street at the nearest corner and back to the school door on the other side of the street.

Admits Theft of $132,000; Fined Dollar

Howard S. Duncan of Hammond, former assistant treasurer of the Northern Indiana Public Service company, who pleaded guilty at Crown Point to embezzling $132,000 from the company over a period of five years, yesterday received his sentence from Circuit Judge William J. Murray. He was ordered to pay a fine of $1 and costs, a total of $19.75. Judge Murray also sentenced Duncan to 2 to 14 years in the state penitentiary, but ordered the sentence suspended and paroled the defendant to the court bailiff. Duncan borrowed the $19.75 with which his defalcation was punished from his attorney, Joseph H. Conroy, and paid in full.

Defendant Aids in Exposé.

The light sentence was given the confessed embezzler in recognition of his services in exposing alleged mismanagement on the part of the higher officers of the utility company. His testimony before the Lake county grand jury was largely instrumental in causing that body to indict seven officials, including Samuel Insull Jr., vice chairman, and Morse Dell Plain, president, for embezzlement. The seven are all at liberty on bonds pending their arraignment.

In explaining his leniency Judge Murray quoted from hitherto suppressed portions of the report of the grand jury which voted the true bills against the utility managers. The grand jurors, after stating that they could not condone Duncan's peculations or the use of the money—he lost it gambling—added that he had rendered a public service by exposing the "manipulation and dishonest methods of his superiors," which were alleged to have enabled them to keep service rates high.

Hits Bookkeeping System.

"If the company had had a good bookkeeping system," the report asserted, "it would have been impossible for Duncan to have embezzled $132,000."

After finishing his quotations Judge Murray said that he took full responsibility for granting the light sentence.

New York in Grip of 8 Inch Snow; Traffic Is Hampered

New York, Feb. 1.—[Special.]—A snowstorm which caused many street accidents, hampered traffic and disrupted airplane communications struck the city this morning. It lasted all day and threatened to continue without any letup all night, bringing at least eight to ten inches of snow. Winter was preparing two fresh assaults on the city with a storm traveling up the coast from Florida and one coming from the great lake region.

IT APPEARS THAT GROUND HOG WILL STAY OUT TODAY

Those who have faith in the ground hog and Government Meteorologist W. P. Day as weather prophets may look for the end of winter almost any time. Forecaster Day predicted yesterday that today's weather would be unsettled, with little probability of sunshine to furnish a shadow when the ground hog creeps out to look around.

The ground hog, according to the legend, will remain out if he does not see his shadow, and the winter will be ended. Sunshine and the consequent shadow, however, according to this belief, will send the animal scampering back to his den for six more weeks of winter.

Snow began falling early today and within half an hour the streets and sidewalks were well covered. After an hour of snow there was a mixture of sleet, which made automobile driving somewhat difficult.

Increasing cloudiness is forecast for Chicago and its suburbs today. Fresh southerly winds are expected to send the temperature to a 36 degree maximum, just 12 degrees above normal for the day.

WOMAN TO WALK 2 MILES ON 100TH BIRTHDAY TODAY

Mrs. Margaret Schoonover, resident in the Washington and Jane Smith Home for Retired People, 113th street and Western avenue, will be 100 years old today. If the weather is favorable she will take her usual two mile walk, made daily except in inclement weather.

Mrs. Schoonover, who makes her own bed and cares for her room without aid each day, and appears regularly for her meals in the dining room, attributes her long life and good health to the fact that she has "minded her own business."

She is the daughter of a former Cleveland minister, and has no near relatives. Born in Cleveland, she has lived in Chicago for almost 75 years.

$4,000 IN BANK, FOUND LIVING ON RELIEF ROLL

A couple who lived in apparent poverty with their six children while the wife had a bank account of more than $4,000 yesterday pleaded guilty to obtaining $903.94 of public relief fraudulently in Municipal Judge John Gutknecht's court, at 11th and State streets. Judge Gutknecht ordered the money to be repaid in full to the relief commission.

The couple were Steve and Angeline Scilapis, 1737 Arcade place. Judge Gutknecht deferred sentence to this morning. The Scilapis family has been on the relief rolls of the United Charities since 1917 almost continuously, according to investigators for the relief commission.

Sankey Sent to Dakota for Kidnap Trial

Verne Sankey, the stocky little South Dakota rancher who turned kidnaper, had a crowded half hour between 5:30 and 6 o'clock last evening, and then found himself aboard a Milwaukee road train bound for Pierre, S. D., where he must stand trial in the federal court for the abduction of Charles Boettcher II., wealthy broker of Denver, Colo.

The kidnaper had just undergone 24 hours of questioning by federal investigators, during which he readily admitted, as he had done to the Chicago police who captured him in a barber chair here on Wednesday, the kidnaping of Boettcher and of Haskell Bohn of St. Paul, Minn. Then at 5:30 p. m. Sankey agreed to waive his right to oppose his removal from the federal district of Chicago to that of Pierre.

Get Papers for Removal.

United States District Attorney Dwight H. Green at once summoned United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker. The prosecutor got a warrant for Sankey's removal. Five minutes later Sankey was taken from the office of Melvin Purvis, chief investigator for the United States department of justice here, to the courtroom of Federal Judge John P. Barnes in the United States courtho se, where the removal papers were signed.

Meanwhile officials of the Milwaukee railroad had been asked by the federal prosecutor to hold one of their trains, the Sioux, which was scheduled to leave Union station at 5:45 p. m., until Sankey could be put aboard to be sent to Pierre. The railroad officials consented.

It was 5:50 p. m. when the documents were ready for Sankey's removal. Then operatives under Mr. Purvis took charge of the prisoner. In an effort to elude newspaper men and photographers they pushed him out a back door and departed on a freight elevator. In the confusion one of the guards who had been ordered to accompany Sankey to Pierre was left behind.

Handcuffed to Deputy.

On the ground floor of the courthouse Sankey was handcuffed to the wrist of Deputy United States Marshal Otto Webb and surrounded by two other marshals and five department of justice agents. The party entered two taxicabs and sped to the station. Sankey was pulled at a run through the concourse and he boarded the train at 6:02. Three minutes later he was on his way.

Prosecutor Green last evening said that Sankey probably would be tried at the next term of court with his wife, Fern, who also is under indictment for the Boettcher kidnaping. Mrr. Sankey has been free under $5,000 bonds and has been living at her husband's mortgaged ranch near Gann Valley, S. D. Yesterday she was seized and her bond raised to $50,000 in the fear that she might try to escape after her husband's capture.

The federal indictment against Sankey in Pierre was returned last June after Boettcher had made an airplane trip from Denver to tell how he was held prisoner on the Sankey ranch until he paid a $60,000 ransom. Another indictment for the same kidnaping was returned by a federal grand jury in Denver. Two of Sankey's accomplices in this kidnaping already have been tried and sentenced in Denver to 25 years in federal penitentiary.

Not Wanted in Lindbergh Case.

Efforts to link Sankey with the kidnaping and murder of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., son of the air hero, in March, 1932, were unsuccessful. Federal authorities in Washington had been exultant over Sankey's capture and there were hints that he might be wanted in the Lindbergh case. Yesterday, however, New Jersey authorities and federal agents who have been trying to find the murderer since the crime said they did not want Sankey for this kidnaping.

THREE BALLOTS TAKEN; REPORT 10-2 FOR GUILT

Frenzied Arguments Reach Courtroom.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

After eight hours and fifteen minutes of furious debate the jury attempting to decide the guilt or innocence of three Touhy gangsters who are charged with the kidnaping of John Factor was locked up for the night at 12:50 o'clock this morning.

Three ballots had been taken, but no verdict could be decided upon by the twelve jurors. Bickering which rose at times to the violent stage accompanied the deliberations of the jury.

The first word sent out by the jurors since they retired at 4:35 p. m. was transmitted to Judge Michael Feinberg by Bailiff Louis Green at 12:30 a. m.

Deadlocked on One Point.

"The jury reports that it has been deadlocked upon one point of the case since 7:45 p. m.," the bailiff reported. "It asks that it be permitted to go to bed."

"Tell the jurors they will have to keep on arguing," ordered the judge, but he relented after a personal visit to the juryroom. He found several members of the jury asleep, he said, and the others exhausted.

"There is obviously no chance of a verdict being reached at this time," he told the lawyers in the case. A few minutes later the tired jurors were marched to their quarters in a dormitory in the county jail.

The jurors will resume their deliberations this morning, probably starting around 9 o'clock. It is expected that they will sleep until 7 and that have breakfast, after which they may resume their work.

Attorneys Speculate on Cause.

The jury deadlock was regarded as a good luck omen by Defense Attorney William Scott Stewart. The long deliberations mean either an acquittal or a disagreement, he predicted. Attaches of the state's attorney's office took the view that the deadlock has not been on the question of guilt, but of punishment. Several impartial observers leaned to Stewart's belief, pointing out that during the trial two of the jurors occasionally smiled at Stewart's remarks, and that these men likely had been impressed by the defense.

Extraordinary precautions were taken by the jurors to prevent any report of their balloting from becoming known. When bailiffs entered the jury room, Henry Beck, 1835 South 49th avenue, Cicero, the jury foreman, commanded silence and no word was spoken until the court attaches left. It was learned that three ballots, solely on the question of the guilt or innocence of the defendants, had been taken but results of the voting were successfully kept secret.

Report 10 Vote for Guilt.

The bailiffs reported, however, that the deliberations of the jury were frenzied. Loud words were exchanged and one juror was heard to challenge another to physical combat.

There were many wild rumors in the courtroom, which remained crowded despite the lateness of the hour. One prevalent report was that the jury had voted ten to two for conviction, but there was no authority apparent to substantiate this statement.

Among those who lingered in the courtroom as hour after hour passed without the tapping on the jury room door which would announce a verdict was John Factor, the wealthy speculator, who was abducted last July 1 and held for twelve days until a ransom of $70,000 was paid for his release.

"I hope, of course, for a guilty verdict," said the man who positively identified the three defendants as his kidnapers during the trial. "I feel that the men who kidnaped me and threatened me with torture and death should pay a just penalty for their deed."

Jury Retires at 4:35 p. m.

The twelve jurors, solemn with the responsibility with which they were charged, retired at this o'clock yesterday afternoon to consider their verdict.

They took with them the instructions of Judge Feinberg concerning the legal rules they are to follow in arriving at a verdict. Their ears were filled with the impassioned oratory of attorneys for the state and defense who had argued throughout the day. In their minds was the evidence presented over a period of nine days at a trial consistently stirring, sometimes sensationally so.

Defendants Huddle in Cell.

Waiting, huddled together in a cell, were the defendants, Roger Touhy, cold and emotionless; Gustave Schaefer, the moody one, and Albert Kator, nervous and apprehensive.

The trio had heard Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley brand them as the perpetrators of what he termed the "cowardly, contemptible, despicable crime" of kidnaping for ransom.

They had searched the faces of the jury anxiously as the prosecutor, in searing phrases, pleaded with the twelve men to stamp out the crime of kidnaping in Illinois by returning a guilty verdict carrying the death penalty.

As the jury began considering the evidence there was much speculation concerning the outcome of their deliberations. This has been something of a mystery jury ever since the defense unexpectedly accepted the last four of the twelve without asking them a single question.

When the fate of the three men was given to the jury Factor stood unobtrusively at one side, surrounded by his guards. His wife, Rella, and son, Jerome, occupied a rear bench.

Not far from them was Mrs. Clara Touhy, wife of the gang leader, who buried her face in her hands as the state asked the jury to send her husband to the electric chair.

They were the central figures in the court drama as the jury filed from the box. But during the day the spotlight of interest had been trained upon the two lawyers whose summing up of the evidence held a crowded courtroom in rapt silence.

Skill vs. Sincerity.

It was a contest in which the skilful reasoning of Defense Attorney Stewart, veteran criminal lawyer, had been pitted against the utter sincerity and fire of Crowley, one of the youngest men ever to hold the post of first assistant state's attorney in Cook county.

The plausible Stewart expressed doubt in his argument that Factor had ever been kidnaped at all. He asserted also that the kidnaping may have been framed by Factor or committed by the Capone syndicate.

"You have Factor," he told the jury, "mixing up with such men as Sam Hunt and Murray Humphries. You have his history of wrong doing. Surely you are not going to send men to the chair or condemn them to living death in the penitentiary on the testimony of a man like that."

But Crowley, relentlessly detailing all the evidence pointing to the guilt of the Touhy men, asserted that the jury, if it wished to render a just verdict, could not do other than find the defendants guilty.

"We have presented here a most complete case," he said, "and we have presented it honestly. These men stand enshrouded completely in a cloak of guilt.

Seeks to Destroy Reputation.

"Stewart's one fight has been to destroy the victim, Factor. He has used every means to attempt to destroy his reputation. But he presented no facts to dispute Factor's story. We didn't select Factor as the victim. These men picked him out and brought him in here as the complaining witness by their acts.

"Their selection of a victim was cleverly based upon the fact that his stay in this country would not be long and he might not be able to testify against them. [Factor's extradition to England to stand trial on charges of fraud has been delayed by agreement with the British government so that he might testify at this trial.]

"We are not trying the question here of who was kidnaped. We are deciding the bigger question of whether any one has the right to kidnap any person."

In contrast to the trials of former years, the instructions of the judge to the jury required only ten minutes to read. They were brief and couched in language easy to understand under the rules of the new Illinois practice act.

The court explained that the jury may reach any one of four verdicts—not guilty, guilty and a penalty of any term of years not less than five, guilty and life imprisonment, and guilty with the death penalty.

Another instruction explained that the jury must find the defendants guilty beyond a reasonable doubt and give the defendants the presumption of innocence at the beginning of the case.

The fact that the defendants did not take the stand in their own defense must not be considered by the jury in any way, the judge instructed the jurors. He pointed out also that circumstantial evidence is to be considered as legal evidence. Another point explained was that the wife of a defendant may not testify, thus pointing out why Mrs. Touhy did not corroborate the alibi her husband offered by a young woman witness.

Concerning this same alibi, the judge explained that point of law which considers an accessory to a crime as guilty as the principal. The evidence of Miss Emily Ivans indicated that Touhy was in his home at the time of the kidnaping near the Dells roadhouse at 1 a. m.

"An accessory is one who stands by, aids, abets, assists, advises, or encourages in a crime even if he is not present at the scene of the crime," this instruction read.

The more than forty exhibits introduced into evidence were taken into the jury room, including the five pistols and a rifle seized from the Touhys when they were captured in Elkhorn, Wis., July 19, seven days after the release of Factor.

Lose Weather Report.

Later Defense Attorney Stewart discovered that the weather report of last July 2, which was one of the defense exhibits, had not been sent into the jury room and at his insistence it was delivered to the jurors. The report showed that a violent hailstorm had swept Cook county that night. Factor in his testimony had not mentioned such a storm, although he declared he was transported that night in an automobile from the first hiding place in Glenview to a second place which has never been located.

While the jury deliberated, Deputy United States Marshal Ben Goldberg appeared at the courtroom bearing a warrant for each of the defendants, charging them with the robbery of a national bank in St. Paul. The warrants will be served, Goldberg said, and the Touhy gangsters taken into custody in the event of an acquittal.

GREAT BRITAIN WILL MAKE PLEA TODAY FOR FACTOR'S ARREST

Attorney Franklin R. Overmyer, counsel for the British government, announced yesterday that he would appear today before Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan and ask that the necessary steps be taken for immediate extradition of John Factor to England.

Factor, who has been ordered to England by the United States Supreme court, is alleged to have defrauded British investors of $7,000,000 in stock deals. The British government agreed to defer action until the end of the trial of the Touhy gangsters for the Factor kidnaping.

As soon as Factor is arrested on the extradition warrant, government agents said, the bond of $50,000 under which Factor is now at liberty will be revoked. He will then be held in jail pending issuance of the deportation warrant by the secretary of state.

Bremer Family's Hope for His Release Revived

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Diversion of the attention of federal and local authorities to Chicago where Verne Sankey confessed the kidnaping of Haskell Bohn today revived hopes of the Bremer family that word would be received shortly from the abductors of Edward G. Bremer, 37 year old St. Paul banker.

THREE DILLINGER AIDS PUT BACK IN INDIANA PRISON

Their Leader Lays Plans for His Defense.

Three bitter, law defying criminals, associates of John Dillinger, who were arrested with him last week in Tucson, Ariz., shivered yesterday morning as more than 100 policemen hustled them without ceremony through the portals of the Michigan City [Ind.] penitentiary, from which they had escaped on Sept. 26.

"Do me a favor," said Charles Makley, one of the trio, to Sergt. Frank Reynolds of the Chicago police as they came in sight of the prison. "Shoot me through the head so I won't have to go back in there."

The others, Harry Pierpont and Russell Clark, were just as bitter.

"Every day for years," declared Pierpont, "something has happened to make me hate the law."

Clark, who was beaten by the Tucson police before he submitted to arrest, said that he hoped to die soon. All criticized the administration of the prison before their escape and asserted that if they had not been treated cruelly they would not have made their break for freedom.

Dillinger Plans His Defense.

Dillinger meanwhile, in the Crown Point jail, was laying plans for his defense, while rumors that a party of his still free pals were planning a rescue raid persisted. Extra guards were thrown around the jail last night. The authorities declined to tell whence the rumors came, but it was said there had been a threat to kidnap Sheriff Lillian Holley of Lake county.

Attorney Louis Piquett of Chicago conferred with the gang leader in the morning and announced that he was confident Dillinger would be able to prove he was in Florida on Jan. 15, when Policeman William Patrick O'Malley was shot to death during a holdup of the First National bank of East Chicago.

It is for this crime that Prosecutor Robert G. Estill hopes to send Dillinger to the electric chair. Ten witnesses have identified him as the O'Malley killer and Mr. Estill declared he was not fearful of any evidence Piquett might dig up.

The present plan is to have Dillinger arraigned today before Judge William J. Murray at Crown Point. However, it was indicated last night that a special grand jury would be called into session today to vote a new indictment, the one already in existence against the bandit killer being regarded as not quite airtight.

Lawyer to Seek Delay.

It is Mr. Estill's plan to demand that the trial start not later than Feb. 13. Attorney Piquett declared he would seek at least a thirty day continuance, as he would be unable to prepare his defense in less time.

Among the visitors to see Dillinger yesterday was his father, John Sr., a farmer living near Indianapolis. He had with him another attorney, John Ryan. Two more lawyers, William McAleer and Joseph H. Conroy of the Lake county bar, announced that they had also been asked to aid in the defense.

Pierpont, Makley, and Clark, who had been conveyed across the country in a special car, guarded by Indiana state policemen, were met at the La Salle street station in Chicago by a large delegation of policemen under the command of Capt. John P. Stege. The remainder of their journey to Michigan City was made in automobiles.

Thirteen carloads of policemen, including a large detail from the prison, moved out of the station with the captives at about 10 a. m. With a motorcycle escort, the procession moved to the state line quickly and then by the main roads to Michigan City, which was reached at 11 a. m. There waited fifty additional guards, increasing the total to about 115.

Once inside their cells the three prisoners were questioned by Capt. Stege, Lieut. Reynolds, Capt. Leach, and the prison warden, Louis E. Kunkel. They were asked about reports that they had declared $1,000 a week was paid by the band to Chicago policemen while they were in Chicago during November and December.

None would talk in detail about this.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Separated from the other women companions of the John Dillinger band of outlaws, Mrs. Mary Kinder was returned to Indianapolis this afternoon to face charges of aiding the gangsters to elude capture after they escaped from Indiana state prison Sept. 26.

Dubbed the "girl friend" of Harry Pierpont, regarded by police as the real leader of the band rather than Dillinger, Mrs. Kinder was still grieving over enforced separation from the man to whom she sought to be married in Tucson. The wedding was prevented because Mrs. Kinder has a husband now serving a sentence at state prison.

Mrs. Kinder will be held in county jail pending arraignment and trial on an indictment returned last week by the county grand jury. She is charged specifically with hiding Pierpont near Indianapolis a few days after the prison break. Police alleged she secreted several members of the gang.

NEW ROOSEVELT ORDER FAVORS FREE UNIONS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt issued an executive order today putting "teeth" into the election machinery designed by the national labor board to ascertain the will of employes for collective bargaining.

The President ordered that the vote of a majority of employes in an election to determine spokesmen for collective bargaining with employers is to cover all employes. In the negotiations with the employers following an election the men chosen by the majority will deal for all the men.

The order was regarded as of paramount importance to the independent unions in their conflict with company unions. The former were sustained in their contention that majority rule must determine the spokesmen for collective bargaining.

The order is regarded as nullifying the doctrine enunciated by Donald R. Richberg, chief NRA counsel, who had ruled that, even though a majority of men selected one of their number for collective bargaining, any "substantial minority" might also obtain conference with the employer, and that even individuals might ask for separate terms.

L. H. M'CORMICK IS SERIOUSLY ILL IN MIAMI

Relatives and friends in Chicago have been informed of the serious illness in Miami, Fla., of L. Hamilton McCormick.

His niece, Miss Elizabeth McCormick, said last night that he had suffered a severe attack of heart disease Tuesday, but that there had been no alarming reports since. Mr. McCormick's son, Alister, left Santa Barbara, Cal., his home, yesterday to go to his father's bedside.

L. Hamilton McCormick is widely known as an author and inventor. Most of his writings have been on character and psychology. His inventions include improvements for torpedoes, airplanes, and timekeeping devices. Mr. McCormick's Chicago residence is at 851 Rush street.

4 Fishermen Trapped on Ice Floe Reach Shore

Bay City, Mich., Feb. 1.—(AP)—The sheriff's office was notified late today that four fishermen who had been trapped on an ice floe in Saginaw bay had reached shore.

AWAIT ACTION BY WISCONSIN IN M'FADDEN CASE

Edward (Father Tom) McFadden, rearrested after the state had nol prossed the charge against him in the Factor kidnaping trial, was arraigned yesterday before Judge J. William Brooks on a fugitive warrant charging him with illegal transportation and possession of a machine gun in Wisconsin. The hearing was continued until Feb. 14 to await action by Wisconsin authorities.

The charge grew out of the arrest of McFadden, Roger Touhy, Gustav Schaefer, and other Touhy gangsters in Elkhorn last July 9 with a number of guns in their automobile. This arrest led to the return to Illinois of McFadden, Schaefer and Touhy for trial on the kidnaping charge. Fugitive warrants also were issued for Touhy and Schaefer, who are now waiting to learn their fate in the Factor case.

U. S. SPEEDS UP INSULL'S EXIT; O. K.'S PASSPORT

Fugitive Stays in Greece "On Tolerance."

BY EUGENE SPECK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, Feb. 1.—Formally and at the expressed wish of the Greek government, Lincoln MacVeagh, United States minister, informed Prime Minister Tsaldaris today that the invalidated passport held by Samuel Insull, fugitive Chicago utilities magnate, is reconfirmed.

Insull's passport, which was canceled for all travel except to the United States in 1932, now becomes valid at all frontiers. He may enter any country which is willing to grant him a visa.

Refuses to See U. S. Vice Consul.

Government officials received the renewal of the passport with expressions of pleasure, but this was not the case with Insull. At the request of the government, United States Vice Consul Henry A. W. Beck went twice to Insull's sumptuous flat to inform him his passport is good for travel. The first time the vice consul was received by Mme. Helene Kouryoumdjoglou, who declared the 74 year old man was unable to see callers, but that he might be seen early tonight when his doctors arrived.

As a courtesy to the Greek government the American officer returned. This time Mrs. Insull was at the doorway with the news that Insull was too ill to hear about any developments.

Insull, however, received two callers in addition to his doctors, today. One reported that he appeared very ill with heavy pouches under his eyes and a bad color. But at the same time, the government for the third day has had the report of its own physicians that Insull, though sick, is able to travel.

Stay "On Tolerance."

The Greek government continued today to appear irrevocably committed to the expulsion of their American guest, whose residence permit expired last midnight. The stay of the fugitive, who is wanted in Chicago to face charges of fraud, is described now as simply "on tolerance."

Egypt is regarded as the most likely country for Insull to seek a new haven since there is now no extradition treaty between that government and the United States.

Refuse to Delay Income Tax Case.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Samuel Insull's lawyers today lost their last move to defer a $199,000 income tax suit against the fugitive utilities magnate and the case will be heard by the board of tax appeals Feb. 14.

Insull lawyers had petitioned to have the case heard when the board goes on circuit and sits in Chicago at some future date.

One previous postponement had been granted. The case originally was set for hearing late in January, but it was postponed until Feb. 14 to allow a rechecking by the government of some of Insull's charity contributions and stock trades.

DONATION FROM CWA RETURNED BY PRESIDENT

Among those who contributed to the Warm Springs foundation on Tuesday, the birthday of President Roosevelt, were a group of CWA workers, designated as gang 30 on project 595, employed by the city's bureau of streets.

Their total collection was $10.50, which was sent to Washington. Last night it was returned, with a note from the President.

"Your generous gift is appreciated," he wrote. "The foundation does not feel that it can accept, however, as we believe CWA workers need their funds even more than does Warm Springs."

U. S. MOVES FOR EXTRADITION OF MARTIN INSULL

Green Sends Papers to Canada.

United States Attorney Dwight H. Green yesterday took the first step by the government toward extradition of Martin J. Insull from Canada to face trial in a Chicago Federal court on a charge of concealing assets in bankruptcy.

A copy of the federal indictment voted against Insull, a certified copy of the record in the case, and a petition for extradition were dispatched to the United States minister in Ottawa.

The move for extradition, separate from the state petition for the return of Insull, will be hastened, Attorney Green said, in an effort to complete the necessary litigation before the final ruling in the state case.

State Case Now on Appeal.

After indicating that they had little patience with Insull's appeal from the ruling that he must stand trial in a state court of Illinois, judges of the Ontario Supreme court took the case under advisement a week ago. A lower court had ruled that Insull must return to Illinois to answer charges of embezzling more than $500,000 from Insull companies.

Attorney Green said that the government's request for extradition of Insull will be placed in the hands of a Canadian prosecutor. He hopes to have the government and state extradition orders entered simultaneously so that Insull may first be tried in the Federal court, if the state is willing.

Failure of the government to get a favorable ruling in its extradition case before or at the same time that the state case is settled would mean that Insull could not be arrested by federal agents while in the United States, it was pointed out.

The government would have to wait until the state case is completed. Then, if Insull won aquittal in the state trial, the law would allow him 60 days in which to return to Canada. In that case the government would have to go through the entire costly and uncertain business of extradition proceedings once more.

Paris Cab Drivers Strike to Protest Gas Price Rise

PARIS, Feb. 1.—(AP)—A gasoline strike by Paris taxicab drivers was 90 per cent effective today, with only 800 operating out of the usual 7,500. Many drivers refused to work for fear of violence. The strike is in protest of the boost in gasoline prices, caused by recent tax increases.

NEW JAP ARMY CHIEF SCOFFS AT IDEA OF U. S. WAR

Claims Clash with Russia Also Unlikely.

TOKIO, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Japan is "out for peace," Gen. Senjuro Hayashi, who recently was elevated to the powerful pos of minister of war, said today.

"I am incapable of conceiving any Japanese-American differences justifying a belief in a future Japanese-American war," the director of Japan's army said in his first interview since he succeeded Gen. Sadao Araki, an extreme militarist.

Neither will Japan fight Russia "unless the war is carried to us by the other side," Gen. Hayashi said. "We are making no preparations for war with Russia. Our dispositions in Manchuria are merely aimed at fulfilling our treaty obligations to defend Manchukuo."

Terms Soviet Charges Absurd.

He termed soviet charges that Japan plans to seize the Russian maritime province of northern Sakhalin "absurd."

"No responsible officer in the Japanese army harbors any such designs or ambitions," Gen. Hayashi insisted.

Discussing relations with America, he said:

"When the Japanese insist on increased ratios Americans should understand that does not mean preparations are being made to fight America. We are merely trying to fill the gaps in our national defense."

Japan's protocol with Manchukuo, he asserted, "obligates us to defend Manchukuo within its present boundaries. The Japanese army will not assist in any attempt to extend the territory of Manchukuo in any direction. We will not assist in any schemes to join Chahar and Hopei provinces [of China] to Manchukuo."

Soviet Arms Output Jumps.

MOSCOW, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The Soviet Union produced "many more tanks, heavy artillery, and machine guns in 1933 than in 1932," Gregory K. Ordzhonokidzie, president of the Supreme Economic council, told the all-union congress of the communist party today.

Then using the term applied by Director Josef Stalin to those cherishing warlike aims against the Soviet Union, he added:

"If those swines' noses compel our industry to mobolize in order to arm our Red troops, I think we will do it with more strength and more successfully than we have ever done anything before."

CUTTEN VERDICT SEALED; REPORT MAUFF IS VICTOR

A jury in the court of Circuit Judge John Prystalski agreed at 11 o'clock last night on a verdict in the case of John R. Mauff, former official of the Board of Trade, against Arthur Cutten, wealthy trader. By orders of Judge Prystalski, who left the courtroom shortly after the jurors retired late in the afternoon, the verdict was sealed and will be opened this morning.

There was an unconfirmed report that Mauff, who had sued for $50,000, alleging the amount due him under an agreement with Cutten, was awarded several thousand dollars. All the jurors refused to comment as they left the court.

Mauff charged that Cutten employed him in 1929 as a propagandist and ghost writer. His task was to disseminate propaganda designed to obtain amendments to the rules of the Board of Trade and the federal grain futures act which would have made the status of the buying side in grain speculation more favorable.

Mauff got the job partly because of his contacts with former President Hoover and Arthur M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture in the Hoover cabinet, he asserted. Cutten denied that he ever employed Mauff or offered him any compensation.

Mother's Tale Wins Asylum.

New York, Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Hypnotism was invoked in a criminal proceeding here today when the 24 year old mother of a nameless child whom she was accused of murdering was lulled into a subconscious state and made to reveal the details of her infant's death.

The baby was found lifeless on the morning of Nov. 26 in a swamp near Annandale, Staten Island, after having been missing since Nov. 7. Mrs. Elsie Smith admitted that the baby boy, said to be the illegitimate offspring of a romance with a soldier now serving time in a North Carolina prison, was hers, but insisted she could not remember what happened to him.

Lunacy Board Hires Hypnotist.

Through the efforts of her attorney, Henry Klauber, the appointment of a lunacy commission was obtained. This commission selected a hypnotist, Dr. Nathaniel Selby of the Neurological institute of New York, to exert his magnetic powers in a last attempt to raise the veil of melancholia, grief and hysteria shrouding the woman's mind.

Dr. Selby's first attempt to pry into the recesses of the mother's memory was unsuccessful. The experiment was tried in the afternoon, but the noisy atmosphere of the jail made futile the doctor's attempts to put the woman into a trance.

A few hours after midnight Dr. Selby decided to give it another try. With Dr. Loyal Crane, a psychiatrist, he entered her cell and began asking her questions.

Puts Her to Sleep.

Placing his hand on her forehead, the hynotist said, "Look at that spot on the wall." The woman stared at the spot indicated, a section which had become discolored.

"Now you can remember Nov. 7. Start and tell me what happened then. Start and tell what happened in the very beginning."

Slowly the woman on the cot began to speak.

"I didn't mean to kill my baby. I had been hounded from pillar to post. My mother, my own mother, refused to have anything to do with me or my children. No institution would take my baby; no private home would take him.

"The neighbors, even in the shanty neighborhood where we lived, wouldn't let my children play with their children.

"I didn't put him in that swamp. I put him at Koch street and Harold street, Annandale. I thought some one would find him there. I knew foundlings were always taken care of. I don't know how he got into the swamp.

Wanted to Spare Shame.

"I just wanted him to grow up, when he came to know people and things, so he wouldn't be like my little 5 year old girl—scorned by every one.

"I was desperate—that's why I put him there."

As a result of the unusual experiment, the lunacy commission reported to the presiding justice that the woman is legally insane at the present time and also was legally insane when her troubles began.

The report of the commission was approved and Mrs. Smith probably will be committed to an insane asylum.

British Mast of War Flash Fame Crashes in Flames

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The 440 foot mast of the admiralty wireless station at Waltham, near Grimsby, from which the declaration of war in 1914 was flashed out to the British fleet, crashed to the ground in flames tonight after burning nearly 48 hours.

MERRY FAHRNEY BLAMES LIQUIDS IN LAST WEDDING

Heiress Asks Annulment in Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—"Certain liquids" were responsible for her wedding to Frank Eiszner of Oak Park, Ill., and not her personal inclination, Merry Fahrney Pickering Eiszner, Chicago heiress, declared today in a suit for annulment filed in Los Angeles Superior court.

Mrs. Eiszner, at 23 years, has been in and out of more marriages and more romances than most stars of the movies she professes a desire to join. She says in her papers that she "did not realize she was marrying" Eiszner in Aurora, Ill., Nov. 10, 1933, because of drinking one cordial and one cocktail.

Brother Killed in Crash.

It was on the automobile drive home from this marriage of whimsy, which took place just one week after a hitch developed in her announced intention to wed Count George di Giorgio, that tragedy struck the wedding party, the bridegroom's brother, Donald Eiszner, being killed when the auto overturned.

The heiress' suit declares that her marriage with Eiszner never was consummated. It declares she never lived with her husband at all and that she would never have married him if it had not been for the cordial and the cocktail.

Seen in her hotel suite she said, "It will be decided later" if she will marry Count di Giorgio following her annulment.

Denies Her Consent.

Her complaint, setting forth that "plaintiff is informed and believes" that she married Eiszner on the date named, and asserts that the ceremony was performed "without the plaintiff's consent."

In 1930 Merry was involved in another tragedy. Bruno Schustak, a parachute jumper, fell 600 feet to death after going to her rescue from an airplane from which unsuccessfully she had attempted to jump. After she had dangled in the air for an hour Schustak freed her, but was unable to save himself.

FEAR EUROPEAN GOLD EMBARGO IN DOLLAR WAR

Capital Eyes London and Paris Activities.

Other news of the money markets of the world, affected by the President's action on the dollar, will be found in the market section of this paper.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Fear that European powers may play their last desperate trump against the new Roosevelt 59 cent dollar by forcing a world gold embargo kept the eyes of high financial officials here glued on London and Paris today.

Reports were that the American government, within the last 24 hours, has approached Great Britain with a view to staving off a currency war. These reports could not be confirmed.

Admitting that Great Britain and France or either one alone can plunge the American monetary plans into uncertainty overnight by clamping down a world gold embargo, high officials confessed that they do not know what action they would take if France should leave the gold standard, thus closing the last unrestricted gold supply.

Treasury Busy with Details.

Meanwhile the treasury was busy at home with the routine of launching what Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. called "the new 1934 model gold bullion standard, streamlined and knee-action." A subcommittee of congress was being told by Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale that the federal reserve system should be junked in favor of one central monetary authority controlling banks and the dollar.

The country went about its internal affairs during the first day of the 59 cent dollar without any spectacular developments. The federal reserve oard released a report showing that the public had plunged heavily into the stock market the last week in anticipation of inflation, and markets were briskly upwards today.

In existence and working for the first time was the treasury's 2 billion dollar stabilization fund with which it expects to regulate the foreign value of the dollar. The 2 billions was automatically appropriated out of 2 billion 793 million dollars in "profit" on national gold holdings which grew out of devaluation yesterday.

Keeps Movements Secret.

Secretary Morgenthau refused to reveal whether the huge American stabilization fund is already being used in world gold markets. Indications are that the fund has a big task ahead of it. The dollar gained in value in London today, a trend diametrically in opposition to the President's dollar devaluation plan, and the stabilization fund will be called upon to depress the dollar again.

Although a flood of questions about the working of the new gold standard poured in upon the treasury today, only one was answered. Secretary Morgenthau pointed out again that, if banks or private individuals wish to import foreign gold the treasury will pay them $35 an ounce for it.

Reprisals Only Cloud.

Fear of foreign reprisals was the single disturbing cloud on the administration's monetary horizon. Abandonment of the gold standard by France, and a consequent closing of the world gold markets, would rob the American government of all the advantage it now holds over London and Paris, it was admitted.

The whole Roosevelt dollar devaluation plan, officials pointed out, is based on manipulation of the world gold price. Should a world wide gold embargo, such as existed during the war, be clamped down, forcing gold markets to close, President Roosevelt would have no gold price to control.

Gold Flowing Steadily.

Gold has been flowing steadily from Paris to London. Should the British choose to accentuate this flow, France will be pushed off the gold standard almost overnight, it was said.

Responsible executives insisted today that it will be England and not America which forces France off the gold standard, if such an eventuality comes about. Officials insisted that the American operations will not be aimed at punishing France or any other country.

Existence of a gold market is vital to President Roosevelt's monetary program, his advisers declare, and America would be the heaviest loser in case of a world-wide embargo. By manipulating the world gold price, President Roosevelt has been able to balance the value of the dollar with the franc and all related gold standard currencies, as well as to exert an indirect influence over the pound.

Holland Bans Gold for U. S.

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 1.—The Netherlands bank today decided not to give any gold for shipment to the United States. The decision is grounded on a provision of the bank law under which it is obligated to release gold only for those countries which have maintained a gold standard.

CANADIAN PRICE FOR HOGS IS MORE THAN DOUBLE PRICE IN U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Queb., Feb. 1.—Hog prices in Canada are far more than double what they are in the United States, despite all the efforts of the secretary of agriculture to raise levels at Chicago and elsewhere through processing taxes and purchases for relief. Hogs sold at Montreal today at $9.85 per 100 pounds, or nearly 10 cents per pound. This was more than double the levels prevailing a year ago and a new high point since January, 1931. Toronto and other Canadian markets had a similar top.

Advancing prices have been achieved by improving export channels, good prices for bacon in the United Kingdom being a principal reason for the prevailing high prices of hogs in Canada just now.

The top prices for hogs in the Chicago market yesterday were $4 [of the newly pegged dollar of 59 cents gold]. Average price here was $3.75 per 100 pounds.

SENATE AGAIN TO DENY CREDIT TO ALL DEFAULTERS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Administration leaders and Senator Johnson [Rep., Cal.] reached a complete agreement today on the latter's bill to deny further credit to nations behind in their war debts and speedy passage was predicted tomorrow.

The bill passed the senate by unanimous vote Jan. 11, but has been held up ever since by an administration motion to reconsider. Meanwhile, Democratic leaders have worked out some amendments satisfactory to the state department and Johnson agreed to accept them.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, majority leader, said Johnson would offer the amendments tomorrow and they would be put through with little or no debate. Sentiment in the house also was said to be strong for such a retaliatory step against defaulters.

With the administration amendments, the measure would penalize persons or corporations who bought or sold future issues of bonds of nations or their subdivisions in default on any of their debts to the American government. It also would deny loans to such nations. This would embrace virtually all foreign debtors except Finland, which has met all payments. It would not prevent the United States government from buying or selling exchanges or securities in connection with stabilization operations.

Robinson said the act would put defaulting nations on notice that so long as they refuse to pay they should not expect further credit in this country.

It is not expected the bill will interfere with loans to individuals or firms in the proscribed nations.

CANADIANS FLAY WATERWAY PACT; CALL IT UNSOUND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 1.—The Canadian government was urged in the house of commons and senate today not to proceed with the international development of the St. Lawrence waterway because, it was said, the proposal was unsound.

Charles Marcil, Quebec Liberal, declared in the house of commons that ocean ships would never go up the great lakes, as proponents of the waterway claim.

Senator Frank Black, New Brunswick Conservative, said in the senate he thought the main objective of the St. Lawrence treaty was electrical power development.

Senator Lynch-Staunton, Ontario Conservative, opposed the treaty because of issues arising out of United States water diversion for power on the St. Lawrence and navigation at Chicago.

END OF SESSION BY APRIL, GOAL OF ROOSEVELT

Congressional Chiefs Told of His Wishes.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt, it was learned tonight, has communicated to the leaders on Capitol Hill his desire that congress wind up its business and adjourn in April.

He has a few more bills that he wants passed in addition to the appropriation bills, but with the expeditious action thereon that has been accorded all his requests for legislation up to date, the President perceives no necessity of detaining the national legislature more than 7 or 8 weeks longer, at the most.

Legislative Pace Swift.

The record made of passing bills of momentous import with only perfunctory consideration when their passage was sought by the President, and sometimes without even the text of the measure available to members, has written this congress down as a presidential rubber stamp. Mr. Roosevelt now sees his way clear to dispense with his rubber stamp in a fraction of the time ordinarily consumed by congress.

No President ever wants congress around after he gets all the legislation he seeks. Congress, with its propensity for talking and investigating and playing politics, only embarrasses the executive branch of the government by uncovering and airing scandals, impugning motives, and affording a forum for opposition oratory. With the scandals cropping out of the CWA, the revolt of small business against the NRA, the pressure for currency inflation and other circumstances attending the inauguration of the New Deal, the Roosevelt administration is particularly vulnerable to annoyance by congress.

Finds Strain Heavy.

According to leaders on Capitol Hill, however, Mr. Roosevelt has a special reason for wanting to get rid of the national legislature at the earliest possible moment. While he is physically fit, the President is finding that the strain of uninterrupted devotion to his duties is beginning to tell upon him.

The President is represented by the congress leaders taken into his confidence as needing relaxation and the invigoration that he finds in bathing in the waters of Warm Springs, Ga.

If congress gets away in April he is likely to be at Warm Springs the greater part of May. He then plans to return to Washington for at least a month, but by the latter part of June he expects to depart on the cruise he has projected to the Caribbean and the Pacific. This itinerary calls for stops at Porto Rico, the Virgin islands, the Panama canal, and the Hawaiian islands.

Program for Legislation.

On the executive program of legislation before congress adjourns are the following items:

1. The regular appropriation bills for the 1935 fiscal year, including 2 billion dollars to be given the President in a lump sum for use as he sees fit for relief and other recovery undertakings.

2. Deficiency appropriations for the remainder of the current fiscal year, including that not less than 1 billion 166 millions for the CWA, relief, and other recovery expenditures.

3. Federal regulation of stock exchanges and possibly of commodity exchanges.

4. The bill authorizing construction of 102 new navy vessels to bring the navy up to treaty strength.

5. Tariff legislation to authorize the President to make reciprocal trade agreements with other nations.

6. The St. Lawrence seaway treaty with Canada.

7. Revision of the bank deposit insurance act, involving repeal of the provisions to go into effect next July.

8. Legislation to place cattle and dairy products under the AAA, with an appropriation of 200 millions to initiate the plan.

9. Appropriation of 40 millions for crop production loans.

Administration leaders pronounce the bank deposit insurance scheme now in effect a wholly successful venture and believe it would be the part of wisdom to continue the present plan indefinitely instead of trying to go through with the more pretentious undertaking due to go into effect July 1. At present deposits up to $2,500 are insured. The act provides, however, that after July 1 the insurance shall apply to minimum deposits of $10,000. Most bankers feel that greater project would topple of its own weight.

DEMOCRATS FLAYED BY SNELL FOR NOT SUPPORTING HOOVER

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Partisan debate broke loose on the floor of the house today with Representative Snell of New York, Republican leader, bitterly denouncing the Democrats for their failure to support the various recovery plans advocated by President Hoover.

"If you had been as patriotic then as you are now," he charged, "we would have been much further advanced on the road to recovery."

He told the majority members that President Roosevelt had not taken the lead in recovery, but that President Hoover had sent to congress many recommendations designed to help relieve distress.

Reading from one of the last messages submitted by President Hoover to congress, Mr. Snell declared that farmers, home owners and bank depositors would have been aided by the government, "if you Democrats had supported him."

PRICES OF FOOD SOAR IN PARIS IN TERMS OF DOLLAR

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

Butter, 32 cents a pound; sugar, 13 cents a pound; roast beef, 77 cents a pound; tenderloin steak, $1.15 a pound; coffee, 70 cents a pound; eggs, 84 cents a dozen; cauliflower, 45 cents each; sliced ham, $1.08 pound; chicken, 56 cents a pound, and sliced bacon, 70 cents a pound.

The effect of this on employes of American firms who are paid in dollars and whose salaries are the same as they were before the dollar was cheapened is obvious.

Hughes Explains Delay of Auto Certificates of Title

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 1.—(AP)—When asked why certificates of title of automobiles have not been issued together with 1934 license plates, Secretary of State Edward Hughes tonight issued the following statement: "Plates were sent ahead of certificates of title in order to expedite issuance of plates. Every person who has received plates can feel assured that certificate of title for his automobile has been approved and will be issued as quickly as possible."

FOES OF SEAWAY PRESS FOR EARLY VOTE ON TREATY

See Fight Lost if Action Is Delayed.

BY JOHN HERRICK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Opponents and proponents of the St. Lawrence seaway treaty with Canada jockied today for the advantage of an early vote on a delayed one, with the knowledge that if given a few days' more time President Roosevelt is almost certain to win enough votes to put the treaty over.

A compromise as to the day on which the vote will be held is expected to result in a limitation of debate next Thursday and a ballot the following day. The fact that administration leaders were willing to set a day in the near future pointed to a belief on their part that the required two-thirds majority is in sight.

Lewis' Proposal Refused.

Senator J. Hamilton Lewis [Dem., Ill.], leader of the anti-treaty forces, and Senator Robert F. Wagner [Dem., N. Y.], one of the most earnest opponents of the treaty, sought shrewdly but fruitlessly to bring about a vote not later than the middle of next week. Senator Lewis proposed an agreement to vote Saturday, but was refused. Senator Wagner sought a vote next Monday, then a vote next Wednesday. But presidential spokesmen, seeking time for administration influence to get in its work, objected to so early a date. They countered with a proposal, presented by Senator Key Pittman [Dem., Nev.], foreign relations committee chairman, and Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader, that the vote should be held on Feb. 10.

To that Senator Wagner objected.

Some Afraid to Oppose President.

A short time later Senators Robinson and Pittman visited the White House and conferred with the President. Emerging, they predicted a vote within a week or 10 days. Though they refused to amplify that prediction with another as to the outcome of the vote, it was logical to believe that without confidence in his ability to put the treaty through the President would have insisted on further delay.

Opposition leaders admit difficulty in holding senators on their side in line. They learn periodically of senators who oppose the treaty, yet are afraid to oppose the President, and who intend, therefore, to be absent when the vote is taken.

Senators, particularly from the south and the New England states, are described as fearful of the influence on their constituencies of a propaganda to the effect that any member opposing the treaty is under the domination of the power interests. The logic being subtly circulated has it that since the seaway project calls for a huge state power development on the St. Lawrence, opponents of the treaty are serving the private power corporations.

So flagrant has the propaganda become that two opposition senators, who happen to be Democrats and warm supporters of the President in other matters, have considered complaining to the White House over this distortion of a position which they consider in the interest of their states.

Clash over Roosevelt Letter.

Senate debate on the treaty today found Senator William H. Dieterich [Dem., Ill.], treaty foe, and Senator Robert M. La Follette [Rad., Wis.], one of the treaty friends who has openly raised the power issue, battling violently over the use of presidential influence.

Senator Dieterich charged that the Wisconsin senator had had inserted in the senate record a letter from the President urging ratification, in violation of a custom that members may not quote the opinion of the President except as it has been expressed to congress in a presidential message. Senator La Follette denied that he had discussed the terms of the treaty with the President and said he had had the President's permission to use the letter as he had.

Asks Clause Be Illiminated.

In a speech going back into the lake diversion case, the Supreme court's decrees in that case, and the opinions of former chiefs of the army engineers, Senator Dieterich demanded the elimination from the treaty the provision writing into an international agreement the Supreme court decree that the Chicago sanitary district's diversion of water from Lake Michigan be limited to 1,500 cubic feet a second by 1938.

"The idea is preposterous," he said, "that the Illinois waterway should be crippled because the court rendered a certain decree in a case in which the needs of the waterway were not even considered and in which its advocates could not even be heard."

He showed how former chiefs of engineers had testified that the waterway would require at least 5,000 cubic feet a second. He pointed to the fact that in the treaty of 1909 Canada was given a major portion of the Niagara Falls power diversion because of the diversion at that time of 10,000 cubic feet a second by the sanitary district and as a concession by Secretary of State Root in return for Canada's agreement to eliminate from the treaty any mention of Lake Michigan as a purely domestic lake entirely within American territory.

SPEED MEASURE TO RESTORE SOME VETS' BENEFITS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Senate administration forces lost the first struggle today to block new veterans' legislation and then gave out strong hints they would not object to enacting into law portions of the new presidential regulations adding $21,000,000 to the former soldiers' compensation.

The senate appropriations committee started the ball rolling for further liberalization of veterans' benefits by holding such legislation would be in order as a rider to the economy clauses of the independent offices appropriation bill.

The vote was 12 to 10 and upset a 4 to 3 adverse decision by a subcommittee.

The full committee, however, unheld the subcommittee in approving restoration of one-third of the 15 per cent federal pay cut now and another third July 1.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a bilious, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. (©1931 C.M.CO.

Doctors Give Creosote For Chest Colds

For many years our best doctors have prescribed "creosote" in some form for coughs, colds and bronchitis, knowing how dangerous it is to let them hang on.

Creomulsion, with creosote and six other highly important medicinal elements, quickly and effectively stops coughs and colds that otherwise might lead to serious trouble.

Creomulsion is powerful in the treatment of colds and coughs, yet it is absolutely harmless and is pleasant and easy to take.

Your own druggist guarantees Creomulsion by refunding your money if you are not relieved after taking Creomulsion as directed. Beware the cough or cold that hangs on. Always keep Creomulsion on hand for instant use.

INQUIRY ORDERED IN LIBERATION OF FUGITIVE FORGER

$6,625 Realty Put Up for $15,000 Bail.

The liberation of a notorious forger with a criminal record by Municipal Judge Leon Edelman, who approved a real estate bond in his home at 1:30 o'clock in the morning, will be the subject of an inquiry to be started today, according to Assistant State's Attorney Ota P. Lightfoot.

The forger, Lester Weiss, was scheduled to be arraigned on three charges in the Felony court last Friday, but he jumped his bail, totaling $15,000, and nothing has since been heard of him.

Held on 3 Forgery Counts.

Weiss was arrested by police last Thursday on complaint of a west side bank that he opened an account and then deposited a forged $4,200 check. At the detective bureau he was identified in two other forgery cases involving $14,000 and his bail was fixed at $5,000 on each of the three charges. At 1:30 the next morning he was set free on the real estate bonds approved by Judge Edelman.

For these bonds property with an assessed valuation of $3,484, subject to incumbrances of $4,800, was scheduled. Under the rules of the court real estate worth twice the amount of the bond, after all incumbrances are deducted, must be scheduled. If the assessed valuation of the property scheduled is one-third the fair cash value the total value would be $10,452, including the incumbrances, which, deducted, would leave $6,625. This is less than half of the total bonds, instead of twice the amount, as required by law.

Properties Mortgaged.

Morris Lakowitz scheduled a four flat building at 908 North Wood street, with a $3,500 mortgage, and Anna Skolnik scheduled two vacant lots at 6011-13 North St. Louis avenue, carrying a $1,300 mortgage. They estimated the fair cash value at $20,000 and $15,000, respectively, although the records of the county recorder show that the assessed values are only $2,600 and $884, respectively, and the assessed value is supposedly 37½ per cent of the real value.

There were reports that the real estate bonds were rejected in the Bond court Thursday night, and that the bondsmen then went to Judge Edelman at his home. However, Joseph L. Gill, clerk of the Municipal court, said he learned from an investigation that the bondsmen appeared to schedule the property in the Bond court, but were unable to have the bonds approved there because Judge Joseph H. McGarry had departed when the clerks returned from their search in the recorder's office.

Judge's Statement.

When asked about the circumstances of freeing Weiss at 1:30 in the morning, Judge Edelman said he had only one thing to say pending an investigation into the facts. This statement was:

"I approved the bonds after real estate with a value of $30,000 was scheduled."

It also was reported that a professional bondsman, Robert Marcus, went to the home of Judge Edelman to get the bonds approved, but his name does not appear in the files at the clerk's office and Judge Edelman declined to state whether Marcus called upon him.

Weiss' record, under various aliases, dates back to 1921, when he was given probation on a burglary charge. In 1925 he was fined $50 and costs on a charge of disorderly conduct and in 1928 he was arrested as a burglary suspect, having tools in his possession, in Evanston. The record does not show what disposition was made of this case. In December, 1921, he was sentenced to nine months in the house of correction on a plea of guilty to a charge of petty larceny.

TRANSIT CHIEFS SHOW BUSINESS GAIN IN 3 MONTHS

Increases in street car and elevated riders during November, December, and January, compared with the same months last year, were reported yesterday by officials of the two systems. The rise and fall of traffic on urban transportation systems is considered a good barometer of business activity by many business men.

Chicago Surface Lines officials said their traffic showed an increase of 6.69 per cent in November, compared with the same month a year previous, an increase of 5.06 per cent in December, and a larger percentage of increase in January, although the exact figure is not known pending the gathering of complete statistics.

The Chicago Rapid Transit company had an increase of 3.74 per cent in November over the corresponding month a year ago, an increase of 1.31 per cent in December, and an increase in January of 6.95 per cent. The high increases on both systems during November was attributed in part to the last eleven days of the World's Fair.

The Chicago Motor Coach company had an increase of 1.73 per cent in traffic during November, compared to the corresponding month a year previously, a decrease of 6.15 per cent in December, and a decrease of 1.48 per cent in January. Officials of the Motor Bus company said that the increase in November was attributable to the Fair. They also said that the Motor Bus company's traffic is largely from the "white collar" classes and therefore is not as good a barometer of employment as the street car and elevated riders.

HIGH SCHOOL BOY SHOT AND KILLED IN GUN ACCIDENT

Harvey Linden, 17 years old, 1134 Wellington avenue, a student at the Lane Technical High school, was accidentally shot and killed last night by a gun in the hands of William Metsch, 13 years old.

The tragedy occurred in the Metsch home at 1870 North Oakley avenue, where Harvey and his parents were visiting. While the older folk were chatting Harvey and William went to an upstairs room to examine William's new 12 gauge shotgun.

As William was showing Harvey the weapon it was discharged. The blast struck Harvey in the abdomen, causing almost instant death.

JUDGE ATTACKS ALLEGED FIRE CLAIM RACKET

Adjuster Reveals How He Gets Clients.

Municipal Judge Thomas A. Green, with the coöperation of the Chicago Bar association and the fire and police departments, took steps yesterday to suppress an alleged racket in the adjustment of fire insurance claims. The situation was characterized by Judge Gren as "worse than the ambulance chasing racket ever was."

John L. Fogle, attorney for the Chicago Bar association, said he would refer the matter to the bar's legislative committee and ask that a bill be urged on the state legislature forbidding solicitation of clients by fire adjusters.

Deputy Fire Marshal Edward A. Maloney promised that an old order prohibiting firemen or any one connected with fire stations from providing information for adjusters would be made effective again. Coöperation of the police in arresting such private adjusters found at the scene of fires was promised by Lieut. James T. Quinlan, who represented Commissioner Allman at the hearing in Judge Green's court.

Action Follows Testimony.

This action followed revelations by Abraham Korshak, 3608-10 Douglas boulevard, who has been in the adjusting business for 40 years. Korshak, in uncertain English, revealed that he went to as many fires as possible and gave firemen and other informants 2 per cent of his 10 per cent fee for helping him to get clients. He testified that he is not a lawyer and never went to school, but speaks eight languages.

"Which makes it easy for you to go around taking advantage of a lot of poor foreign people," Judge Green remarked.

Korshak was called back for further questioning yesterday after appearing on Wednesday against a former client, Nathan Lipman, 1807 South Turner street. Although Korshak originally filed a claim for $1,200 for Lipman against the Mercantile Insurance company, he said the damage was no more than $450. A jury awarded $300 on a $1,000 claim filed by Attorney B. M. Steiner, who took the case from Korshak.

Called Again to Testify.

This brought a question from Mr. Fogle, who asked whether Korshak was not representing the insurance company instead of his clients in such instances. This was denied, and brought an objection from Charles Butler, representing the insurance company.

Judge Green asserted that he had been informed that there was a vicious adjusters' ring, and that certain insurance companies would not deal with an adjuster unless he belonged to the ring.

Grant Roosevelt $5,000 Tax Cut on New York Home

New York, Feb. 1.—(AP)—President Roosevelt has won a $5,000 reduction in the assessed valuation of his town house in East 65th street. Records made public today by the department of taxes and assessments showed the assessment on the property had been reduced from $170,000, the tentative appraisal set last October, to $165,000, the final figure.

PENNILESS WOMAN HUNTS FOR FUNDS TO BURY SISTER

Mrs. Luella A. Bechtel, 65 years old, who came to Chicago from Springfield, Ill., to search for friends to bury her sister, was certain yesterday that the "power of prayer and trust in God that has seen me through will not fail me now." Mrs. Bechtel, who is penniless, is hunting for a niece and nephew who, she believes, will provide her with money.

The body of her sister, Mrs. Mary Gibson, 62 years old, is in undertaking parlors at 1946 Ogden avenue, pending the outcome of the search. The dead woman was an evangelist and mission worker, Mrs. Bechtel said.

Mrs. Bechtel has three grown sons in Springfield, all in straitened circumstances. To obtain money to take her sister's body to Springfield Mrs. Bechtel started to hitchhike to Chicago. Two miles on her way she met a young woman who gave her bus fare. A gasoline station attendant here provided a quarter for street car fare. Detective C. W. Schaefer of Desplaines street station, is helping her search for the niece and nephew.

CLERK DIES OF POISON.

Walter Lynch, 38 years old, 4847 Quincy street, a clerk, died in the county hospital yesterday, a few hours after he had swallowed poison while in the home of a neighbor.

400 FELONS ARE TRANSFERRED IN NEW PRISON PLAN

More than 400 inmates of Illinois penal institutions have been transferred from one prison to another as a result of the classification of prisoners being carried out under the terms of the law passed last year by the general assembly. So far 1,200 men, including old inmates as well as prisoners recently received, have been put through the psychiatric division at Joliet penitentiary, where examinations are conducted.

The classification law consolidated all state penal institutions as the Illinois penitentiary and ended the practice among judges of committing a prisoner to a particular prison. That is now done on the basis of the examinations at Joliet.

Habitual male criminals are to be concentrated in the old Joliet prison. Youthful offenders go as heretofore to the Pontiac reformatory, adult offenders to the Stateville prison, and insane or feeble minded criminals to the southern penitentiary at Menard. All women prisoners are sent to Dwight. The former prison for criminal insane at Chester has been taken out of the prison system and is used for confinement of insane and feeble minded persons of criminal tendencies who are not actually serving sentences for crime.

MINNEAPOLIS — State at Jackson CHICAGO — ST. PAUL

SEXTON OUTLINES PLANS FOR A NEW CITY LIQUOR LAW

Will Conform with State Control Measure.

Corporation Counsel Sexton yesterday outlined the provisions of a new and simplified liquor control ordinance, which his office will draft, to correlate local liquor regulation with the new state control law. He discussed the measure at a conference with Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph F. Grossman at his home, where he has been confined by a cold for several days.

The new ordinance, Mr. Sexton said, will fix the Chicago license fee and license period, and the opening and closing hours. Most of the regulatory provisions of the emergency ordinance now in effect are taken care of by the new state law, he said.

The draft as he will prepare it will make no reference to prohibition of women in bars, as an amendment now pending before the council license committee provides. Nor will it mention license fees for drug sts or prohibited areas. Those controversial subjects will be left for the council to insert when it considers the measure.

Deadline For Petitions.

Petitions to have the local option question submitted to a referendum in Chicago areas in the primary of April 10 must be filed by Feb. 9, a week from today, it was decided yesterday at a conference of Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke, member of the board of election commissioners, with John S. Rusch, chief clerk, and Robert Taylor, attorney for the board.

The new state liquor control act, in its provisions for local option votes, provides that petitions must be filed 60 days before the election. The petitions must bear the signatures of qualified voters equal to 25 per cent of the vote cast for governor in the district in the last election.

Limits the Districts.

The petitions may call for a vote to bar liquor sales from one precinct or a group of precincts, the only limitation being that no single district may extend more than a mile than in any direction. Either of two propositions may be placed on the ballot to bar all liquor sales, or to bar all sales except those of beer of less than 4 per cent alcoholic content by weight. A given district may not hold a local option election oftener than once in 47 months, however.

A majority vote on the proposition carries the election, but within 10 days after the canvass of the vote any five legal voters in the district may contest the election in the County court. If a district votes dry, merchants can continue to sell liquor for 30 days after the election. They are to receive back a proportion of their license fees equal to the unexpired portion of the license period. Clubs in existence in dry territory before a local option election may continue to serve liquor to their members.

There will be two more opportunities to hold local option elections this year, in the June judicial election and in the general election in November. Thereafter local option votes may be taken at any general election, subject to the 47 months' limitation, but not at primaries after the one in April.

As a result of an opinion by Mr. Grossman, Police Commissioner Allman yesterday instructed commanders of five police districts to stop sales of liquor in 40 restaurants in Hyde Park and Englewood. The owners of the restaurants now have a petition for an injunction to restrain the city from interfering with sales on hearing before Julius Miner, master in chancery to Circuit Judge William V. Brothers.

Restaurants in Dry Districts.

The restaurants are situated in dry districts established by the city council and also in territory which was made dry under the ordinances for the annexation of the towns of Lake and Hyde Park to the city of Chicago. Mr. Grossman held that while the prohibition provisions of the annexation ordinances may be void when the state law becomes effective, they were certainly in effect when the injunction suit was started and would invalidate the suit.

MR. FARLEY IS OUTGUESSED IN POLITICAL POKER

New York, Feb. 1.—[Special.]—The best poker player in the Democratic party—they say she can make Vice President John N. Garner holler "uncle"—stood hatless on the snow-swept, wind blown deck of the departing Coamo today and admitted she was the little girl from a Kansas village who has made good in a big way.

She's Mrs. Jean Pringstead Whittemore, who went to Washington to pick the biggest plum that could fall into the lap of a deserving Democrat in Porto Rico, the governorship, and she came away with the second biggest, the collectorship of the port of San Juan.

"Good poker playing, that's what I call it," she said gayly, shoving her hands deep into the pockets of her belted fur coat. Her black bobbed hair blew wildly in the wind.

Porto Rico, Mrs. Whittemore explained, was in a good deal of turmoil toward the close of the governorship of Robert H. Gore, who resigned last November. President Roosevelt listened to her arguments, in which she tried to convince him she was the right person for the job—she's been down there more than ten years—and then decided upon Maj. Gen. Blanton Winship, former judge advocate general and adjutant general of the army. Gen. Winship was aboard the Coamo today, too, sailing to take up his duties as governor.

"Do you know him?" Mrs. Whittemore was asked.

"Not yet," she winked. "But I will know him before we get there."

"Did you talk to Postmaster General James A. Farley about getting the appointment as governor?"

"I'll say I did. And I almost landed the job, too. Made a great play for it, and all the time I had an ace in the hole, yeah. What I really wanted you see, was the collectorship."

TRY TO UNTANGLE MYSTERY OF TWO WOUNDED MEN

Police last night sought to untangle the circumstances that landed Peter Andrie, 54 years old, janitor in a drug store at 1801 South Ashland avenue, and Irwin Platt, son of the store proprietor, in different hospitals late yesterday.

Andrie was dragged from the Chicago river at the Ashland avenue bridge with five bullet wounds in his body and taken to the county hospital in a critical condition. Young Platt had appeared shortly before at the St. Anthony hospital for treatment for acid burns about his face and eyes.

Platt told police that he was telephoning while Andrie worked nearby in the store when some acid was thrown in his face. Joseph Gadziek, a clerk in the store, who did not see the acid thrown, took Platt to the hospital.

The police learned that Andrie had loaned Platt's father, Isaac, $6,000. The elder Platt told Andrie that he was unable to repay it when the latter pressed him on several occasions, police said. Later Andrie quarreled with Platt when the store owner purchased a new automobile for his son.

HEAD OF PANAMA ESCAPES PLOT TO ASSASSINATE HIM

Suspect Implicates Prominent Persons.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, Feb. 1.—An attempt was made to assassinate President Harmodio Arias of Panama last Saturday as he was motoring toward his country home at Penonome. This was learned today.

Efforts were made to keep the plot secret because relatives of members of the president's official family were said to be implicated.

Plans had been made to kill the president at a lonely spot known as Revuleta del Tigre, which he passes every week on his way to his country residence. Police learned of the plot, however, and arrested two men, whose cars contained revolvers and rifles. These men, it is alleged, were to pick up the assassins along the road.

Implicates Prominent People.

One of the arrested men is said to have confessed and to have given names involving prominent persons. A cabinet shakeup is predicted for tomorrow.

President Arias issued a proclamation tonight in which he said:

"The government is in possession of details of a conspiracy from which it appears that certain 'gentlemen' of this city have taken steps tending to incite two or three foreigners, more or less ignorant and irresponsible, to make an attempt to murder me.

"Investigation shows that these 'gentlemen,' who have known records, promised money, and protection to those who were to commit the crime, that arms were supplied as well as an automobile to transport the would-be murderers to a certain place on the national highway between Chame and San Carlos. I was to be assassinated there Saturday afternoon while going to Penonome to hold a conference with provincial governors.

Forgives the Instigators.

"I will not suggest that the matter be sent to the courts. I do not want my people subjected to the natural excitement resulting from proceedings of this nature, as the country needs the greatest possible spiritual tranquility in order to attend a solution of the problems of depression.

"I have a right to believe and say that no Panamanian in the full enjoyment of his senses could wish my death. Be that as it may I forgive these instigators, whether they act consciously or not."

Letters of administration for the estate of William [Three Fingered Jack] White, gangster, who was slain in his Oak Park home on Jan. 23, were issued yesterday to his widow, Mrs. Nancy White. The letters were granted by Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge John F. O'Connell, on the widow's petition, which represented the estate to be worth $3,500.

Under the letters of administration the estate will be divided among Mrs. White and the gangster's two brothers and one sister. Mrs. White now lives at the Seneca hotel. The estate consisted of $2,500 in cash and jewelry valued at $1,000.

EVANSVILLE WOMAN DIES.

WINS ACQUITTAL AFTER SLAYING OF HIS FRIEND

William J. Sullivan, 37 years old, 6217 South Kolmar avenue, was found not guilty yesterday of the murder of his friend, Lincoln Reeder, 45 years old, 4534 West 63d street. The verdict was given by Judge James F. Fardy in the Criminal court. Reeder was shot to death on Oct. 30 in front of a saloon at 4518 West 63d street as a climax to a dispute that started in the saloon.

Reeder and Sullivan, long friends, were drinking in the saloon when Adrian Weyre and Mrs. Margaret Franks entered with another couple. Sullivan told Judge Fardy that the four persons, joined by Reeder, began to tease him and took his hat and spectacles.

When they refused to return them, Sullivan said, he went to the Reeder home and returned with Mrs. Reeder in an effort to obtain the spectacles and hat. A fight ensued and Weyre fired a shot at him, Sullivan said, after which he went home, got his pistol and returned to fire twice at Weyre. The bullets missed their target and struck Reeder. Judge Fardy held with Attorney James M. Burke, representing Sullivan, that the killing was accidental and that the shooting was in self-defense.

SANITARY BOARD PAYS ATTORNEYS, BUT NOT BONDS

$86,121 in Legal Fees Are Approved.

Vouchers for legal fees totaling $86,121 were approved by the trustees of the sanitary district at a meeting yesterday. The names of prominent local and national politicians were included in the list of attorneys to be paid for services during last year. Meanwhile the district defaulted on bond interest due Feb. 1.

A bill for $15,000, sent by Senator James Hamilton Lewis, was on the original voucher list, but was not acted on by the trustees. Among the bills approved were those of Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war; United States Senator Dieterich, Charles S. Deneen, and Richard J. Barr, minority leader of the Illinois state senate. The amount to be paid to each is as follows:

Park & Lane	$38,345
Kirkland, Fleming, Green & Martin	17,000
Deneen, Healy & Lee	15,050
Baker, Host, Sidler & Pratt	10,686
Barr & Barr	2,500
George Mason	1,003
Dieterich & Northcutt	637
Sam Weinshenker	625
Chapman & Cutler	275
Total	$86,121

Trustee Woodhull, who submitted the report, said the attorneys had rendered valuable service to the district in important litigation. Most of the counsel hired outside the district's own legal staff, he said, had been engaged in the activated sludge patent suit, upon which testimony was taken during the year in federal court. The case has been set for argument on Feb. 24.

Firms Engaged in Case.

Among those retained in this case were Senator Lewis, Park & Lane, patent experts; Baker's firm, and the Deneen firm. Kirkland, Fleming, Green & Martin represented the district in the lake level litigation.

The Barr firm had been retained to handle tax matters in the Joliet district, Woodhull explained, and Dieterich's firm has been defending the district in claims arising in the Illinois valley.

Trustee Elmore, the only Republican on the board, cast the only vote against approval of the voucher list.

Let First New Contract.

The trustees also let the first new contract in two years under the $42,000,000 grant of federal Public Works administration cash. The contract was awarded to Stephen A. Healy, the low bidder. The amount was $975,275. The contract is for a section of the west side sewer system running under Jefferson street between Fulton and Taylor streets.

Two supplemental agreements for the resumption of work on old contracts were approved by the board.

The district defaulted on its Feb. 1 bond interest obligations, amounting to $411,200. The total default of the district now is $15,281,000 in principal and $3,347,391 in interest coupons. Defaulted interest coupons which had fallen due June 1, 1933, however, have been called and will be paid within a few days.

START HEARING SUITS TO COLLECT PERSONALTY TAX

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday were $275,365, making a total of $104,256,131 collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began on April 28, 1933. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for four years follow:

Feb. 1	$ 24,972	$ 28,826
Uncollected	15,395,724	41,216,078
	1930.	1931.
Feb. 1	$ 90,459	$ 131,048

Circuit Judge John Prystalski yesterday started hearing suits to collect delinquent 1931 personal property taxes. More than 100 suits, seeking collection of approximately $800,000 in taxes, were on his first day's call. A large proportion of them was set for trial during the present month.

Circuit Judge Joseph Burke is to dispose of tax cases already assigned him and then hear a call on other matters.

County Assessor Jacobs, in a statement issued yesterday, denied any fault in his office for the erroneous filing of personal property tax suits by the state's attorney. Mr. Jacobs said that certificates of error to correct duplications and other errors in the 1931 personalty assessment had been issued in 16,000 cases and that suits should not have been started by the state's attorney in these instances.

County Treasurer McDonough yesterday filed petitions in the County court to be appointed receiver under the Kerner-Skarda act for the purposes of collecting delinquent taxes on 20 properties, which owe a total of $24,803.

Battle in Turkestan

NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 1.—(AP)—A six day battle for the new city of Kashgar, capital of eastern or Chinese Turkestan, with the attacking tribesmen ultimately repulsed after heavy losses was described today in delayed advices.

Four separate attacks were made on Tungans holding the new city by forces from the old city, aided first by Khotans and later by troops of Khoja Niazhagi, the reports stated.

Khoja, who had just been driven from Aksu, another important city of eastern Turkestan, by a small force of Tungans, made the trek of more than 300 miles and suddenly appeared before the walls of Kashgar Jan. 13. The attackers were repulsed with heavy casualties in each attempt, the reports said.

ALDERMEN VOTE $58,600 TO FIGHT AMEBIC DISEASE

Emergency Fund Put in 1934 Budget.

The city council finance committee yesterday voted Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, an emergency appropriation of $58,600 in the 1934 budget to guard against a recurrence of the amebic dysentery of last summer.

The appropriation will be used to engage one epidemiologist at $6,000 a year and 20 junior assistant sanitary engineers and epidemiologists at $2,640 a year. In his letter requesting the appropriation, Dr. Bundesen said:

"Investigation of the causes of the amebic dysentery showed conclusively that a careful survey must be made at once of the water and sewage piping and the handling of ice and food in all hotels in this city to guard against a possible recurrence of the disease during the coming months when people will be coming from all parts of the country to visit the 1934 World's Fair."

Urges Physical Tests.

In a discussion of the matter with the aldermen, Dr. Bundesen said that many carriers of the disease came to Chicago from other cities and got jobs here as food handlers and that some 1933 Fair visitors had the disease before coming to Chicago. He recommended that all persons seeking food handling jobs be required to pass a physical examination. Laboratory costs of such an examination for amebic dysentery alone would be from $4 to $5 a person, he said.

"We should have an ordinance requiring such medical examinations," said Ald. Oscar F. Nelson [46th]. "Employers of labor in hotels should be required to pay for such examinations, and not the general taxpayers."

Dr. Bundesen said that it might be necessary later to employ additional plumbers to inspect piping.

Consider City's Deficit.

The finance committee then turned to discussion of the city's deficit which under the law must be met out of the 1934 budget, and which has been estimated by the citizens' committee on public expenditures at $8,999,000 for the corporate fund alone. This is the fund from which the city's operating expenses are paid.

The discussion included the proposal that the legislature be asked to authorize a bond issue to meet the deficit.

"In my opinion our job now is to build a budget on our present estimated revenues," said Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the committee. "Then when certain people see how the city's vital and essential services will be hamstrung, perhaps we'll get some help in obtaining a bond issue."

$4,000,000 Cut Needed.

To balance their budget, the aldermen must cut more than $4,000,000 from the estimated appropriations, totaling $43,700,000, which were drawn up by City Controler Upham.

After starting a page by page survey of the budget, in search of items which might be eliminated or reduced, the committee recessed its budget session until 11 o'clock tomorrow. At that time the aldermen will discuss the probable loss and cost in the collection of 1934 taxes many months hence. They have invited Chief Justice D. J. Normoyle of the Circuit court, Chief Justice Denis E. Sullivan of the Superior court, Newton C. Farr, chairman of the Chicago recovery administration, and others to give their views on tax collections.

CAPONE'S PART IN DYE WAR TOLD AT RACKET TRIAL

Witnesses Relate Seeking Gang Protection.

Cleaners' headquarters, and handed $8,000 in bills to Crowley, according to testimony. The strike, he declared, was called off immediately.

Question Capone Connection

On cross-examination, Defense Attorneys James G. McShane [for Dr. Squires] and Joseph Harrington [for the union chiefs], attempted to show that the Becker-Capone relations went beyond mere protection. Both Beckers were asked if, following the sale of their business, they had not participated with Capone in forming a rival chain, the Sanitary Cleaners, Inc. Attorney Harrington read a copy of an incorporation paper, purporting to show that incorporators of the Sanitary Cleaners were Al Capone, Jack Gusick, Louie Cowen, Capone bondsman, and Becker's secretary, Catherine Carstans. The Beckers said their secretary might have taken 5,000 shares of Sanitary Cleaners stock, but denied the company had ever gone into business, and professed to know nothing more about it.

DAY'S FIRST WITNESS

The day's first witness was William Skahen, partner owner of the Liberty Cleaners, 5358 Harper avenue. Plainly nervous as he raised a shaking hand to be sworn, Skahen recovered his ease as he told how Sam [Doc] Ginsberg, Capone henchman and a fugitive defendant, brought Murray Humphries into the cleaning and dyeing picture. He was examined by Prosecutor Healy.

Q.—Directing your attention to April, 1931, did you meet Doc Ginsberg? A.—I had a telephone call from him.

Q.—Tell what happened. A.—He asked me to come to a meeting at the Shoreland hotel. About fifteen or twenty master cleaners of the south side were there.

Q.—What happened at the meeting? A.—Ginsberg introduced a man who, he said, would address the meeting. He said this man represented an organization that would put the industry back on its feet.

Healy whipped out of his brief case a rogues' gallery photo, stepped to the witness box and handed Skaken the picture. The witness studied it with an anxious frown.

"Ever see that man before?" Healy demanded.

"Yes," he finally responded. "It's Murray Humphries, the man that addressed the meeting."

Q.—What did he say at the meeting? A.—He said he had an organization that could maintain a price level in the industry.

On cross-examination, the witness denied knowledge of Humphries' alleged listing on the pay roll of the Michigan Cleaners and Dyers, independent dye house, which the Squires institute was fighting. He also denied knowledge of Humphries' partnership in the Drexel Cleaners, a dye house which was a member of the institute.

Star Witness Testifies.

Morris Becker was called next. Short in stature, but still vigorous despite his 74 years, Becker responded in booming voice as Prosecutor Healy led him to narrate the Becker company's difficulties with the organized cleaners—difficulties which finally led to his summoning the master racketeer, Capone, to his aid.

Under direct questioning the elder Becker told the story concerning the purported $3,000 "shake down" performed in 1927 by Crowley. Becker said that he was having trouble with the Master Cleaners and Dyers [predecessor of the Squires institute] of which he was not a member. The Master organization was charging 1.25, while the Becker shops charged a dollar, he said.

Q.—Tell what happened. A.—Walter Crowley, head man of the Master Cleaners, came to my plant at 2507 Cottage Grove avenue. He said he wanted to have a talk with me.

Colorful Witness on Stand.

The old man's powerful voice, his easy attitude as he sat with his hands folded over his bald head, made him a colorful and persuasive witness.

Q.—Go on with your story, what did Crowley say? A.—He told me to join up and go along. I said I'd never join, not after what he and his crowd had done to me for thirty years. I said I'd sell out and quit the business first.

Q.—What did Crowley say? A.—He said before he got through with me I wouldn't have any business left to sell.

The old man's voice was booming now. He no longer lolled, but sat bolt upright, his fists clinched on his knees and his sharp eyes glaring at the defendant, Crowley, who had cocked his knee and was studying his shoe tops with a half smile.

"Did anything unusual happen?" came the inevitable question.

Becker then told of arriving at his plant a week later to find a long string of cars on the opposite side of the street, his employes standing at the curb "like a flock of sheep," and of his meeting James P. Gorman, president of the Retail Cleaners and Dyers' union, standing in the door of his establishment. He (Becker) then related how, in answer to his own question, Gorman said, "There's plenty of trouble," and added that he'd better go down and see the boss (Crowley). Subsequently, Becker stated, Theodore Becker visited Crowley, paid over the $3,000, and the strike immediately was called off

Capone's Name Brought In.

A rasp had crept into Becker's voice as he told this story. With a nod to the judge, he asked for a glass of water. A bailiff brought one and he had just drained it when Healy shot the next electrifying question.

"Do you know Al Capone?"

"Yes, sir. I had met him some time before the last strike at the plant."

Q.—You had experienced a good deal of labor trouble before you met Capone? A.—Not labor trouble alone. There were strikes, yes—but I had forty bombings besides and plenty of window smashings.

Q.—Well, you brought Capone in as your protector? A.—I certainly did. I couldn't get it anywhere else—not from the state's attorney, or the United States attorney or the police. I brought Capone in, yes sir.

Q.—Did you have any trouble after that? A.—No sir, only a few window smashings, until I finally sold out my business to the Baxter Cleaners.

The prosecutor was coming now to the vital point of the state's case, the point where it is contended that Capone dropped protectorship of such independents as Becker, and entered an alliance with the Squires institute.

Q.—Directing your attention to 1931, were you a member of the Squires institute? A.—No sir, never.

Q.—Did you make a contact with Capone at that time? A.—Yes sir. I got a call to go down and see him at the Lexington hotel.

Q.—Did you go? A.—Yes sir. I went to his room and spoke to him for a few minutes. He said the boys were waiting downstairs.

Q.—And were they waiting? A.—Yes.

Q.—You were still on good terms with Capone at that time? A.—Yes.

New Destroyer Launched in Addition to Fighting Forces

600 TON BRIDGE MOVED WITH AID OF OCEAN TIDES

Quincy, Mass., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—The ocean tides were successfully harnessed by engineers here today long enough to lift the 600 ton drawbridge section of the Fore river from its regular supports, move it upstream 400 feet, and drop it into place on a temporary bridge which will be used by southern artery traffic for the next two years while a new $2,500,000 high level structure is being built on the site of the old span.

The work of shifting the huge draw was accomplished without a hitch, with nothing but the tide for motive and hoisting power. This morning two scows were floated into position at low water under the drawbridge. The rising tide pushed them up under the draw, lifting it off the supports on the old bridge.

Then, with the scows being let out along guide lines which had been measured down to fractions of an inch, the entire mass—scows, bridge span and all—floated upstream on the incoming tide to the new temporary bridge. There the scows were lashed into previously measured positions and the engineers waited the fall of the tide to settle the span into its new position.

CLOTHING MAN POSTS $25,000 BOND TO LET BLUE EAGLE FLY BACK

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Faced with a decision by the National Compliance board of NRA to cite the case of his company to the Department of Justice for a flagrant violation of the recovery act and defiance of the code authority for the men's clothing industry, William Wulf, president of Wulf Brothers, Inc., New York City and Troy, N. Y., today capitulated.

Wulf agreed not only to make complete restitution to the employes for back pay but to post a bond to guarantee performance of his duties under the clothing code, and to pay the expenses of the investigation of his case. The bond, it was reported, will be $25,000 and the back pay will be some thousands of dollars.

A second concern that agreed to make restitution in order to win back the Blue Eagle was the Tropical Ice Cream and Sherbet company of Tampa.

LIGGETT STORES SOLD FOR $425,000 BY U. S. REFEREE

Liggett Stores, Inc., operating 27 drug stores in Chicago and the metropolitan area, were ordered sold yesterday by Referee-in-Bankruptcy Garfield Charles to the Tegil Drug company for $425,000. The Tegil company is a new concern backed by the United Drug Company of Boston. Fred E. Hummel, appointed receiver after the Liggett company became bankrupt 18 months ago, said that the company has liabilities of $2,700,000. Receiver Hummel said that the sale price, added to $325,000 cash on hand, would give the creditors of the Liggett company 30 cents on the dollar.

KINGFISH LONG WIELDS HIS CANE ON A REPORTER

But He Dodges Fight with New Orleans Mayor.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Neither Huey P. Long nor Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley of New Orleans, who aspires to "beat him up," got hit today, but a reporter did.

Ray Moulden, a reporter for a Washington newspaper, sought to ask the Louisiana senator a question after Long had climbed into his automobile at the end of a side door exit from his hotel, and was poked on the arm with a cane. Moulden slipped in the snow, but said he was not painfully hurt.

Walmsley, recently reelected mayor in the face of Long's opposition, said yesterday he intended to make Long "swallow" certain statements made in the campaign. He registered at the Hotel Mayflower, where Long lives.

More Trouble for Huey.

Meanwhile more difficulties arose in the senate for Long. An elections committee decided that it did not have authority to oust Long or his colleague, Senator Overton, on the basis of petitions now before it. The committee was not thoroughly satisfied, however, and agreed to hold open hearings and have the petitioners submit evidence.

Senator George [Dem., Ga.], the committee chairman, said hearings probably would be started here in about two weeks. Petitions signed by hundreds of Louisianans have been filed with the committee charging that Overton, supported by Long, was elected fraudulently.

George said that both Long and Overton, as well as petitioners and their representatives, would be heard.

Long left his hotel earlier than usual this morning and went out by a side entrance, avoiding the main lobby. Walmsley had said he deliberately stopped at the same hotel and that if he ran into Long in the lobby he would "beat him up."

Laughs at Bodyguard Story.

Other than to say "Well, I hope I don't run into him," Long had no comment to make on the threat of Walmsley, a 200 pound former college football player.

The senator laughed at reports he had surrounded himself with bodyguards, and said that a man some had mistaken for a bodyguard was a friend of his, the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith of Shreveport, pastor of a Christian church and chaplain of the Louisiana State Federation of Labor.

Other Scraps with Reporters.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Ray Moulden, Washington reporter, who was hit with a cane by Senator Huey P. Long, is not the first newspaper man with whom the senator has had altercations. William G. Wiegand, New Orleans reporter sent to Long's headquarters several years ago to ask him a question, was called a vile name by the senator. Wiegand smashed the senator in the jaw and sent him reeling against the wall of his room.

Three of Long's guards then grabbed Wiegand, pinioned his arms, and Senator Long rushed over and slapped Wiegand several taps on the face. Guards then came to Wiegand's rescue. Wiegand left after Long's friends apologized for him.

GOVERNOR MURRAY'S COUSIN ADMITS HE TOOK 'PAROLE FEES'

Oklahoma City, Okla., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Declaring he didn't regard it as improper, Frank Murray, a distant cousin of Gov. William H. Murray, said today he had accepted fees to help seek clemency for state convicts.

Chatting freely with newsmen, Murray, a farmer, said "I figured there was going to be some money made that way, and I'd make some, too." He added he had done nothing he wouldn't do "if anybody else was governor."

"If Frank Murray got any clemency or any money I don't know it," said Gov. Murray. "I know I've turned him down once or twice on clemency."

Frank Murray's disclosure followed the claims of Mrs. R. L. Daniels, wife of a Cleveland county convict, who exhibited a receipt for $50 which she said represented the "down payment" on a parole still unsigned. She said she was promised "action in six weeks" when she gave the money to a friend of Frank Murray last August. She was to pay $25 more, she said, when the parole was issued.

COUPLE SEIZED AS COAT THIEVES.

Frances Jewel, 28 years old, 3933 Clarendon avenue, and Rudolph Escio, 26 years old, 4949 Newport avenue, were arrested yesterday on the charge of stealing three coats from waitresses in the De Luxe restaurant, 3906 North Clark street.

FINDS BOSTON TEA PARTY ECHOES IN FARM DISORDERS

Wallace Cites the Value of Social Experiment.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

"New England hoodlums" who held the famous tea party in Boston harbor in colonial days were named last night by Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, as spiritual forbears of some of the leaders of the farm holiday movement of the central west.

Secretary Wallace brought the eminent early Bostonians down to date as he replied to a question following his final Alden-Tuthill lecture at the Midway concerning his attitude toward the farmers' holiday movement. His reference to the "New England hoodlums" was made after he had described "bitterness and prejudice" among central west farmers whom, he said, often can be organized for sectional interests to the neglect of national welfare.

Wide Field of Questions.

The crowd of visiting pastors, divinity students and faculty members who again filled Mandel hall for Secretary Wallace's lecture eagerly awaited the question period which had been announced for the close of the session. Queries ranged from the subject of the public slaughter of little pigs to the metaphysical question of what is reality? Answer to the former question involved tariffs, international debts, and religious obligations, while the latter led into the cave of the seventh book of Plato's Republic, in which the ancient Greek philosopher dramatized his metaphysics.

Another question sought the answer in percentage of income increase that the new deal could give farmers of the country "without endangering farmers' spirituality." To this query, Secretary Wallace promptly replied that a "30 per cent increase would be possible at present without such danger. As he gave this answer, however, the secretary referred to his second lecture given yesterday afternoon on "The Spiritual Adventures of the Protestant Reformers."

Pleads for New Spirit.

In that lecture Mr. Wallace declared that Protestant individualism was nurtured in adversity and privation and thus far had not learned the technique of getting on well with abundances. He pleaded for a religious spirit to supplant prevalent Calvanistic Protestantism which would stimulate spirituality in the midst of plenty.

The second lecture described the work of the 16th and 17th century religious reformers and pointed to the way in which their leadership produced "rugged individualism, hard work, frugality," and certain personal virtues, with the result that "a generation of tremendous material power expressing itself in the development of democratic institutions and in science and the production of great capitalistic wealth" was born.

Points to "Second Step."

"We are now ready for a second step; the impetus of the 16th century reformers has failed us. The century of progress has turned to ashes in our mouths. Is it possible that the world is finally ready for the realization of the teachings of Jesus, the appreciation of the Sermon on the Mount and the bringing of the Kingdom of Heaven to earth?"

In last night's lecture, Mr. Wallace pleaded for the right of social experiment through government which aims at the "perfecting of social machinery so as to balance in a just way our consumptive ability with our productive efforts."

"I am sure this can be done in a way to give us twice as many material things of life as we had in 1929," he asserted. "But I am also sure," he cautioned, "that if the spirit of man continues to become narrower and more bitter, we can easily be forced into disaster far beyond the worst we saw in 1932. It seems to me that the time is almost here when we can say that from the hard headed economic point of view the Sermon on the Mount is practicable."

Modern statistical and scientific tools, Mr. Wallace continued, make it "easily possible to construct the machinery of a New Deal, provided the people really want it and are willing to experiment continually in the invention of new parts of the social machine in the same spirit as a mechanic invents new parts in the perfecting of an automobile model."

HELD ON MURDER CHARGE.

Andrew Zagata, 19 years old, 709 Milwaukee avenue, was held to the grand jury by a coroner's jury yesterday on a charge of slaying Louis Kopitke, 44 years old, 656 Fay street, who died Saturday night in the county hospital of a beating.

PULITZER RESIGNS AS ADMINISTRATOR OF NEWSPAPER CODE

New York, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Ralph Pulitzer, a member of the noted publishing family, tonight announced his resignation as NRA division administrator in charge of the newspaper and allied codes.

"I have resigned as division administrator of the NRA," he said in a statement, "because I feel that the opposition to my appointment by the American Newspaper guild would cast doubt on my impartiality in any question concerning its members which might come before me.

"Another compelling reason for my resignation is that the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, of which I am a trustee and director, feels itself seriously embarrassed in either support of or opposition to the NRA and myself while I hold this appointment."

E. S. DANIELL CONVICTED FOR EXCHANGE BOMB

New York, Feb. 1.—(Special.)—Eugene S. Daniell Jr., young Boston lawyer and presidential candidate of the National Independent party in 1932, was found guilty this afternoon of setting off tear gas bombs in the New York Stock exchange last August. A jury before General Sessions Judge Joseph E. Corrigan convicted him of assault in the third degree, a misdemeanor, but recommended leniency.

Judge Corrigan, announcing that he considered the jury's verdict a just one, set Feb. 15 for sentencing Daniell.

The jury deliberated a little more than an hour.

During the two-day trial it was brought out that Daniell had discussed the "publicity value" that the gassing of the stock exchange might have to his political party. He himself, however, denied that he had placed the two candle type gas bombs by the ventilator intake of the exchange. These went off on the afternoon of Aug. 4 last, and their fumes quickly drove 2,000 gasping, weeping brokers into the streets.

The assault charge against Daniell was based on injuries from the gas which were suffered by Superintendent Mitchell of the Stock Exchange building.

TWO PROMOTERS OF BAZAAR ARE SENT TO CELLS

Two promoters of "Chicago's First Christmas Market and Charity Bazaar" were found guilty yesterday by Municipal Judge J. William Brooks and sentenced to the Bridewell. Their trial was the longest criminal proceeding in the history of the Municipal court, there having been 27 hearings.

W. E. Tidwell, 37 years old, 7628 Colfax avenue, was found guilty of conspiracy and obtaining money under false pretenses. He was sentenced to a year in the Bridewell and fined $300. Frank Koellner, 40 years old, 1702 South Michigan avenue, was found guilty of conspiracy. He was sentenced to six months in the Bridewell and fined $2. Both men were taken in custody when they were unable to post $10,00 appeal bonds.

Koellner and Tidwell were arrested Dec. 16. They had rented quarters at 9 West Washington street and sold space to concessionnaires and church organizations on the promise that they were to spend $10,000 in advertising the place. The advertising was not run and few customers appeared. A third defendant, J. B. Trotman, 38 years old, 1619 Ridge avenue, Evanson, was dismissed.

INDIANA TUTORS EYE RESULT OF "MORALS" QUIZ

Questionnaire Is Sent to School Chiefs.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Have times changed sufficiently so that Hoosier school teachers of either sex may smoke and drink occasionally, like other folks?

The state department of public instruction expects to have the answer to this and other problems through a questionnaire sent to all city, county and town school superintendents. Questions were drafted by Clarence Murray of the teachers license division and were sent out today with approval of Floyd I. McMurray, superintendent of public instruction.

He calls the questioning a survey of the attitude of Indiana school administrators toward personal habits of prospective teachers. The questions are arranged so that the form can be checked with a plus sign for desirable traits, minus for undesirable and zero for questions that should not have been considered.

May Sign Answers.

Superintendents may or may not sign the answers.

Should a teacher be unduly friendly toward the opposite sex?

Should they frequent uninvitational dances or roadhouses of questionable repute?

Is it best for a teacher of abstain from alcoholic liquor, use it moderately or to an excessive degree? [This goes for both men and women teachers.]

The questions on tobacco are: Which is the most desirable trait for teachers, to abstain entirely, use tobacco moderately but not in the presence of pupils, or to use it habitually when not on the school premises?

Substitute Cigarets for Women.

Cigarets are substituted for ordinary tobacco in the questions addressed regarding women teachers.

Whether teachers should be active politicians is developed in another series of questions asked.

At the bottom of the questionnaire the matter is put to the superintendent thus:

"If there were two applicants of equal qualifications would you select the one that drinks or smokes or the one that doesn't?"

The Sensible Treatment of

A COLD:

Method takes several hours, but it works

To relieve any cold, let your first effort be to clear the head, dry the secretions, and reduce the fever. This will take time, and medicine of more than one kind.

You can get the necessary medicines of your druggist, by asking for Pape's Cold Compound which combines them in a pleasant tablet.

To relieve a "new" cold, take three of these little tablets; chew them up, drink some water.

To relieve a more stubborn cold will require a second treatment, and frequently a second day of this treatment, but it's worth the time. Colds that have been driven out of the system are gone.

Gala Radio Program Tonight!

Introducing Lou Haddad, famous bridge expert, on Mandel's "Bridge Club of the Air" on WMAQ from 10:15 to 10:45 tonight. Tune in!

Service and Chiffon Splashproof Hose

Water Repellent!

These hose are specially treated with a waterproof finish which won't wash off. Of course a dip in the lake will drench them, but for all ordinary purposes these hose are water-repellent. This finish also lessens the possibility of snags and runs. A damp cloth removes mud without spotting.

WALLACE FAMILY OUT OF CONTROL OF FARM PAPER

Journal Now in "Friendly Receivership."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 1.—The family of Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, members of which have been leaders for three generations in the Iowa farm publishing field, today has only a nominal voice in the management of Wallace's Farmer and Iowa Homestead, the family publication.

The publishing company was placed in "friendly receivership" in 1930, a year after the Wallace family bought out its rival farm publication, the Iowa Homestead. Dante Pierce, former publisher of the Homestead, was made receiver and is now in control of the combined properties. The journal is issued twice a month, having discontinued weekly publication a year and a half ago.

John P. Wallace, uncle of the secretary, who is retained in an advisory capacity in the publishing company, said today that none of the other Wallace family property was tied up in the receivership.

Buy Out Rival Publication.

Until their merger Wallace's Farmer and the Iowa Homestead were bitter rivals. The Homestead, founded by James Pierce and managed by Dante Pierce, his son, in 1929, was giving the Wallace publication intense competition in advertising. By the spring of that year the situation had reached such a pass that it appeared necessary for the Wallace family either to buy out the Pierces or sell out themselves. They chose the former course.

They purchased the Pierce interest in the Homestead for a reported price of $2,000,000, under a contract which called for a down payment of about $50,000 and an additional payment of $90,000 in interest and charges during the first year. The remainder was to be paid over a period of 24 years.

The contract was based on the supposition that a continuation of the 1929 rate of business would provide sufficient earnings to meet the interest and principal payments. Activities were transferred to the Homestead plant and the old Wallace plant was abandoned.

Default on Payments.

With the falling off of business in 1930 the Wallaces were unable to live up to the contract and defaulted on their payments. The receivership ensued, with Dante Pierce coming into control. Pierce draws a reported salary of $12,000 annually as receiver and pays employes on a cooperative basis after providing for senior charges. Two sons of Secretary Wallace, Ross and James, still work for the paper. Henry Wallace's name is carried in the publication as editor on leave.

The education of Secretary Wallace was carefully planned by his father, Henry C. Wallace, late secretary of agriculture under President Harding, to make him the nation's leading farm economist. He experimented extensively on his own farm and became a prolific writer on farm problems. Under his editorial direction Wallace's Farmer showed distinctly radical leanings. With his public career now taking all his time he is not active in the journal's affairs.

Supply Ship Reaches Byrd Expedition; Hurries to Unload

[By Mackay radio to the New York Times and Chicago Tribune.]

S. S. JACOB RUPPERT, BAY OF WHALES, Antarctica, Feb. 1.—The Bear of Oakland, supply ship of the second Byrd antarctic expedition, today is berthed alongside the flagship Jacob Ruppert, and since midnight the two ships have been simultaneously discharging winter stores on to the bay ice six miles from Little America.

The 60 year old barkentine, Lieut. Robert A. J. English of the U. S. navy commanding, completed her four months' run from Boston at 10:30 o'clock last night. She had equalled the record run of 12 days between Dunedin and The Bay of Whales made by the S. S. Eleanor Bolling in 1929.

Finds Hay at Sea.

Commodore Gjertsen broke the hush with three resonant blasts of welcome. Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd megaphoned from the Ruppert's bridge, "Welcome to the Bay of Whales." Terrence Keough, young skipper of the Bear, replied: "Thank you, sir. We're all set to go." A moment later he added: "We knew we were at the Bay of Whales all right. Ten miles out we passed a pile of hay on a big floe and I guessed it was yours, unless some of the old settlers hereabouts have a dairy farm."

The Ruppert, having been driven from her berth early yesterday, had made a fresh mooring. Shortly after noon every man had been pressed into service either unloading cargo or helping to keep stuff flowing from the ship into the cache at Pressure camp.

A tractor was the first piece unloaded from the Bear. Two of the five tractors and snowmobiles on the ice are now out of commission.

Unload Oil and Coal.

Today the crew of both ships combined in completing the unloading of the Ruppert. Yesterday the balance of gasoline required for the exploratory program of the planes was unloaded and from midnight on 100 tons of coal were unloaded.

AUSTRIA REVIVES GAMBLING FOR TOURISTS ONLY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Feb. 1.—Gambling will add to the revenues of the Austrian state beginning Saturday. For the first time since the war luxurious playrooms of the days of the empire will be thrown open at Semmering and casinos at other resorts will open later.

The decision to permit gambling is a bid to bolster the winter sport trade and revive the winter tourist business, which is hard hit by the visa tax of 1,000 marks [about $280 now] levied by Chancellor Hitler on German citizens wishing to visit Austria.

Gambling will be a pleasure in which only foreigners may indulge. Austrians are forbidden to enter the playrooms.

RECORDS REVEAL SOVIET BALLOON SOARED 13 MILES

Inquiry Gives New Theory on Cause of Tragedy.

MOSCOW, Feb. 1.—[Friday.]—(AP)—Fully authenticated records, said to show that the three young Russian balloonists killed after an ascent to the stratosphere had reached a height of 72,178 feet, or 13.67 miles, instead of 67,585 feet, as previously reported, were made public early today.

The figure was revealed in a preliminary report of the commission investigating the stratosphere tragedy and was taken from records which survived the crash of the gondola in which the three met their death.

(Lieutenant Commander T. G. W. Settle and Maj. Chester L. Fordney of the United States hold the world's recognized altitude record of 61,237 feet. The soviet union is not represented in the International Federation Aeronautique, which approved the Settle-Fordney mark.)

Government Honors Flyers.

The bodies of the stratosphere flyers were brought to Moscow in scarlet coffins last night for an honored burial today. The burial will be in the Kremlin wall facing the square—the resting place of the nation's heroes. The government announced that it had conferred upon the trio the order of Lenin—the highest decoration of soviet Russia—posthumously.

The report issued by the investigating commission said that available evidence indicated the gondola had been torn away from the envelope while still in the air, dashing the steel spheroid to earth and instantly killing its occupants. The first official announcement had said that the gondola and bag were wrenched apart by the impact of an unusually hard landing.

The exact time of the crash was judged to be 4:23 p. m. on Tuesday, the hour at which the hands on a watch worn by one of the men had stopped. The barograph had ceased to function two minutes earlier, at 4:21.

Says Barograph Is Intact.

"Part of the control and scientific instruments were shattered or partly destroyed," said the report, "but the crew's log and barograph were fully intact. On the basis of these records the commission established that the balloon reached an altitude of 22 kilometers, (72,178 feet) at 12:23 p. m., maintaining the same height until 12:45 p. m., when it started to descend."

Earlier reports had said the balloonists—Pavil Fedoseinko, Andrey Vasenko, and Ilya Usykin—began their descent at 11:59 p. m.

"The last notation was made in the log at 4:10 p. m.," said the report, "which time, the commission considers, was the beginning of the disaster."

What happened after that may never be known, but the commission, on the basis of eyewitnesses' testimony, placed the time of the crash "a number of minutes past 4 o'clock," definitely rejecting the testimony of one amateur radio operator, who said he had picked up a message from the balloon saying that ice was forming on the envelope and gondola.

No Signs of Ice.

"The cause of the disaster was excessive, progressive acceleration in descent, evidently provoking a rupture of a portion of the guys attaching the gondola to the envelope and upsetting the whole equilibrium," said the report.

"The result was the gondola tore itself away from the envelope and dashed to earth. It was established that the crew perished as a result of this shock.

"No signs whatever were found of freezing in the envelope or gondola. All the notes remaining intact showed that during the entire flight, until 4:10 p. m., the crew was in bright spirits and fully assured of a successful descent."

Saves Policeman Rescuer and 2 in Gas Filled Flat

Policeman Thomas Durkin of the Grand Crossing station yesterday rescued Mrs. Helen Jedinak, 18 years old; her son, John Jr., 6 months old, and Policeman John Condon from a gas filled apartment at 1453 East 73d street. The two policemen were summoned after Mrs. Jedinak locked herself in the apartment with her son after quarreling with her husband, a city fireman, and turned on the gas. Policeman Condon was overcome by gas when he entered the apartment.

Haven't you noticed that your happiest hours occur on days when you feel your best?

Have more of those happy days. You and all your family. Guard health while you have it. Keep on the sunny side of life.

The greatest enemy of health is common constipation. It may cause loss of appetite and energy. Certainly it kills enthusiasm! Yet it can be banished by eating a delicious cereal.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" and vitamin B to relieve common constipation. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. How much pleasanter to eat this delicious ready-to-eat cereal than to take patent medicines. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

DR. WYNEKOOP SPENDS HER 63D BIRTHDAY IN JAIL

Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop observed her 63d birthday yesterday—the dreariest in her life. A sunbeam slanted into the county jail cell where she has been confined since the murder of her daughter-in-law, Rheta, on an operating table in Dr. Wynekoop's home at 3406 Monroe street. The sunshine warmed three ripening tomatoes on the window sill, but the room was otherwise white and bleak.

"I don't know what I can say this morning," the doctor quavered from her cot, where she lay turning the pages of her Bible.

"I feel fairly good, but I wasn't so good last night. You know this is my first birthday in jail." She tried to laugh, but could achieve only a weary smile.

"I hope I won't have to spend my next birthday behind bars. Everybody has been very kind, but I want to go home. If my children don't call I know they will be with me in spirit today."

THE BIG SWING TO GAS HEAT!
Who else wants freedom from soot, dust, dirty ashes and furnace drudgery? You can try gas heat without investing one cent. Read our startling trial offer and act today!
Here's our offer: We will install a burner in your present furnace or boiler at our own expense. You pay only the rental on the equipment, which amounts to $3 a month in the average home. This charge is included in the bill for the gas you use. You try it for a month, two months, a year. And if within the year you find that you are not completely satisfied with gas, we will take it out at our expense and replace your former heating equipment in good workmanlike order. But—if you decide to keep gas heat—as we think you will—the rental you have paid applies on the purchase price of the equipment.
Don't delay! It is pure folly not to investigate this liberal offer on gas heat when it brings so many comforts and conveniences. Call your local gas company today for full details.
Seiler Family 179 Years in Chicago Gas Service Work
Meet the Seiler family.
One hundred and seventy-nine years by the members of one family in a single place of employment! Always a Seiler working for the users of gas service in Chicago throughout the unbroken 83 years of it!
Joseph Seiler, in 1850, built the iron roof on the first gas holder house at Monroe and Market Streets. He stayed with the company until his death, 26 years later.
Four sons of his—John, Steve, Benjamin and Adam—followed, between them totalling 79 years in gas service work. Three sons of John, grandsons of Joseph, added 60 more years; one of them, Walter, is still in the accounting department.
Three great grand-daughters of Joseph Seiler—Ruth, Dorothy and Lois—continued the unbroken chain. The latter two are still with the company.
Four generations have found the gas company a good place to work, as the city itself has found gas service a good thing to use more and more of.

G. O. P. DELAYED IN COMPLETION OF ITS SLATE

Dispute Arises Over Move to Name Woman.

BY PARKE BROWN.

All afternoon and all evening sessions of the slate committee of the Cook county Republican central committee yesterday failed to complete the ticket it intends to file for the April primary. This was in spite of the fact that tomorrow is the first day for the filing of nominating petitions.

According to reports after the breaking up of the evening session the chief difficulty encountered arose over the question of placing a woman on the ticket for the county board. Earlier in the day Commissioner Amelia Sears, denied a place on the Democratic ballot, had rejected a proposal from Orville J. Taylor that she accept a spot on the Republican ticket. That raised the question of whether another woman should be named. As ten male candidates already had been chosen, that meant dropping one of the men and on this question the committee could not agree.

But there was formal announcement of the incomplete slate by Secretary Edward F. Moore, who gave out the list in the form it had assumed when the night meeting was in progress. All of the major places had been agreed upon definitely and in addition the indorsement of three state candidates was announced. Those approved were C. Wayland Brooks for congressman at large; William J. Stratton, former secretary of state, for state treasurer, and Francis G. Blair, candidate for renomination for the office of state superintendent of public instruction.

Candidates on Slate.

The local slate in its almost completed form is as follows, the numbers after the names of some of the candidates indicating the wards in which they reside and asterisks before names indicating incumbents:

SANITARY DISTRICT—Ald John J. Hoellen [47th], John E. Northup [37th], Dr. John R. Cipriani [37th].

SHERIFF—James P. Ringley [7th].

COUNTY TREASURER—James A. Kearns [16th].

COUNTY CLERK—Thomas I. Healy [30th].

COUNTY JUDGE—Municipal Judge Samuel Heller [39th].

PROBATE JUDGE—Harry C. Kinne, Wilmette.

PROBATE CLERK—Jacob D. Allen [5th].

CRIMINAL COURT CLERK—Franklin C. E. Lundquist [47th].

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS—George A. Schwebel, Cicero.

PRESIDENT COUNTY BOARD—George F. Nixon [42d].

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—City: George F. Nixon [42d], Robert C. Rohn [19th], Louis Nettelhorst [50th], Harry E. Hoff [34th], Dr. Hubert J. Eckwall [38th], Richard A. Williams [2d], Dr. Carl J. Madds [37th], Otis A. Rogers [9th], Felix Kucharski [12th], and Charles L. Sampson [33d] or, in his place, Mae E. Fulver [33d].

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—Country towns: Not yet chosen.

ASSOCIATE JUDGES MUNICIPAL COURT—*John F. Haas [27th], *Alfred G. Erickson [48th], *Frederick W. Elliott [18th], *Howard W. Hayes [4th], *Theodore F. Ehler [18th], William H. Haynes [3d], Emmet F. Byrne [4th], Helmer C. Patterson [37th], Horace M. Sharpe [1st], Lazar H. Gladstone [49th].

Former State Legion Chief.

Ringley, the choice for sheriff, was state commander of the American Legion last year and is now a member of the national executive committee of the Legion. His service in the war was as a private in the 17th regular infantry. He is 38 years old and has been an employé of the Commonwealth Edison company, his present position being in the office of the chief operating engineer.

Kearns, indorsed for county treasurer, is a veteran in Chicago politics. He entered that field in the office of the city attorney, where he served as chief investigator. He was elected alderman of the old 31st ward, now the 16th, for four consecutive terms. In 1918 he was elected clerk of the Municipal court and served twelve years in that capacity. In 1931 he was elected city treasurer and still holds that office.

Healy, indorsed for city clerk, is not to be confused with the late Thomas J. Healy, a south side Deneen lieutenant, but is president of the Farrar Drug company, 4100 West Madison street and is president of the Garfield Park Business Men's Organization.

Moreland Reëlected in 1932.

Ald. Moreland, candidate for county assessor, ran for congress from the 7th district in 1930. He was elected alderman of the 41st ward in 1931 and was reëlected in 1932. He is Republican committeeman for his ward.

Former Ald. Wallace, who served five terms from the 44th ward, was for years a close associate of the late Edward J. Brundage. He served eight years as clerk of the Circuit court but was defeated for reëlection to that office in the last Democratic landslide. He is one of the two candidates for the board of tax appeals and his running mate is David L. Shillinglaw, a lawyer and a war service man, who at present is in the investment securities business under his own name.

Samuel Heller, running for county judge, is now on the municipal bench, having won out in a contest that wound up less than two months ago. He still has five years to serve on the city bench. He served a term in that court that began in 1926 and earlier had been deputy clerk of the Criminal court.

The entrant for clerk of the Probate court, Jacob D. Allen, has been for several years the organization manager for the Deneen forces. Harry C. Kinne, the organization choice for probate judge, has been a professor of law at De Paul university for 33 years. He has been a village trustee of Wilmette for several years.

The name of Lundquist, the organization choice for clerk of the Criminal court, was presented to the slatemakers by several Swedish organizations. He is serving his second term as president of the Cook county council of the John Ericsson Republican League of Illinois. He is business manager of radio station WCFL.

George F. Nixon, named for the presidency of the county board, is now a member of the board of tax appeals through appointment by former Governor Emmerson. He heads his own real estate business.

Among the candidates for county commissioners from the city, Louis Nettelhorst is a former commissioner.

High School Holds Graduation

24,420 Graduates

Exercises were held in Chicago public schools yesterday and last night for midyear graduates. More graduation programs will be held today and tonight. There are 24,420 graduates.

Among the speakers last night were Supt. William J. Bogan, who talked at the Amundsen High school, and Andrew O. Jackson, a school trustee, who spoke at the Parker High school. Mr. Bogan will speak tonight at the Austin High school.

The graduation programs in the elementary schools were informal and in the high schools the exercises were simple and economical in accordance with a request sent out by the superintendent to all principals.

ASK GEN. JOHNSON FOR HEARING ON WET WASH PRICES

A price war in the Chicago laundry business, in which the Chicago Laundry Owners' association appealed to the NRA to curb the activities of price cutting independents, led to an exchange of telegrams yesterday between Gen. Hugh Johnson and Attorney George Lavin, counsel for the 18 independent laundries.

The independents recently cut the price of wet wash laundry from 5 cents a pound to 69 cents for 15 pounds and 3 cents a pound over the minimum weight. In response to the laundry association's appeal Gen. Johnson sent them a telegram of warning. To this Attorney Lavin replied:

"The following telegram alleged to have been signed by you personally, 'There must be no price cutting in your industry pending the signing of the code,' is being used by the Chicago Laundry Owners' association, whose former officials are now on trial in the courts of Illinois for criminal conspiracy, to force a group which I represent, who are primarily engaged in serving the middle and working classes with a service known as wet wash, to return to ruinous high prices.

"For that service, wet wash, for the last 15 years a charge of 5 cents a pound has existed. We know that Milwaukee, Oklahoma City, Fort Worth, Fort Wayne, Dallas, and many other cities are now selling that service for 3 cents a pound. My group has asked the Chicago Laundry Owners' association to adopt the same price, but the association refused.

"Under the present 5 cent price those laundries in the wet wash division are unable to exist. On the 3 cent charge they have facts and figures that show that business has increased 200 per cent in other cities making the reduction and they have increased the number of employés. Before you approve of the laundry code for this territory we ask to be heard on the price adopted."

SCHEME LIMITING NOMINATIONS FOR ASSEMBLY IS HIT

Through its president, Paul Steinbrecher, the Legislative Voters' League of Illinois issued an emphatic public protest yesterday against the old bipartisan scheme of limiting to three a senatorial district's nominations for the state house of representatives, thereby depriving the voters of any chance of a choice among candidates in the election.

The protest mentioned two districts specifically, the 25th, on the northwest side of Chicago, and the 29th, on the near north side. In the former it is said that the Republicans have agreed to nominate only one Republican to the Democrats' two, in an effort to defeat the one sitting Republican from the district, Edwin W. Bederman. In this district two years ago each party nominated two candidates, the Democrats winning two places.

It is charged that in the 29th the Republicans have agreed to nominate only one to the Democrats' two, reversing the ratio of two years ago. The one Democratic incumbent for the district, William J. Connors, who also is ward committeeman, it is said, intends to run for state senator and to have Arthur Quinn, son of the late James Quinn, as one of his candidates for the house.

3 Insane Convicts Flee U. S. Hospital; One Caught

Springfield, Mo., Feb. 1.—(AP)—George John Standish, 32, insane convict who escaped with three others from the United States department of justice medical center, was recaptured by a hospital guard late tonight. His three companions, one a life termer, were sought by a large force of officers and citizens led by Sheriff Scott Curtis. All the fugitives were dressed in convict uniforms of blue denim.

MR. WALLACE'S SECOND THOUGHTS.

Secretary Wallace confessed with admirable candor in his Madison address that the machinations of the AAA in the Chicago milk market have been futile. His first mistake, he admitted, lay in attempting to fix too high a price for milk. His zeal in this direction led to three results: The first was an immense encouragement to the cut-rate independent dairyman; the second was an inducement to farmers outside the normal Chicago milk shed to send their milk into Chicago; and the third, and by far the most important effect, was the refusal of many householders to buy milk at the new prices. That meant, in turn, a lower return to the farmers, a lower return to the milk dealers, and the pressure of additional butter fat upon an already heavy market.

Now all of these results were plainly predictable by any college freshman who had read his elementary textbook in economics. THE TRIBUNE takes small pride in having forecast the results—they were manifest all over the place. The moral is that you can't impose artificially high prices on consumers until you deprive them of the right to refuse to buy. It is on that rock that the new economics of Gen. Johnson and Mr. Wallace is going to break up.

Mr. Wallace now finds that the profits of the milk distributing companies in Chicago have been averaging 25.3 per cent on their investment, according to the calculations of his accountants. No doubt the milk companies will quarrel with his figures, but the trend in the milk trade does suggest strongly that the profits of the large distributors were substantial. Precisely for that reason, independents appeared on the scene. Men went into the milk business because they saw an opportunity to make a good profit by undercutting the existing distributors. With almost incredible stupidity, the first efforts of the AAA in the Chicago milk market were directed precisely against the independents who were achieving the objectives which Mr. Wallace now announces as his—namely: the protection of the consumer from needlessly high prices and an increase in the farmer's income.

The independents were helping the consumer by selling him milk at less cost. They were helping the farmer by increasing the volume of fluid milk sold. Mr. Wallace and his bureaucrats were so preoccupied with prices and price levels that they overlooked the equally significant factor of volume of sales. The dairy farmers could make money at much lower prices than Mr. Wallace set if only they could find buyers for all the fluid milk they could send to Chicago. The independents were taking care of that nicely when Mr. Wallace with his corps of lawyers stepped in to stop them.

Competition, in short, was beginning to produce precisely the results which the textbooks say competition will produce. The "unseen hand" of classical economics which Mr. Wallace's associates take delight in laughing at was doing its stuff until they broke the wrist and chopped off the fingers.

Mr. Wallace has now set a new price, lower than he had fixed before, for milk sold in the Chicago market. As the price is lower, the results will not be quite so bad, of course, but the principle remains the same and Mr. Wallace continues to violate it. At any given moment the market price, assuming reasonably free competition, is always the right price, and there is not one chance in a hundred that Mr. Wallace or any one else can hit it on the nose. It is altogether certain that no bureaucrat, even if he hits it right once, can expect to shift prices as rapidly as they must be shifted to meet unexpected changes in production and consumption.

The secretary speaks of his first duty "to give the producer as high a price as was economically justifiable." This sounds well but makes no sense. When he speaks of a price which is "economically justifiable" he means, if he means anything at all, the price which would be quoted as the result of the free interplay of supply and demand in a free market. To talk of his duty to fix such a price is sheer nonsense. If that is what he wants—and it should be—the market will produce the price and should be allowed to do so, free of his interference. If he confined his activities to making sure that there was no collusion on the side of either the buyers or the sellers, his "highest price that is economically justifiable" would inevitably be obtained. And there isn't any other way to get it.

SIMPLER SPELLING.

Respect for the language and something like reverence for the great users of it, traditionalism, inertia, habit and custom are some influences which keep word forms from change. The face of the type is old and familiar and, even if examination shows that letters in a word are irrelevant to its sound and a disadvantage in its case, change will come slowly.

The American language is constantly picking up new words on chance acquaintance. Its hospitality to these strangers is genial. Some of them only visit a while and depart with as little ceremony as they came, being of a period. Others coming as slang remain as respectable members of the family and receive social recognition from the most austere lexicographers. This receptiveness made the American language, which also has been more willing than the English to drop unneeded letters from spelling. The English have honours for the reward of labours. Americans long ago dropped the "u."

The simplification of spelling has never, even here, proceeded as its enthusiastic advocates would have it, and probably it shouldn't. Simplification, carried logically to extremes, presents many words in such unfamiliar form that they seem grotesque and the eye and the feeling both reject them. Mr. Bennett in his SUNDAY TRIBUNE article mentioned one of them by way of illustration—"filosofy." The simplifiers would produce any number of foolproof words, but for conservative taste they would work havoc with the great writings of the language.

When the English tongue was being developed from its elements of Anglo-Saxon and Norman French with a sprinkling of church Latin, considerable of the spelling was that of the present day reformers of spelling, but a lean, phonetic, or fonetic, word in a twelfth century poem would be alongside one so strangely and miraculously constructed that you have to play it on the harp to break into its meaning.

THE TRIBUNE, in a moderate if not warm hospitality to the rationalization of spelling, has adopted in its publication a list of twenty-four words in which unneeded letters can be dropped. In one case, that of "drouth" for "drought," it is the pronunciation which is involved. There'll be people who will prefer the discarded one. "Drouth" is the farmer's word for it and we'll concede that he knows what drouth really is. To the urbanite it is often merely good golf or picnic weather.

ANOTHER FALSEHOOD DISCLOSED.

Perhaps the most exaggerated claim made by the advocates of the St. Lawrence seaway development is that the total cost to the United States will be in the neighborhood of $182,000,000. We are told that as soon as that expenditure has been made an ocean going vessel drawing twenty-six feet of water will be able to load at Hamburg or Liverpool and clear for Chicago or Milwaukee. We have already made editorial mention of the fact that due to the difference in the buoyancy of salt versus fresh water the ocean draft would be limited to twenty-three and one-half feet to enable the vessel to navigate in the twenty-seven foot draft of the proposed St. Lawrence seaway. But after that, what? The ship would not be able to dock in Buffalo harbor because there are only twenty-one feet of water available. She must avoid Cleveland, where there are only nineteen feet of draft. She could not navigate the Detroit and St. Clair rivers to Lake Huron, and even if she did she would not be able to dock in the twenty-one feet of water at Chicago or Milwaukee.

Another interesting fact is that natural harbors on the great lakes are very scarce, and that the outstanding ones are on the Canadian side, at Toronto and Fort William. On the American side, at Cleveland, Chicago, and Milwaukee, we have merely developed the mouths of rivers, and harbors must be constructed. In fairness to the people of the United States the proponents of the waterway should admit that the expenditure of $182,000,000 is only the first installment. For that price the waterway can be completed to the point where a vessel drawing not in excess of twenty-three and one-half feet may clear from Liverpool for Toronto. Further installments running into ten figures will be necessary to clear great lakes channels and construct harbors before navigation will reach either Chicago or Milwaukee. The operator of an automobile can well appreciate just what this means. There is a down payment of $182,000,000, after which we must produce further regular payments before we have a clear title to inland navigation—and in the meantime operating and repair expenses will accrue.

COINCIDENCE IN MINNESOTA.

Minnesota passed its press gag law because a weekly newspaper in Minneapolis made a business of scandalous disclosures of what it alleged to be corruption in the police department and other activities of city government and of collusion with criminal elements. The officials accused did not care to rely upon the ordinary protections of the courts, but wanted a drastic measure by which a publication could be suppressed, and the Minnesota legislature, for reasons sufficient to the legislators, gave the state the law.

This law was immediately perceived as one by which officialdom could destroy any newspaper venturing to expose wrongdoing. Although the publication attacked under this law was a small one, newspapers elsewhere than in Minnesota, including THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, perceived the danger to freedom of the press in such repressive legislation and carried the case into the United States Supreme court, to the end that the Minnesota law was declared a violation of a constitutional guaranty.

It is noteworthy that Minneapolis has been the scene of two of the notorious kidnaping crimes, one in which the Touhy gang was tried and acquitted for lack of sufficient identification, and now the Bremer case, in which the victim at this writing is still missing. He may be dead or he may be alive. The attacks on the authorities of Minneapolis which produced the gag law alleged scandals which, if the charges were true, would indicate such collusion with criminals as would make crime easy and profitable. The credibility of such charges is diminished neither by the crime record of Minneapolis nor by the demonstrated desire of officials to suppress newspaper publications. It is a coincidence, which may be observed for natural causes, that where the attempt to gag the press was made there are such terrifying crimes.

BOOING THAT IS PRAISE.

[Beloit (Wis.) Daily News.]

There isn't much question that Al Smith has lost a good deal of the popularity which was his a few years ago. If he wants to regain it, however, all he has to do is get his name hissed and booed a few more times by the henchmen of Tammany Hall.

When the Tammany speakers' bureau held its annual dinner the other night and bestowed a hearty razzberry on the name of Mr. Smith the attendant ward heelers unintentionally gave the gentleman quite a compliment.

The nature of the compliment becomes apparent when you reflect that immediately afterward they rose and cheered heartily at a mention of the name of former Mayor Jimmy Walker.

To be hissed by the braves of Tammany is to get an accolade of a sort which is really worth getting. The man who displeases Tammany is pretty apt to be a man who has done something in the interest of the public at large.

BACK TO THE FARM.

"The prediction was made six months ago that 1,000,000 people would be moved by the government OOO from the cities to subsistence farms. There is food for thought in the fact that only one man has moved out to a subsistence farm up to date."—News item.

CEE CEE CEE-ER—"Yes, it's the life. You live on a farm down among the clover and the bees, far away from the crowds and hustle and bustle of city life. There you'll be away out in the country, green grass, blue sky, fresh air, fresh eggs, with the bobolink and the blue birds and things like that singing you to sleep every night."

PROSPECTIVE FARMER (who has always lived in the city)—"Will there be a radio furnished free in that dump?"

CEE CEE CEE-ER—"Of course all our plans are not yet complete. But get the big idea. You'll be self-subsisting. Raise your own stuff, potatoes, carrots, gooseberries, honey, maple sirup, sausage, beefsteak and everything. All raised right there on your own farm."

PROSPECTIVE FARMER—"How far is it to the nearest movie?"

CEE CEE CEE-ER—"Well, I can't tell you that just offhand. But, ah! think of getting up bright and early in the morning and walking out while the flowers are heavy with the dews, the golden rays of the morning sun fall across the fields of growing corn——"

PROSPECTIVE FARMER—"How near is the gas station?"

CEE CEE CEE-ER—"Well, now, I'll have to look that up. But think of how independent you'll be on your own subsistence farm. You pick your own apples out of the old apple tree, and your own pears, and you go out in your own garden and pick a couple dozen ears of sweet corn and a bushel of prunes and a peck of string beans and——"

PROSPECTIVE FARMER—"What's the matter with that place? Hain't there a grocery around there that sells canned stuff?"

CEE CEE CEE-ER—"I'll have to find out about that. But think how happy you'll be with your merry family living in that dear old farmhouse almost hidden by the great bower of trees. You will look through the rose bushes and see your wife sweeping away inside the house——"

PROSPECTIVE FARMER—"What's that? Hain't there no patent automatic sweeper in that house?"

CEE CEE CEE-ER—"Well, we haven't arranged for those yet. And in the winter you can cut your own ice in the pond and store it away under sawdust in the shed for the hot days of——"

PROSPECTIVE FARMER—"Say! hain't there no refrigerator in that subsistence thing?"

CEE CEE CEE-ER—"Well, that is, not yet. But think of it! Think of the long evenings with the great logs blazing in the fireplace and your boys stretched in front of it reading their books by the light of the dancing flames just as Lincoln did——"

PROSPECTIVE FARMER—"Wait a minute! Wait a minute! Hain't that house wired for electricity?"

CEE CEE CEE-ER—"Well, I don't think so. But, ah, all about will be the beauties of nature and——"

PROSPECTIVE FARMER—"Is it piped for gas for the kitchen range?"

CEE CEE CEE-ER—"I believe not, but——"

PROSPECTIVE FARMER—"How many cars will the garage hold?"

CEE CEE CEE-ER—"Now as to that I can't say offhand, but ah, you can have sheep and dear little lambs frisking about you in the meadow and the cooing of the doves perched high up on the old barn will fall sweetly on your ears and——"

PROSPECTIVE FARMER—"Do they get the first run pictures in the movie theater down there and do they have the news reels and Mary Pickford in person and Mickey Mouse?"

CEE CEE CEE-ER—"I really haven't looked into that matter. But after a while——"

PROSPECTIVE FARMER—"My wife wants to know if they have bargain sales on Monday at the stores and when does the bridge whist club meet? And I'd like to know how far it is to the golf club and is it a 9 or an 18 hole course and is there a place close by where I could get good beer and something stronger if I needed it, and will the morning newspapers be delivered early every day, and is there a good restaurant across the street and plenty of buses an' trains an' street cars?"

CEE CEE CEE-ER—"My dear fellow, I don't think you grasp this subsistence farm thing at all; you see——"

PROSPECTIVE FARMER—"I've grasped all I want to. No movies, no radio, no ice refrigerator, no automatic sweeper, no canned groceries! But wait a minute; is there a big league ball park within a half hour's drive in my car?"

CEE CEE CEE-ER—"I believe not, but——"

PROSPECTIVE FARMER—"Say! where are you trying to get me to go? The middle of Africa or some Robinson Crusoe island out in the middle of the Pacific ocean? Good-by, mister, and I'd hate to tell you where you and that subsistence farm can go to."

DIET IN PREGNANCY.

A PREGNANT woman does not need to "eat for two" in the sense the term is generally used. There is no need to eat more than she has done in other periods of her life—at least no more of fats, starches, sugars, and proteins. Most adults, including women, overeat, and the margin of a woman's eating is ample to take care of her child's needs when she is childbearing.

So far from suffering from undernutrition, most pregnant women are overnourished. When they are keeping score to ward off puerperal convulsions they should watch lest they put on weight, just as they watch to see that the blood pressure does not rise and albumin does not appear in the urine.

So much for the rule. There are exceptions. As a rule, pregnant women do not get enough vitamin B foods and, in consequence, they do not have enough milk for the baby when the time comes. They do not get enough iodine and they are prone to develop goiter and to be unduly nervous. They do not get enough lime and phosphorus, and they lose a tooth or two during pregnancy, and occasionally a baby with congenital rickets is born. To increase the prospective milk supply the mother should eat yeasts and whole grain cereals, flours, and bran. To get enough iodine she should eat fish caught in salt water. To save her teeth she should eat cheese, milk, butter, greens, salads, whole grain cereals and breads, and nuts.

Dr. C. B. Reed reports that a deficiency of lime and phosphorus in the blood is one factor in puerperal convulsions. To prevent this physicians not only advise the lime-phosphorus foods in the daily diet but in emergencies they give lime salts by injection as well as by mouth. They also make use of vitamin D foods and medicines, such as cod liver oil, haliver oil, and viosterol, since it has been proved that this vitamin assists in the absorption of lime and phosphorus and also stabilizes them in the tissues.

Pregnant women not only lose teeth from decay but they are prone to develop gum disorders and occasionally they become scurvied in some degree. To prevent this they should have fruits and vegetables—the fresher the better.

It is well to bear in mind that the same vegetable may vary in its ingredients according to the place of its growth and season. Vegetables grown in certain soils contain considerable iodine and on other soils very little. Dr. Price found variation in the composition of cheese, butter, and milk in Switzerland dependent on whether the cows and goats were grazing in the valleys or high up on the mountainside, near the snowline.

CONGENITAL CYST.

M. E. writes: I want to ask your opinion concerning a congenital cyst at the base of the spine. The patient had it removed by operation about eleven months ago, but the incision has never quite healed. It still runs every now and then and becomes slightly sore if it gets stopped up. However, he has had very little pain from it since the operation.

1. Do you think it usually takes such a cyst so long to heal after an operation?
2. Do you think there is any danger of cancer from the incision?
3. Would you advise another operation to remove the cause of the running?

REPLY.

1. No.
2. Almost none.
3. Yes. Some of the cyst wall tissue was left behind at the first operation.

GRANULATED EYELIDS.

E. S. writes: What are granulated eyelids? What causes them? What is the treatment? I have a red spot on each eyelid that itches and burns. My friends say I have granulated eyelids.

REPLY.

Granulated lids is a commonly used name for any chronic inflammation of the border of the lids. Some cases of granulated lids are trachoma, a rather serious communicable disease. It is spread by face towels and wash basins. Another variety results from poor nutrition, and a third from eyestrain. Not wearing properly fitting glasses may be the cause of the last.

NEURITIS.

J. H. W. writes: For a week the fingers of my right hand have had a numb feeling. Part of the time my whole hand will feel numb. I can use it, but the numb feeling is always there. While I am an old man, I am perfectly well, as far as I know.

REPLY.

Such numbness is caused by neuritis. The neuritis results from pressure. Can you find where the pressure is? Is it in your neck, shoulder, or arm? If the pressure is relieved the numbness should disappear. Probably this disorder is not as important as you think.

OCCUPATIONAL TAX.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Please advise regarding the 2 per cent state occupational tax and (2) the right of a retailer to collect from the consumer an additional amount in excess of purchase. 3. I am a retailer and was informed only a few weeks ago by a state inspector that I must not collect tax from the consumer under penalty. 4. Now stores are permitted to collect from the consumer not as a state tax, so specified, but as overhead occupational expense. This, of course, is just another way around to pass it on. 5. What is the correct interpretation of the law? H. C. V.

1. We do not see that it is substantially different from most other taxes as far as passing it on to the consumer is concerned.
2. He has no right to collect an additional amount after the contract of sale has been made, but until the contract has been made he can charge any amount that he chooses and there is no law against his mentioning the items entering into the price which he charges, provided he does not represent that he is collecting the tax as a tax from the purchaser.
3. This is technically correct, but it does not mean that you cannot add the amount of the tax to the price which you ask just as is universally done in adding import duties to the selling price of imported goods.
4. We agree with you that where the tax is mentioned at the time of the sale the state officials are being overtechnical in attaching importance to just what is said. We are confident that the courts would treat almost any mention of the sales tax in connection with a price ticket on a cash sale as a legal addition to the price rather than as an illegal attempt to collect the tax as a tax.
5. See preceding answers.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN.—If Germany's hope to obtain France's consent to increase the reichswehr [regular army] to 200,000 men materializes, her army will once more represent an imposing force. Its commander will hold one of the most important positions in Nazi Germany.

The new commander in chief of the reichswehr, Lieut. Gen. Baron Werner von Fritsch, is said to enjoy the fullest confidence of President von Hindenburg, who is supreme commander of the German forces under the constitution. The general also was warmly greeted by the Nazi press. It is emphasized he always held the Nazi party in high esteem.

Gen. von Fritsch became commander in chief at the comparatively young age of 53. The monocled bachelor general looks younger than his age. He has a slim and wiry figure. He was born in the Rhineland, although his family originally hailed from Saxony, where they were raised to the ranks of barons and baronesses in the early 18th century.

Through his mother, née Von Bodelschwingh, Gen. von Fritsch is related to a family which played a prominent part in the life of the German Protestant church. The forced resignation of Bishop Friedrich von Bodelschwingh, through the establishment of a Nazi church dictatorship, initiated the present conflict within the church.

Von Fritsch had wide experience in all branches of military service, including the air force. He began his career as gunner officer in the field artillery. Like all especially gifted young officers, he was sent to the general staff. During the world war he was attached as staff officer to Germany's crack division, the First infantry guards. When the war ended he was serving in the headquarters of the German air forces.

After the armistice Baron von Fritsch was attached to the reichswehr and in 1922 was promoted to lieutenant colonel. Later he became chief of staff of the East Prussian division. In 1927 he was placed in charge of the field artillery regiment garrisoned in Schwerin in Mecklenburg. In 1931 he was appointed commander of the First cavalry division. Before being named commander in chief Von Fritsch commanded the Third infantry division.

Von Fritsch is the fifth commander of the reichswehr. The first commander, Gen. Reinhardt, was soon succeeded by Gen. von Seeckt, the real founder of the reichswehr. In his hands the army was turned into a formidable instrument of war, although it was built up strictly in conformity with the restrictions imposed by the Versailles treaty. So well did Von Seeckt succeed that the French are now eager to have the reichswehr replaced by a short term militia of twice, perhaps three times, its present size of 100,000 men.

Col. Heye was succeeded by Baron von Hammerstein Equord, who had to make room for the present commander. Political circles believe that the reason for Gen. von Hammerstein's resignation was that he was too eager to yield to the French demand for the abolition of Chancellor Hitler's 2,500,000 storm troopers in exchange for an enlarged reichswehr of 300,000 men.

THE McGUFFEY READERS.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—In recent issues of THE TRIBUNE there have appeared certain misleading statements relative to the authorship of the McGuffey Readers. The Miami University Bulletin for July, 1928, bears the subtitle, "William Holmes McGuffey and the Peerless Pioneer McGuffey Readers, by Harvey C. Minnich, LL.D., Dean School of Education of Miami University, Oxford, Ohio."

Dean Minnich had a rare opportunity for acquiring the facts relative to this famous educator and his readers. He was a colleague of Dean Andrew D. Hepburn of the Liberal Arts college, a son-in-law of Dr. McGuffey, came in personal contact with a number of McGuffey's students and had ready access to the records and publications of the university where William H. McGuffey taught from 1826 to 1836, and where he compiled and arranged the material for the first four readers published under his name.

In 1836 Prof. McGuffey resigned from Miami university and moved to Cincinnati, where were published that same year the first three of the Eclectic Readers. These were followed in July, 1837, by the Eclectic Fourth Reader. Due to certain criticisms, a revised edition of the second and third readers was issued in 1838.

It appears that in the preparation and revision of these first four readers assistance was rendered by Alexander H. McGuffey, who was a student at Miami university, 1826-31. Later he taught school in Kentucky and Cincinnati. In 1839 he graduated from the law school of Cincinnati college. For most of the time from 1828 to 1839 he made his home with his brother.

In 1841 a revision of the first four readers was undertaken. The revising of the first and second readers was committed by the publishers to Mr. Mason, a teacher in the Cincinnati schools, and of the third and fourth to Dr. Pinneo, both of whom were on their editorial staff. Since McGuffey and his brother were then professors in Woodward college, Cincinnati, they doubtless were consulted in this work of revision.

To this series of readers was added a fifth. On Sept. 30, 1841, Alexander H. McGuffey entered into agreement with W. B. Smith "to complete and prepare for the said Smith a rhetorical reading book . . . to be called McGuffey's Rhetorical Reader . . . or by any other appropriate name that said Smith may choose." The material was to be ready for the press within eighteen months and the remuneration specified was $500. This contract, which is in the handwriting of Alexander H. McGuffey, is in the McGuffey museum of the Miami university library, along with a collection of one hundred and twenty-five McGuffey Readers, no two of which are alike and some of which are the only known copies. The book thus contracted for appeared in 1844 and bore the title "McGuffey's Rhetorical Guide or Fifth Reader of the Eclectic Series."

In 1857 the publishers brought out a new edition of the readers entitled "McGuffey's New Eclectic Readers." This edition was characterized by the introduction of some new material, the shifting of many selections from one reader of the old series to another of the new, and the addition of a sixth book to the series. Thus the fourth comprised the best selections of the former editions not included in the preceding three. The Fifth Reader was the remodeled Fourth of 1843 and the new book, "McGuffey's New Sixth Eclectic Reader," comprised one hundred and forty-three lessons taken from the Fifth Reader of 1844, together with thirty-seven additional selections.

As Dr. Pinneo of the editorial staff shared in the revision of 1843, to him was committed the supervision of that of 1857. In this work he was assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Obed J. Smith. Doubtless he had the counsel of Alexander H. McGuffey, who was prominent in Cincinnati educational circles and who had been so intimately associated with both his brother and the publishers in the preparation and subsequent development of the series.

Important as was the work of the publishers and their editors, it was the McGuffey brothers who were the original compilers of the first five readers. Others but rearranged and supplemented the material they supplied and expanded the series from five to six readers. The main credit must be given to William H. McGuffey, who not only discerned a need in American education but took the initial steps toward meeting such need, and whose widespread popularity as a teacher, preacher, and lecturer greatly augmented the demand for the series of textbooks which he originated and which bear his name.

PRECEDENT.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 24.—I wonder if any one in high place in Washington has read I. Kings, 12, lately and noted what happened to Rehoboam when he turned his back on the "old men" and followed the advice of "the young men that were grown up with him."

HENRY HOOD.

MAYBE HE DIDN'T LIKE IT.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—I have some nice adjectives for THE TRIBUNE. The front page cartoon which appeared this date, the anniversary of the day of the birth of our President, was not only insidious and untruthful, but was traitorous, un-American, unsportsmanlike, small, ignoble, narrow, partisan, perfidious, and a case of sour grapes.

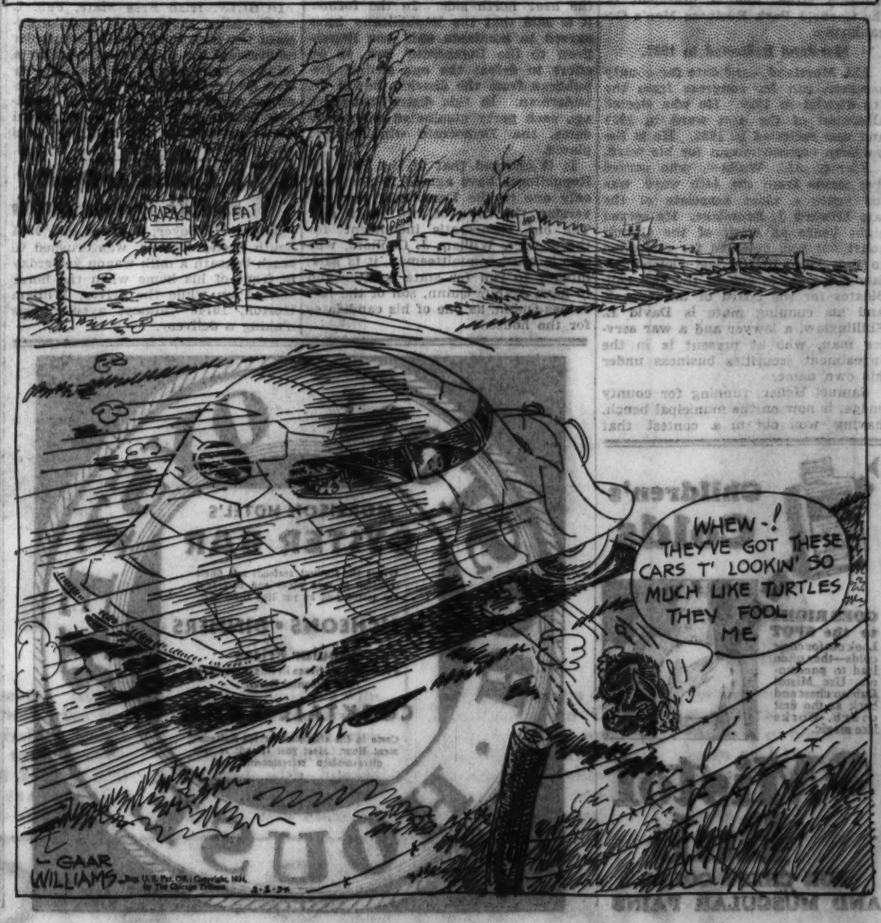
CLOSED BANKS.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—Reading in today's issue of THE TRIBUNE State Auditor Edward Barrett's report of 20 closed banks, and noting the amount of money paid to receivers, lawyers, clerk hire and miscellaneous, I am fearful for those having money tied up in a bank. A federal investigation would show if such a large sum is needed, and of course the end is not yet. G. W.

SOMETHING OUGHT TO BE DONE ABOUT THIS



FRANCE SPURNS PROPOSAL TO LET GERMANY REARM

Tells Hitler His Program Means Arms Race.

PARIS, Feb. 1.—(AP)—France rejected Germany's offer of nonaggression pacts and charged that Chancellor Hitler's program "would lead directly to an armaments race" in a note published tonight which was sent the German government on Jan. 1.

A cool reception likewise was given the British and Italian arms plans, announced yesterday, which recognized Germany's claim to equality in armaments and proposed that the heavily armed powers do not increase their forces.

The French note to Chancellor Hitler stressed "disarmament," official quarters said, while the German, British, and Italian projects all emphasized "rearmament."

Spurns All Hitler Proposals.

France accepted none of Hitler's recent proposals, but left the door open for future conversations and made a strong appeal to Germany to "associate herself in the indispensable policy of international collaboration within the framework of the league of nations."

The declaration also was made that direct conversations between French and German statesmen could not settle the arms problem, "which is essentially European in nature."

A solution of Franco-German differences was called "impossible to envisage" unless Germany returns to the league, from which she withdrew last fall.

Hitler's "complete rearmament program" would lead to a renewal of an arms race, the communication went on, and instead a reduction was proposed based on a modified British arms plan, which would "lead to a complete realization of equality of rights."

Insists on "Test Period."

Emphasis was placed on the desirability of a test period of arms control, to which Germany objects. Chancellor Hitler was asked if he intended to accept "practical control measures" already outlined at Geneva.

In reply to Germany's demand for an army of 300,000 the assertion was made that military problems would thereby be raised since semi-military forces, such as the Nazi storm troopers, must be included in any estimates of effectives.

France proposed the scrapping of 50 per cent of her military planes if other powers agreed to do likewise, and the eventual internationalization of all European aviation.

The French offered to limit artillery permitted by a future arms convention to 150 millimeters, but said any agreement between France and Germany relative to figures would be insufficient, as all Europe must be taken into consideration.

Cites Austrian Situation.

The note denied that France does not want to disarm.

"France is ready, contrary to what Germany contends, to make a considerable reduction in armaments," the communication asserted, "but this reduction depends upon German collaboration."

The tense situation existing in Germany and Austria over the latter's demands for guarantees of independence was mentioned and the suggestion was put forward that non-aggression pacts as proposed by Germany "would not be opportune" unless new guarantees were added against "any menace to the signatories' independence."

The French plan provides for two phases. During the first the French army would be reduced and the Germany army simultaneously would be transformed—both becoming eventually short-term home defensive forces. France would agree to make no more guns or war materials. During the second phase the actual destruction of guns outlawed in treaties would begin, and Germany would be permitted weapons as provided for in a new agreement.

DUCE REVIEWS THOUSANDS OF BLACKSHIRTS

ROME, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Thousands of Blackshirt troops paraded before Premier Mussolini today, the eleventh anniversary of the foundation of the Fascist militia.

The duce reviewed his favorite legions from a wooden platform on broad New Empire street, which leads from his offices past the ruins of Caesar's forum to the Coliseum. He wore the uniform of commander in chief.

Similar reviews were held in cities and towns throughout the country. Even those members of the party who do not belong to the militia were required to lay aside civilian attire for the day and appear in emblematic black.

Mussolini is giving the militia a constantly increasing importance in the country's system of military defense. It was announced recently that Blackshirt units would take over the entire coast artillery service as a step toward wider collaboration with the regular army.

SPANISH COURT TO PARDON FOUR YANKS AT PALMA

MADRID, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Assurance was given today that four Americans sentenced to prison for assaulting a civil guard at Palma, Mallorca, June 4, 1933, would be pardoned. Claude G. Bowers, the United States ambassador, was informed that the sixth section of the Spanish Supreme court would approve a pardon recommendation now before it.

The section will meet tomorrow to make its formal decision, which will be transmitted to the full Supreme court for action. High official circles said they expected clemency to be extended by Saturday.

The Americans, sentenced to terms of six months and a day, are Mr. and Mrs. Clinton B. Lockwood of West Springfield, Mass.; Edmund W. Blodgett, Stamford, Conn., and Roderick F. Mead, New York.

PASTOR BEATEN IN NAZI CHURCH WAR IS FEARED DYING

Anti-Hitler Leader Has Hemorrhage.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 1.—The Rev. Gerhard Jacobi, pastor of the fashionable Kaiser Wilhelm Memorial church here, tonight was in a critical condition. He is suffering from hemorrhage of the brain.

This is the sequel of a brutal beating inflicted on the minister by a group of men who forced their way into his study a week ago.

Nazis Win a Victory.

Two organizations of Catholic students, whose members include many prominent in public life, surrendered to Nazidom today when they decided that the Catholic faith is no longer essential to membership.

The organizations are the Cartel Union of Catholic German Student Corps Bearing Colors and the Catholic Students' association. They issued a joint manifesto declaring that the religious barrier, "necessitated under conditions of the former liberal state," are now no longer necessary.

Dr. Staebel, national leader of the Nazi German Students' corps, said this is the final step to unification on a true Nazi basis.

Spurns Austrian Charges.

The government today flatly repudiated Austrian allegations of German intervention in Austrian internal affairs and refused to consider an international discussion of Austro-German differences.

This sharp rejoinder to the protest made to Germany on Jan. 17 by Chancellor Dollfuss' government was contained in a note handed by Baron Konstantin von Neurath, German foreign minister, to the Austrian ambassador, Tauschnitz, today.

After laying down Germany's basic attitude on the Austrian problem the note took up and rejected one by one the official complaints lodged by Austria. It declared Germany's view is that "the problem is not open to international discussion and cannot be solved in this way."

"Unsatisfactory" to Austria.

VIENNA, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The German answer to an Austrian note threatening to appeal to the League of Nations if "Nazi terrorism" is not stopped in Austria was rejected as "unsatisfactory" tonight by the cabinet.

The cabinet issued a communique which said that failure of the German government to answer satisfactorily the specific complaint of Nazi activities left the Dollfuss government no alternative but to take further action in an international sphere.

ROBBERS DISARM GUARD AND ROB CASHIER OF $2,166

Five masked robbers yesterday disarmed Policeman Joseph Cerny of the Lawndale station, a guard, and took $2,067 in cash and $99 in checks from Frank Brower, 4735 North Karlov avenue, a cashier for the Metropolitan Life Insurance company office at 3801 West 26th street. The robbery occurred on the street a few doors from the Lawndale National bank, 3337 West 26th street.

Brower has been making daily deposits at the bank in company of a policeman. Yesterday he and Policeman Cerny were in front of the old real estate office of the late Mayor Cermak at 3341 West 26th street when the robbers leaped from an automobile and surrounded them.

Policeman Cerny, beaten to the draw, was threatened by the robbers' revolvers. His revolver was seized and the cashier was forced to drop the money bag. After picking up the money the robbers ran to their car and drove away. Brower was robbed of $2,300 in a similar holdup last August at Trumbull avenue and 26th street.

17 CHICAGO RENTAL AGENTS ASKED 1,942 OF THEIR TENANTS THIS QUESTION

1. If you were to consult a classified advertising section when hunting an apartment, which newspaper would you turn to first?

☐ AMERICAN ☐ HERALD & EXAMINER
☐ NEWS
☐ TRIBUNE

● A total of 1,942 tenants filled in the postcards and mailed them directly to the agents' offices.

● 1,423 of the 1,942 tenants, or 73%, said they would consult Tribune Want Ads first.

1,423 or 73% said, "THE TRIBUNE"

● Seventeen of Chicago's leading rental agents recently decided to find out for themselves the up-to-date facts about apartment want advertising. Each agent wrote a letter to the tenants in the buildings he manages asking them to answer a few questions set out on a prepaid return postcard.

A total of 1,942 tenants filled in the cards and mailed them back to the agents who tabulated the replies.

TRIBUNE LEADS 2 TO 1

1,423 of the 1,942 tenants, or 73 per cent, said that if they were looking for an apartment they would consult Tribune want ads first. This is a 2 to 1 lead for the Tribune over the second Chicago newspaper, an 8 to 1 lead over the third Chicago newspaper, 16 to 1 over the fourth!

Every Chicago landlord, rental agent, everyone interested in getting his money's worth from rental want advertising, is invited to examine the detailed facts of this independent investigation.

GET THE COMPLETE TABULATION

No matter where people live, their preference for the Tribune is overwhelming. The tenants who gave the Tribune the poorest relative showing still gave this newspaper a 70 per cent lead over the next Chicago newspaper.

You owe it to yourself or to the owner whose building you represent, to go over the complete findings in this rental agents' investigation. Ask for a Tribune representative to show it to you at your convenience.

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR RESULTS!

This Rental Agents' survey emphasizes one important fact: you cannot measure the cost of want advertising by the rate per word or per line.

When you buy want advertising, you are not buying paper and ink—what you want are satisfactory tenants at the lowest cost per lease signed.

A GAL'S CLOTHES GET A SOUTHERN EDITOR IN A JAM

Meanwhile Murder Trial Continues.

Greenwood, Miss., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Attorneys for the state and for Dr. Sara Ruth Dean, accused of the "poison highball" murder of Dr. John Preston Kennedy, today renewed their struggles for a jury, as tonight's deadline on payment of 1933 taxes threatened to disqualify 30 per cent of Le Flore county's voters as prospective jurors in the case.

As Mississippi views things, a citizen cannot serve on a jury unless his taxes are paid before Feb. 1. Eight jurors had been selected up to tonight.

Vying with the trial in interest is a hubbub in this little town over the manner in which the local newspaper, the Greenwood Commonwealth, "snubbed" a New York newspaper woman sent to cover the proceedings, and then elaborately repented of the snub.

Before leaving the north the young woman telephoned District Attorney Arthur Jordan inquiring the date of the trial and what sort of weather she might expect in Mississippi. Never having visited this deepest part of the "deep south" she was uncertain whether a fur coat or gingham dress would be more comfortable. She also inquired in routine fashion whether there was a hotel in Greenwood and, if so, whether she had better make an advance reservation.

Senator Writes Piece.

Senator Littleton Upshur, bank director, lawyer, delegate to the state legislature, and also editor of the Commonwealth, commented editorially under the caption, "What will she wear?"

"A certain young lady reporter from New York," wrote the senator, "didn't know what kind of clothes would be appropriate in attending trial at such a yokel village as Greenwood appears to the New York taste. Just a word of advice to the young lady as to her clothes. Just wear anything you please while attending the trial. You will find other ladies in the courtroom probably quite as well attired according to the best New York taste. Please don't come into court wearing riding 'britches' or a mother-hubbard. And unless you surpass most of the newspaper girls in pulchritude please don't appear in a bathing suit.

"Anything else will go. Nobody will notice you, anyhow."

Town Changes Mind.

When the reporter arrived in Greenwood, wearing low heels, a simple beret, and a humble expression, residents realized a mistake had been made in heralding her as a Park avenue fashion plate. When the photographer who accompanied her was temporarily confined to his room, while his one suit was out being pressed, they realized that even the male of the species wasn't exactly a city slicker.

The population feeling the hospitality code of the south had been grossly violated, made amends, which to date, totaled as follows:

The newspaper woman was promptly invited to attend the Rotary and Kiwanis club luncheons. A man styling himself "A citizen of Greenwood" formally presented the regrets of the business men of the town, assuring her that the editorial did not reflect the majority of local sentiment. The Baptist minister, Dr. E. J. Caswell, called, and assured her that the editorial did not represent the feeling "of the better and more intelligent element." The mayor, Will Clemens, escorted her on a tour of the city, and then apologized for the city.

Demand Retraction.

A committee of citizens stormed the Commonwealth office and demanded a public, editorial retraction, which is in abeyance pending return from Jackson, of Senator Upshur.

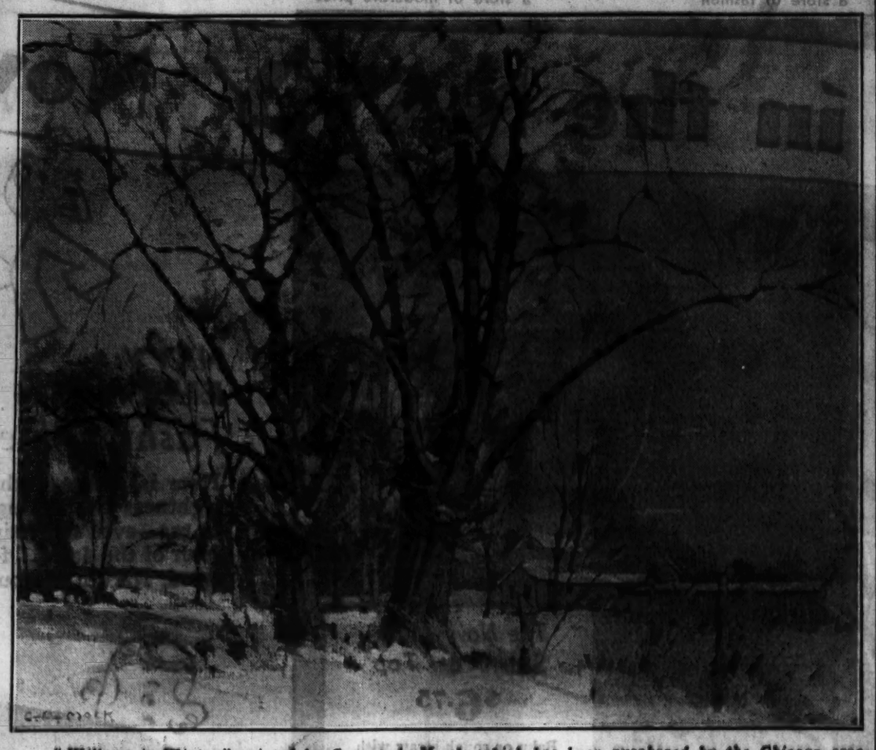
Dr. Dean, the murder defendant, told the press "the editorial was entirely uncalled for," and that she regretted it.

Women of the town started plans for a luncheon, to make further amends. Meanwhile the calmest person in this small tempest was the reporter herself, who long ago became accustomed to the buffetings of the press.

FOUND DEAD NEAR HOME.

Robert ortell, 42 years old, 5530 Dorchester avenue, was found dead yesterday in an alley behind his home. He is believed to have collapsed and died of heart disease.

Painting to Be Displayed at Tri Kappa Day Luncheon



"Willows in Winter," painted by George A. Mock, which has been purchased by the Chicago associate chapter of Tri Kappa and will be displayed tomorrow at a luncheon at Hoosier art salon.

AUTO SHOW NOTES

W. R. Tracy, general sales manager of Hudson, left his desk in the company's Blackstone hotel headquarters and spent two days talking to customers around the Terrplane and Hudson exhibits before making a statement to the press. He reported that this is a fritful retail show, with the public intelligently discriminating as to values, but not quibbling about prices.

B. E. Hutchinson, chairman of Plymouth, wired from Detroit to his representatives attending the motor show that the company had received orders for 83,000 cars from dealers throughout the country. This figure is 500 per cent greater than the volume at this time last year and is equal to 25 per cent of the company's entire 1933 production.

De Soto has a marionette show at its booth in the Coliseum. By means of miniature vehicles and figures, the show depicts the progress of transportation through four centuries.

DOCTOR, WIFE OF PROFESSOR DIE IN HOTEL ROOM

Austin, Tex., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—With their features terribly distorted the dead bodies of Dr. Claude Mattingly, 39, a children's specialist and Mrs. F. A. C. Perring, 35, wife of a professor of psychology at the University of Texas, were found this morning in a room at a local hotel.

Their deaths were the result of a suicide pact, police officials believe.

It was apparent that Mattingly had first injected morphine sulphate into the arm of Mrs. Perrin and then subjected himself to a similar deadly potion.

Dr. Perrin has been a member of the faculty of the University of Texas for about ten years. At one time he taught at the University of Pittsburgh. He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. He also attended the University of Chicago. The couple had no children. Dr. Mattingly was a graduate of the medical branch of the University of Texas at Galveston and has been practicing in Austin for about five years. He served in the marine corps during the world war and was decorated for bravery. He was married but estranged from his wife. He had been living for several months at the hotel where the double suicide was committed. He is the father of two children, a son, 5, and a daughter, 7.

TWO HELD AS ROBBERS.

George Marlevick, 19 years old, of Detroit, and Charles Clayton, 20 years old, 119 West Chestnut street, captured Saturday in an attempted robbery of the tailor shop of Meyer Brice at 541 Rush street, were held to the grand jury in bonds of $15,000 each yesterday.

RECORD IS SET BY DAY'S CROWD AT AUTO SHOW

Expect Sale of 4,000 Cars.

BY HAL FOUST.

Attendance at the National Automobile show at the Coliseum yesterday and last night established an all time Thursday record. With a Wednesday that was the best since 1931, the management predicted that by noon today the gate receipts would exceed the total for the entire 1933 exposition. The show will close tomorrow night.

Sales likewise are approaching new records. The Chicago Automobile Trade association, reporting up to Wednesday night, said that 1,479 cars had been sold, as compared with 1,179 for the same period of the 1933 show.

See $2,820,000 in Sales.

With the turn in the weather the management predicted that sales would reach 4,000 units by tomorrow night, as compared with a total of 2,800 last year. With an average price of $680 a car, this means $2,820,000 in merchandising at the Coliseum in eight days. This is exclusive of the sales made at company exhibits in hotels and dealers' showrooms.

Ford, in the 121st regiment armory and in the Congress hotel, is showing a sharp increase in business, although the company does not exhibit in the Coliseum. The new Lincolns may be seen at the Coliseum, in the armory, in the Congress, and in the Drake hotel.

Special Show in Hotel.

General Motors has a special show in the Stevens hotel and it includes cut away engines and chassis and unusual research tools as well as 1934 models of the corporation's six lines of cars.

Chrysler units are on display in the Congress hotel and the crowds have been particularly eager to inspect the ultra streamlined De Sotos and Chryslers. Demonstrators make drives into Grant park.

Packard has a special display at the Edgewater Beach hotel and several north side dealers in other makes of cars also are showing at the north side hotel.

Plan Art Luncheon

Delegates from nearly 100 Indiana towns and cities will attend the Tri Kappa day luncheon at the Hoosier salon tomorrow at 12:30 p. m. in the Wedgwood room at Marshall Field's. The East Chicago chapter of this Indiana sorority will be hostess. Mrs. Chalmer Schafer of Fort Wayne, grand president of Tri Kappa, will preside. Preceding the luncheon a tour of the galleries will be conducted.

Each year the Tri Kappa sorority awards a $250 prize at the salon. The picture selected by the salon jury for this year's prize is a painting, "Early Monday Morning," by C. Curry Bohm. The Chicago associate chapter of Tri Kappa purchased a picture, "Willows in Winter," by George A. Mock. The selection was made by John T. McCutcheon of THE TRIBUNE.

Following the luncheon a musical program will be presented which will include Frank and Cathryn Bennett, in vocal duets; John Burdette, Negro baritone who gained fame at the Chicagoland Music festivals, and Enrico Clausi, operatic tenor.

FALL FATAL TO WOMAN, 62.

Mrs. Rebecca Curry, 62 years old, 3033 South State street, a Negro, died yesterday in the county hospital of injuries received in a fall.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands of sufferers from piles have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1,000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets from their own druggist with a rigid money back guarantee.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Walgreen's invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case?

A TRUE STORY By A MOTHER who says she was "quite skeptical" when her doctor told her what to do

PEOPLE seem to have to go through a lot of suffering before they learn the simple secrets of good health. Here's a letter from Mrs. S. N. Tintinger, of Cascade, Montana, that tells its own story.

"After the birth of my daughter, who is now nine, I suffered terribly from constipation, and tried all sorts of remedies, but got little relief. Two years later, after my boy was born, my lower intestine seemed to become partially paralyzed; my digestive system became upset; my stomach refused to function properly; my head ached continuously; and finally my whole system became infected, and a nervous breakdown followed.

"I tried almost every brand of cathartic and laxative, with practically no results. Believe me, I was very skeptical when my physician prescribed Nujol. However, I took it faithfully, and although it was several weeks before I became regular and normal, my physician and I were both very much pleased with my recovery.

"Well, I have been an almost constant user of Nujol ever since, and that, as you see, is about seven years ago. Whenever I try anything else I find it doesn't work as well, and I always go back to Nujol. With all due fairness to many other well-known remedies, I can sincerely say that although they may be excellent, none of them has given me the relief, and helped to overcome my intestinal paralysis, like Nujol. Although other remedies may sell for less, I think it is much cheaper to use Nujol. Of course I give Nujol to the children, too.

"We keep Nujol in the house all the time. I owe my present good health to it. I can depend on it for good results, and I know Nujol is as safe for the children as it is for me."

Nothing we could add to Mrs. Tintinger's letter would make it any more convincing. Follow her example. See what Nujol will do for you—bring your children up on it to be regular as clockwork. You can get it at any drug store.

Nujol now comes in two forms, plain Nujol and Cream of Nujol, the latter flavored and often preferred by children.

What is your Nujol story? If you have been using Nujol for ten years or more, if you are bringing up your children on it, tell us. Address Stanco Incorporated, 2 Park Ave., New York City.

IRELAND OFFERS U. S. CHANCE TO SELL MACHINERY

Government Is Eager for Reciprocal Trade.

BY HUGH CURRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Feb. 1.—The Irish Free State wants increased trade with foreign countries if in so doing it is able to obtain an outlet for some of its own exportable surplus. The economic dispute with Great Britain has made this more essential than ever. The United States for many reasons is regarded as an ideal country to trade with.

While the main policy of the Irish Free State government is one of self-sufficiency, that is providing all its needs within its own borders, it is inevitable that in many respects complete self-sufficiency is unattainable. The Free State produces nearly all the food necessary for its people. Wheat, of which only a small percentage of the required amount is home grown, is an exception.

Tries to Grow More Wheat.

Efforts are being made, however, to increase the wheat supply and to this end farmers are guaranteed by the government a price which is substantially in excess of the cost at which wheat can be imported from abroad. The fact is that the soil and climate of the Free State are not suitable for the production of the best quality wheat, and even though the output here may be increased, it will still be necessary to import a certain proportion of best wheat for mixing with the home grown flour.

There are, of course, other commodities which cannot at present be produced here and which it will be necessary to import.

I discussed the prospects of increasing trade generally between the Free State and the United States with Sean Lemass, minister for industry and commerce, and found him eager to enter any scheme which seemed to afford opportunity of developing such a trade.

Free State Buys Machinery.

"We are now, and will be to a greater extent, buying large quantities of machinery for the various industries which we are setting up here. In consequence of the emergency duties on British machinery, the bulk of our requirements is coming from European countries. In order to meet this trade, a number of firms in Germany, France and Belgium have established or are about to establish branch offices here so as to facilitate the instruction of Irish mechanics in the working of various machines, and for the provision of spare parts.

"Irish industrialists' chief fear in using American machines would be the difficulty of getting spare parts in a hurry. For that reason American manufacturers would have to make provision in that respect, and also have available skilled mechanics to make urgent repairs.

"I don't know what the possibilities are of bringing American coal here. We bought coal from America once before in a time of crisis and may do so again. American coal producers may be interested in the possibilities of that market, especially in view of the special duty at present on British coal.

Wants Reciprocal Pact.

"Of course we are buying at present from the United States a large amount of goods of various kinds, much more than America buys from us. Naturally any big development in this respect would have to envisage facilities for a return trade in Irish products. Last year we took from America 5 million dollars' worth of goods. In return America took less than one-fifth of that amount. A few years ago our imports from America ran up to 20 million dollars a year.

"It is true that there is only a comparatively small number of commodities which America could take from us. The principal of these are beer and spirits. Our Irish linen products, particularly material for linen suits, offer a line of trade which should be very acceptable. Damask linen cloth of the highest class is made here and should command a good market in America.

Cites Other Possibilities.

"The fame of Irish bacon and hams is not unknown in America, and the trade could, I think, be revived. In former times America sent large quantities of coarser bacon here, but that has now ceased in the Free State. All foreign bacon is prohibited.

"Another branch of Free State export which should find acceptance in America is that of church furnishings, stained glass, altar fittings, and the like. We also hope to see a strong development in the export of Irish marble for church building.

"We should like to see the United States take an interest in our famous thoroughbred horses and hunters. We have, for many years, had a steady export trade in these to South America, but hitherto very little has been done with North America."

U. S. MAY CANCEL ALL EXISTING AIR MAIL CONTRACTS

Hold Farley Has Power to Break Them.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Testimony that the Columbian Steamship line received a mail contract uncontested, despite the fact that the United Fruit company was low bidder, was received today by the senate mail investigating committee.

This was brought out a short while after Postmaster General Farley had repeated to reporters that his department was studying existing air mail contracts to determine whether any should be canceled in view of recent disclosures.

Department attorneys have ruled that Farley has power to break the contracts and a decision may be reached within a week.

A. Lane Cricher, former chief of the transportation division of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, testified before the senate committee that the United Fruit line did not bid a second time on the route which was given the Columbian, but received three other contracts.

Reads from Records.

Much of Cricher's testimony was merely acquiescence with the verbatim minutes of an interdepartmental aviation subcommittee, high spots of which were read by Chairman Black [Dem., Ala.] of the investigating committee.

Commander Court, naval representative on the committee, was quoted in the minutes as saying, "The only way to readvertise so the Columbian line can get the contract is to have the shipping board figure out some way of specifying the type and speed" so that none other would be eligible.

The minutes were introduced in an attempt to show that the United Fruit had asked to be assured of the three other routes before agreeing to drop its application for the one in question, which was to the Caribbean and South America.

Take Up Air Male Angle.

The committee again took up the application of the Philadelphia Mail Steamship company, organized by the Pennsylvania and other railroads, for a contract to carry mail to the United Kingdom, and Black read quotations from W. Irving Glover, former assistant postmaster general, purportedly indicating postoffice department haste to award the contract before the advent of the new administration on March 4, 1933.

Glover was quoted as telling the other interdepartmental committee members that "the postmaster general would not like to have it left in his lap and he doesn't want it left for his successor."

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

There's a treat in store for you that I wish I could experience again—the delight of seeing and hearing Anna Sten for the first time.

[The hearing is quite as important an event as the seeing—for the Russian has a voice to charm the soul away.]

For months this office has been flooded with publicity about the remarkable star who was soon to burst on our American screen horizon. For months photographs of her have been on my desk—photographs that looked almost too good to be true. Well, no word of praise has been too fulsome—and Anna Sten is lovelier than her pictures—for they can't move and sparkle, weep and smile their way into your heart as does the original.

Garbo, being acknowledged queen of the movies [in many quarters], it has become the fashion to compare each new star with the Swedish player. Let us not revert from style.

Sten is like Garbo in that she is blonde and completely effortless, but there the resemblance stops. Sten has passionate warmth where Garbo has passionate inertia. She suggests a thousand hidden, sparkling springs where Garbo brings to mind one deep, mysterious pool. The former's apparently complex personality has about it nothing of the abnormal or decadent. Too, her figure is vital and rounded, and her face with its high cheekbones and great expressive eyes is animated and well filled out. Her rich mouth is like the sea under a changing sky—never for a moment the same.

One can quite understand the determination of Samuel Goldwyn—who saw her on the stage in "The Brothers Karamazov"—to sign her up for English speaking pictures.

"Nana," adapted from the Zola tale, proves a most satisfactory introductory vehicle—though heaven knows they had a time making the picture. It was about one-quarter completed—under direction of George Fitzmaurice, when every foot of film was discarded—at an enormous loss. Fitzmaurice declared he couldn't get the "feel" of the story—that nobody but a woman could possibly understand Nana.

"All right—we'll let a woman handle the piece!" decided Goldwyn. Dorothy Arzner was commandeered into service—and if she hasn't done a beautiful job of "understanding" then I'm all wrong.

The story is of a girl of the streets who wins the notice and heart of a brilliant and aged impresario—maker of stars.

The death—in poverty—of her mother, a weak, erring woman, brings from the lips of Nana these momentous words:

"I will NOT be weak, and I will NOT be poor."

She becomes the toast of Paris.

Then, her honest love for a young soldier, Lieut. George Muffat, brings down on her head the jealous wrath of the senile impresario who ruins her as quickly as he had made her.

Nana's lover is sent to Algiers. Letters between the two are intercepted . . . At last, believing that the man for whom she has sacrificed all has ceased to care, Nana accepts the protection of George's uncle, and again—becomes a lauded lady of the footlights . . .

Most of the action occurs in Paris and the time is 1868.

Miss Sten has marvelous support—note Richard Bennett as the impresario, and Mae Clarke and Muriel Kirkland as ladies of the night and the heroine's best friends. Mae Clarke gets better with every performance. Lionel Atwill as the uncle and Phillips Holmes as the lover are fine.

Staging and costumes are the last word in effectiveness and the picture has about it a breath-taking suspense, seldom topped by a mystery play—which "Nana" is not.

See you tomorrow!

Tailors Told They Can Make Short Man Look 2 Inches Taller

It is possible for a tailor who knows his business to make a short man appear two inches taller. This was the final fashion note announced at the close of the joint convention of the National Association of Merchant Tailors and the Merchant Tailor Designers' association at the Palmer house yesterday afternoon.

Men should be dressed according to the color of their eyes and hair, and their business should be considered as well, according to Walter A. Stresen-Reuter of Chicago, chairman of the style show.

"To make a man look taller a tailor can give that optical illusion by making the pants without cuffs and narrower, narrower collar, and buttons placed a little closer together," he said.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

WE wrote, a touch of sentimentality, perhaps, about old men the other day. A girl named Irene Small contributes what she says is a true story for our collection of old men. Last Saturday as she was sitting in a north side "L" station she observed the old man in charge of the taxicab stand there. He was well over 60, dressed very shabbily and had a slow, limping walk. As he bent over his desk, occasionally taking a call for a cab, she began to feel grateful to the company that provided the forlorn old soul with a job, however small the pay.

Old Man—
Bar-keeps—Financier—
Sentiment.

* *

A FELLOW writes in that he observed at a liquor store on Adams street that the three dispensers at the liquor counter were one man who always wears an overcoat and a derby, one man who wears a vest and a straw hat, and a woman. He didn't mention the woman's attire, so we can't tell you about that.

* *

FRANK A. VANDERLIP, who, Lyman Gage, secretary of the treasury under President McKinley, once said, had the finest financial mind he ever had encountered, told a friend at the luncheon Mrs. Francis Johnson gave at the Casino for the Vanderlips the other day, how he earned his first money, and how he spent it.

He was 12 years old at the time and lived on a farm downstate in Illinois. He was paid $13 for looking after 15 calves of a neighbor. When he received his pay he wrote to the Boston Transcript for a year's subscription to the paper and the dictionary that accompanied it. . . . It is irrelevant but interesting perhaps that Mr. Vanderlip was in the Auditorium theater for the second time in his life the night of the President's birthday party. The first time had been the evening of its opening in 1889, when he covered the story of the opening for THE TRIBUNE. And if we had the time we'd look up the story to see if the influence of the dictionary reading was noticeable.

* *

IT was evident that among so-called people of means the President's birthday was celebrated by parties and dances the country over. We might turn our attention to the unemployed and poverty-stricken, and their response to the nation-wide birthday celebration. We will observe, first, three sweater-and-overall clad CWA workers, their faces red and roughened from the cold wind, who received word yesterday morning that there would be no work that day. They had traveled long distances to reach work. Upon receiving the news all three slowly walked to a shelter from the cold—and started to converse. They might have discussed the weather, or that the union was trying to collect a dollar a week from the twelve they had not yet received, or they might have bemoaned their situation. They did none of the three. One of them opened his lips, purple from cold, and said gently:

"My children want to celebrate the President's 52d birthday, and I guess I'll go home and help my wife get things ready."

The other two looked at him for a moment, and then one said:

"We all will go home and thank God for Roosevelt."

Bureau Chiefs Are Received at White House

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Fifteen hundred guests stepped on each other's toes tonight at a White House reception for the bureau chiefs of the government services. But about a dozen attracted all the attention.

First, the tongues began to buzz when Alice Longworth walked in through the front door. (Only the elect and the elite come in that way.) Her gown was blue and simple. But her earrings were long and lavish; made of gold cloth. As the crowd circled around her she did her stunt for friends. The stunt consisted of wiggling her ears in a truly professional way, causing the huge golden eardrops to dangle and jump.

Then, down in the private elevator came Will Rogers, who had dined with the Roosevelts. He was wearing a dinner jacket, and most men wear "tails" to a White House reception. He spied Alice; waved to her. She stopped wiggling her ears; walked over to greet him. He bent low; kissed her hand. And maybe the gaping crowd didn't stand on tiptoe the better to view the tête-à-tête.

Brig. Gen. Hugh Johnson, the NRA chief, appeared in the line. His wife walked in front of him. In back of him was his secretary, Miss Frances [Robbie] Robinson. The three were together much of the evening and held court wherever they went.

Suddenly Mrs. Roosevelt left her place by the President's side. She was very pale, but smiling, as she went upstairs. A little flurry fluttered about the rooms, but the President went on shaking hands. In a few minutes Mrs. Roosevelt returned; explained that she had felt faint; knew that she must get a breath of air or she would faint. She remained in line the rest of the long evening and insisted that she was perfectly all right, just a little weary.

"Hey, lady," shouted the ticket taker, "you haven't given me your card."

The lady gasped. "O, I forget it!" she explained.

"Where's your ticket?" he repeated.

A fellow guest came up. "But that's Gov. Ross," he said. "Nellie Taylor Ross, the governor of the mint, you know."

Hard Realism Marks Chicago Artists' Show

Colorful, Diversified Exhibit Opens Art Institute.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Yesterday saw the opening of the 38th annual exhibition by artists of Chicago and vicinity in the east wing galleries of the Art institute. It is an interesting show, colorful and diversified and beautifully hung.

What is acclaimed as the "new all-American note" is much to the fore. Although some of us are apt to recognize it for the hard realism that the young Chicago modernists have had nailed to their mast-heads for several years, it attests to the virility of contemporary art and affords a contrast to painting of a more polished and thoughtful manner.

An unusual feature of the present exhibition is the preponderance of figure studies to be found. There are few landscapes, scarcely 15 per cent of the entire show would in numbers account for the landscapes, and there are fewer marines. A marked absence of nudes may be noted. And a further curious lack is obvious in the presence of only some six genuine portraits. Yet, in spite of this and that, the exhibit holds up well and offers much that is of interest. There is good sculpture as well as good painting to be found in it.

The prize awards were announced yesterday afternoon at the formal opening. The Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan Art institute medal and $750 was given to Peterpaul Ott for his portrait in sculpture of Harald Kreutzberg, the dancer. The Mr. and Mrs. Jule F. Brower prize of $300 went to Charles W. Dahlgreen for "Breakfast Table." The Joseph N. Eisendrath prize of $200 was given to Aaron Bohrod for "Coal Yards."

The Harry A. Frank prize of $150 went to the charming "Bouquet," by V. M. S. Hannell. The Clyde M. Carr prize of $100 went to the talented Laura Slobe for "Bleak Sabbath." The Chicago Woman's club prize of $100 was awarded to "Nude," by John Stephan. The Chicago Woman's Aid prize of $100 was given to Elise Donaldson, whose work has been featured repeatedly in the Increase Robinson gallery, for "Walgreen's," a clever skit.

The Municipal Art league prize of $100 went to Robert J. Wolff for his beautiful portrait bust "Marguerite." The Robert Rice Jenkins memorial prize of $50 was awarded to "Shipwreck in the Morning," by A. Kenneth Ness.

The exhibition will continue to March 18 and is well worth seeing.

CLUBS ATTEND

Two thousand club women filed through the second floor galleries of the Art institute yesterday afternoon for the opening reception of the exhibition.

Extra guards and ropes, specially placed, directed the throng from the top of the main staircase where a stringed orchestra played through each one of the galleries to the McKinlock court stair by which the guests departed. Members of the Municipal Art league, other art organizations, and women's clubs acted as hostesses.

In rooms adjoining the main gallery representatives of the Englewood Woman's club, the Woodlawn Woman's club, the Hyde Park Travel club, and the Chicago Woman's Ideal club presided at tea and coffee urns.

One of the tables decorated by the Englewood club was done with a lace runner, bronze candlesticks designed by Emory Seidel, and a large centerpiece of purple iris and yellow acacia. Mrs. Charles F. Weir and Mrs. Willis E. Tower of the Englewood club took turns pouring at this table with Mrs. Henry H. Gorman and Mrs. John B. Skinner of the Woodlawn club.

The other table used a Venetian lace cloth, green glass candlesticks, and a bowl of spring flowers for its decoration. Mrs. George H. Nippert and Mrs. Annie Heilmann of the Chicago Woman's Ideal club took the places of Mrs. Frank Powell and Mrs. John J. Travis of the Hyde Park Travel club at these tea and coffee urns.

Soviet Envoy's Wife Finds U. S. All Hospitality

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Mme. Troyanovsky, wife of the ambassador from the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, has been in America but two weeks. Everywhere she has found abundant hospitality; no hostility.

She said so this morning, from the depths of a dull red velvet chair in the home that is serving as headquarters until the embassy is made ready after 16 years of disuse. She said it with a rush of Russian consonants that not one of the 20 newspaper women gathered about her could understand; so Miss Jessica Smith interpreted.

It was Mme. Troyanovsky's first interview, but she didn't dodge a question.

Even when one of the reporters, with a hem and a haw, mentioned something about the "possible objection of—er, the Daughters of the American Revolution" to the recognition of Russia, Madame Troyanovsky smiled, replied that she hadn't yet met the D. A. R., but that she had "certainly found everybody friendly."

"What about American women?" came the inevitable question always shot at foreigners.

The Russian woman reminded the American women that she had been in this country only a fortnight, hadn't made any very complete observations, but she did "observe everywhere the same tendency to independence among your women as among our women in the new Russia."

Then we wanted to know what a visitor from a communist nation thought about a capitalistic nation.

Without mentioning names, Mme. Troyanovsky declared that she "believed" there certainly has been an improvement in conditions recently; but hastened to qualify that she had been here only two weeks and didn't want to make too direct a comment.

She likes Mrs. Roosevelt; she likes the White House—that part of it that she saw when she went there to tea; she thinks the pretty parts of Washington are much like the pretty parts of Paris, with the squares and parks. Her 14 year old son, Oleg, who is teaching mother English, has read a lot of American history. So the two of them go sightseeing.

For herself, she was a pleasant figure, in a plain, well cut gown. Yes, it was red; but a dark, dull red. Her pumps of brown suede were modish; and her stockings were just as sheer as yours. Her hair is black and wavy; her teeth are amazingly white. She is friendly.

What especially endeared her, too, was her honest answer to my question about her skill at cooking. She replied, not as a member of a communist nation where everybody has to do everything, but as a member of a capitalistic nation might easily reply, when she said:

"Of course I can cook, if I have to; but there are a lot of other things I'd rather do."

The other things? Well, as a girl in Moscow, Nina Nikolayevna [she gets that last name because her father was Nikolay Petrovich] was deeply interested in music. She studied piano; achieved considerable skill in it. And she loves languages. She speaks, in addition to her native Russian, French, Polish, German and Japanese.

Most revealing as an indication of her life as the wife of a leading communist was this little incident.

One of the newspaper women asked the interpreter to ask her "When will she start entertaining?"

Miss Smith looked puzzled. She said something to Mme. Troyanovsky. Then they both looked puzzled.

Lovely Blouses of Taffeta Are Seen in Shops

BY RHEA SEEGER.

They've had taffeta alips, crisp taffeta dresses, taffeta hats, scarfs, and frills, and now you can sink your cash in nice new taffeta blouses to wear with the popular suits and separate skirts. They are incredibly lovely things, made of flowered soft taffeta that will not crease and split . . . soft pastel flowered silks with charming old-fashioned blurred flower patterns in old blue, soft green, dusky pinks, and smoke gray.

The blouses are made exquisitely, with clever short sleeves that puff enchantingly just below the elbow, with interesting new necklines and groups of tucks to make them fit at strategic spots. They fit smoothly and snugly around the hips and are quite the most exciting new models you ever tried to find.

Blazing beauties of multicolored stripes in wrinkled crepe silks are other new blouses that have arrived. . . . Usually white or ivory backgrounds are streaked with good clear narrow bands of scarlet, yellow, deep blue, and green. Shallow square necklines and the new short length sleeves are featured.

Pastel tinted smooth crêpes come in fascinating shades of winter green, soft yellows and pinks, with two bows of the silk placed at the shallow V neckline. They are stunning new numbers that will knock your eyes out at first sight. Just what you want for a dark suit.

Chicago Dobbs Ferry Club to Elect Officers

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Chicago Dobbs Ferry club, about which one hears very little not only because it is a small organization but because it has not been very active for the last five years, will meet today at 12:30 o'clock at the residence of its president, Mrs. Solomon B. Smith [Barbara Neff], of 24 Scott street, for its annual luncheon and election of officers.

Today's meeting is going to be a short one with no speaker, for all the members will be watching their watches so as not to be late for the orchestra concert. The club was organized about 25 years ago when the National Society of Dobbs Ferry Alumnae was formed, and since then all the fashionable young ladies who have been "finished" at the school that was founded by Miss L. B. Masters in New York state have belonged to the club after they have "come out."

The national association supports a day nursery in New York, but the Chicago club hasn't done much by itself in a philanthropic or social way for some time. The last united work done by the Chicago Dobbs Ferry girls was sewing for the Visiting Nurses' association about five summers ago at the Lake Forest home of Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy. Miss Evelina Pierce, the present head mistress of the school, came out last year to talk to her "old" girls and in 1919 Miss Masters herself was here for a meeting on Armistice day.

Miss Margot Atkin preceded Mrs. Smith as president of the club and Mrs. Thomas C. Dennehy, who was Marion Warner when she went to Dobbs, was president before that. Of course Miss Atkin's younger sister, Adlaide, was a Dobbs girl and so were Mrs. Smith's and Mrs. Dennehy's younger sisters, Miss Louise Neff and Mrs. Edison Dick [Jane Warner].

Hales Will Give Dance Tonight.

Because they want to be up bright and early tomorrow morning to embark on a winter sports week-end, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Wickes Blatchford have warned their host and hostess tonight, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hale, that they cannot be out late at the dinner dance the Hales are having at their Winnetka home.

The dinner dance is to be a small one and more or less a welcome home to Mrs. Blatchford, who has been away most of the last year recuperating from an illness. While in New

COOKY RECIPES SUGGESTED FOR CHILDREN'S USE

Directions Simplified for Young Bakers.

Children will enjoy these wholesome cookies which are so easily made. The recipes are simple enough for youngsters to follow, and how they'll appreciate something which they've prepared by themselves!

Whole Wheat Macaroons.

1 egg
½ cup of sugar
¼ cup of dry whole wheat bread crumbs
½ teaspoon of vanilla

Beat egg thoroughly, add sugar and beat well. Add vanilla and crumbs. When thoroughly mixed, shape into small balls. Place them on a greased baking sheet and flatten the balls with a spoon or fork. Bake in a moderate oven fifteen to twenty minutes.

Date Sticks.

2 eggs
¼ teaspoon of salt
1¼ cups of powdered sugar
1 cup of nuts, chopped
1 cup of dates, stoned and chopped
1 cup of flour
1 teaspoon of baking powder
1 teaspoon of vanilla

Beat eggs, add salt and sugar, and beat together until light. Add nuts and dates, sift remaining ingredients together and add them. Mix well and bake on a greased sheet for 15 minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit). Cool slightly, cut in strips one inch wide and six inches long and roll in powdered sugar.

Oatmeal Kisses.

1 egg
2 tablespoons sugar
Speck of melted butter
Pinch of salt
½ cup rolled oats

Beat the egg white until stiff, add the sugar, the melted butter, salt, and rolled oats. Drop from spoon on a well greased baking sheet, leaving about three inches between cookies. Pat down into round cakes with the bottom of a tin cup or shape with a silver knife dipped in cold water. Bake in a moderate oven.

EXPERT ADVISES MORE VARIETY IN SCHOOL LUNCHES

Gives Suggestions for Sandwiches.

In order to avoid monotony in school lunches, Gladys Stillman of the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture recommends introducing a variety of breads and sandwich fillings. Walnuts and hickory nuts give a deliciously flavored bread, while Boston brown bread or gingerbread sliced thin with cream cheese, shredded apples, or butter would tempt the child who is not satisfied with ordinary lunches.

Peanut butter, which is one of the most popular fillings for sandwiches, is less sticky if combined with a little boiled dressing or orange marmalade. Finely chopped celery will improve a peanut butter sandwich. Peanut butter and grated raw carrot is another tasty combination.

Hard cooked eggs may be combined with sweet pickles and salad dressing, chopped celery, bits of chopped meat or bacon, lemon juice, or onion.

Cottage or cream cheese may be used in many combinations. Here are several: Cheese, chopped parsley, and salad dressing; cheese, peanuts, and salad dressing; cheese, dates, and salad dressing; cheese, chopped pickles, and celery.

Rolled sandwiches, although they may sound fussy, are quickly made and are a pleasant surprise when occasionally inserted in the lunch. Fresh bread rolls better than dry bread. Remove crusts and spread a thin slice of bread generously with butter. Roll and wrap immediately so that the sandwich will hold together and not dry out.

Girl Awarded $10,000 for Bus Crash Injury

A jury before Judge E. M. Mangan of Aurora, who is sitting in the Superior court, yesterday awarded damages of $10,000 to Miss Clara Hintze, 21 years old, 2814 North Maplewood avenue, in her suit for $10,000 against the Nevin Bus company. Miss Hintze charged that she was seriously injured on March 4, 1933, when one of the company's buses struck a traffic pillar at 45th street and South Park way.

DEVELOP EARLY WATERMELON AT U. OF MINNESOTA

After three years of tests a new watermelon, introduced into Minnesota from Russia, has been given the name "Northern Sweet" by the University of Minnesota.

The seed of the melon, which bears early, was presented in 1931 to the university's division of horticulture by H. G. Zavoral, extension live stock specialist, who purchased the parent melon in Moscow while serving as live stock adviser to the soviet government. Last year seed was distributed to gardeners in several states and many of the reports indicated that the melon was superior to other varieties.

The Northern Sweet is almost round. The rind is thin, making the variety of limited value for shipping. Ordinarily these melons mature in 70 or 75 days from seeding and weigh 8 to 10 pounds each.

NEW CONTAINERS INSURE PURITY OF FOOD SUPPLY

Grocery trade has shifted from the day of bulk purchases to the day of individual packages. Thirty years ago the ordinary grocery clerk had to weigh out flour and sugar, crackers and sauerkraut, pickled cucumbers, and pickled herring. Today almost everything comes in containers.

The same change is taking place in vegetable handling. New types of containers and new methods of handling perishable produce are coming forward rapidly. One of the simplest containers is a wrap of parchment paper as used for celery and asparagus. Another is a paper carton for two stalks of celery and still another is the ten pound bag for potatoes and onions.

NRA A&P FOOD STORES

Secretary Wallace undoubtedly has his own figures to sustain any statement made by him in his address at Madison

However, in regard to this particular Company, the return on actual cost of investment, employed in the business as shown by the Company's books and records, was much less than that quoted. Irrespective of what the return may have been during the past five-year period, (during which time were included the most prosperous years of recent history) it is a fact easily proven that at the present time this Company is operating at a loss. Such a situation cannot go on indefinitely without causing serious harm to all parties concerned.

It is the alleviation of this present situation to which our efforts are now being directed in the interest of producer, consumer and ourselves.

SHOPPERS FIND BARGAIN PRICES ON VEGETABLES

Butter and Potatoes a Bit Higher in Market.

BY PAUL POTTER.

The contrast of rising butter and potato prices with the falling prices of most fresh vegetables will be noted by week-end food shoppers in Chicago.

Butter has advanced 2 to 4 cents a pound in the last fortnight, following somewhat reduced production by dairy farmers, coupled with continued purchases of reserve supplies by the government for relief distribution. Cheese prices have advanced a cent or two a pound, while fresh milk and cream continue to be cheaper now than they have been in February for many years.

Potatoes Advance.

The rise of 2 to 3 cents a peck in white potatoes this week is another of several advances noted by housewives over a period of several weeks past. The rise is due largely to the fact that many farmers and potato wholesalers have held large stocks off the market, knowing that the crop last year was light and that new potatoes from the south would not arrive here in large quantities until April.

The present stocks of new potatoes in local stores are about twice as expensive as the old ones. Another unusual market situation is noted in the fact that Colorado's red McClures are selling in some stores for more than the Idaho bakers.

Banana Prices Down.

The first substantial break in banana prices thus far this winter is to be noted in some of the stores.

Those who have noticed that apple prices are higher this winter than they were a year ago will find the answer in a changed market condition. The apple crop was rather short last season in most heavy producing areas, due to drouth. Coupled with this has been the exportation of several million bushels to such nations as England and France provided in a trade agreement authorized by the government admitting larger quotas of spirituous liquors to the United States.

Bargains in Vegetables.

Good news awaits the bargain hunter when looking over the fresh vegetable counters, however. Chicago is learning to eat the curly leafed spinach, since it is so much cheaper now than the more popular broad leafed variety. Prices of both have declined as a result of this competition among the growers.

Head lettuce, fresh strawberries, green cabbage, green beans, celery, carrots and broccoli are somewhat cheaper now than two weeks ago, due to larger shipments from the west coast and gulf states. Some of the rare choices include South American red plums, white Elmiria grapes in sawdust and kegs from California, hothouse asparagus and tomatoes, endive and escarole. Iced parsley is available in most stores also.

Attractive Meat Prices.

In the meat markets chicken, pot and rib roasts of beef, pork roasts and some of the less popular cuts of lamb are most attractively priced. Nearly all of the beef and pork cuts are cheaper than lamb, and still very low in price in spite of some advance in wholesale costs that may be reflected in increased retail prices soon.

Most of the staple articles, such as sugar, salt, spices, cereals, flour, lard and salad dressings continue at unchanged prices.

MARSHMALLOWS ADD VARIETY TO SEVERAL FOODS

With a package of marshmallows at hand one can vary a great number of common foods. Sweet potatoes, cooked until tender and mashed, may be placed in a shallow baking dish, topped with marshmallows, and placed in the oven until the marshmallows melt and form a meringue top.

Another trick is this:

Add quartered marshmallows to chocolate cornstarch pudding while it is still warm, pour into molds and chill. Or bake gingerbread in several shallow layer pans. While the gingerbread is still hot spread with halved marshmallows and press the layers together. The heat of the gingerbread will soften the marshmallows to give a delicious filling.

Baked apples are improved by placing marshmallows over the hole in the tops of the apples after they are baked. Let stand in a warm oven until the marshmallows become fluffy.

FROZEN PRUNE CREAM.

15 marshmallows
1 cup prune juice
1 cup strained prune pulp
Few grains of salt
1 cup whipping cream.

Melt the marshmallows in the prune juice over hot water. Chill until slightly thickened, add salt, prune pulp and whipped cream. Freeze in the tray of an automatic refrigerator about six hours.

CHILD'S HEALTH MAY HINGE ON FAMILY INCOME

Improves with Wealth, Experiment Shows.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Several years ago an interesting experiment was started. Some public health people and a life insurance company set out to find, in a specially selected and typical section of one of our big cities, just how much health they could buy for the inhabitants of this section. That sounds funny, doesn't it? But it isn't, really.

With the use of a certain amount of money, appropriated for the experiment, which was used for public health nursing, house to house canvas for diseases, educational work, clinics, and so forth, they set out to find out whether health could be improved above the average for that city and mortality cut down below the average.

Well, of course it could. You and I know that the poorer people are and the more they are the victims of poverty the greater the sickness and mortality rate. But these experimenters wanted to find out something in terms of actual figures. Suppose, they said, you could buy health, how much could you buy for such and such a figure per community? And if you spent such and such a per cent more what would the result be in actual figures?

We know that with money, and armed with knowledge, we can actually buy greater health for our children. What was denied to Marie Antoinette's beloved and doomed young son, "knowledge of the cure for rickets," is now the birthright of our humblest children.

Let's take just one "statistic" alone. This group has been concentrating on an anti-diphtheria campaign by the use of anti-serum. This campaign started in 1929. Here are the figures:

	Cases.	Deaths.
1928 [before anti-diphtheria campaign started	405	28
1929 [year anti-diphtheria campaign started]	267	9
1930 campaign continued	94	0
1933 [first ten months]	53	0
20 months ending November, 1933	0	0

The health commissioner said: "If we are able to have every child immunized against diphtheria immediately upon reaching his ninth month it will not be long ere diphtheria will be classed as one of the rare diseases."

TRY A LIVER VEGETABLE CASSEROLE

Truly a treasure chest of food value is this liver and vegetable casserole, a flavorsome meal in one dish for wintry dinners:

1 pound liver
1½ tablespoons fat
1 cup stock or water
1 cup tomato juice
1½ tablespoons flour
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 small turnip, cubed
2 carrots, sliced
1 onion, sliced
⅛ bay leaf
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup celery, cubed

Cut the liver into two-inch squares, roll in flour, salt and pepper, and brown in bacon fat. Remove from fat, add vegetables, and brown slightly. Combine liver, vegetables, and seasonings. Pour into casserole, cover, and bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees Fahrenheit] for one and a half to two hours. Uncover during the last half hour of cooking. If desired, the liquid in the casserole may be thickened for gravy.

A suggested menu is: Liver and vegetable casserole, cabbage and cranberry salad, whole wheat bread and butter, maple blanc mange, and milk for children.

HUMANE SOCIETY BENEFITS 3,906 CHILDREN IN YEAR

The Illinois Humane society during 1933 investigated the cases of 4,341 children who were victims of parental cruelty or neglect and benefited 3,906 of them, according to the report made yesterday by George A. H. Scott, secretary, at the society's 65th annual meeting at 1145 South Wabash avenue.

There were 1,655 complaints relating to children in 1933 as against 1,727 in 1932, Mr. Scott reported. The backgrounds in these cases included non-support, desertion, domestic quarreling, drunkenness, unemployment, religious differences, relatives, neighbors, gambling, and jealousy.

The animal world furnished considerable work for the society, Mr. Scott stated. The society investigated 6,361 cases involving cruelty to animals, and prosecuted fifteen persons for cruelty. It was necessary to destroy 1,078 animals. The society found that there were 4,517 horse drawn vehicles in Chicago last year as compared to 5,525 in 1932. There were 298 two-horse wagons, and one three-horse dray but no four-horse drays.

Ocean Liner Strikes Whale and Is Forced to Detour

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 1.—(AP)—The Dollar liner President Taft, bound from San Francisco to New York, struck a giant whale early today 1,207 miles northwest of Balboa. "The impact was terrific," the liner's wireless operator messaged, "I thought we'd hit a rock. The boat trembled violently and the passengers all ran out on deck." He said the whale appeared stunned after the shock and remained on the surface, forcing the President Taft to reverse and detour around it.

TRY WHIPPED CREAM WAFFLES AT BRIDGE LUNCHEON—A TREAT

Whipped Cream Waffles.

1 cup whipping cream.
2-3 cup flour.
2 eggs, separated.
4 tablespoons melted butter.
½ teaspoon salt.

Whip the cream and add the beaten egg yolks, sifted flour, and melted butter. Sprinkle the salt over the egg whites and beat them until stiff. Fold into the first mixture and bake in a preheated waffle iron. Serve with shaved maple sugar and butter.

Mellow Coffee!

New process rids coffee of 97% caffeine . . . releases marvelous hidden flavor

You'll marvel at such flavor . . . we did ourselves! Kellogg chemists were working to free coffee from caffeine, yet retain all its delicate flavor.

And what happened? This coffee had that long-sought quality . . . mellowness! A new smoothness of flavor, utterly delicious.

The new process cost a million dollars . . . a million well spent! For here is a smooth, rich, full-bodied coffee freed from caffeine . . . freed from bitterness!

Reason? Caffeine is bitter . . . and there are five grams to every pound of coffee. Remove caffeine . . . and bitterness goes! Only the pure flavor of fine coffee remains.

Ever thought you'd try Kaffee-Hag Coffee for your health's sake? Then do. Your heart, digestion and nerves will say, "Thank you." Your taste will add, "That's marvelous coffee."

Blended from finest Brazilian and Colombian coffees. Ground or in the bean. Vacuum packed. Satisfaction guaranteed or money returned. At your grocer's, or send 15c for trial can. Kellogg Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

This shows, actual size, the amount of caffeine extracted from one pound of coffee by the new Kaffee-Hag process. It is a white crystalline drug . . . very bitter to the taste.

(Pronounced Kaffee-HAIG)

CHICAGO COFFEE LOVERS VOTE FOR NEW MELLOW FLAVOR

Perfection of the new mellow-flavored Kaffee-Hag, the coffee free from health-disturbing caffeine, is winning wide-spread and unsolicited praise from people forced to abstain from regular coffee. From housewives, from business men, from town after town, letters like these are pouring in:

"Kaffee-Hag is the 'last word'. After an ailment last year I went to my doctor, who told me to use Kaffee-Hag Coffee and discontinue all other coffees. I enjoyed it, but hesitated to serve it to guests, 'til one night I had no other coffee. That night four out of six guests asked for a second cup. Now we wouldn't think of serving any coffee but Kaffee-Hag to either our guests or ourselves." That's the verdict of Mrs. V. Hanson, 4301 W. Monroe St., Chicago, Illinois.

Mrs. W. Kahl of 2801 South Kildare Ave., Chicago, is a constant user. "I want you to know how satisfied I am with Kaffee-Hag Coffee. It has a wonderful flavor—and the best part is I can drink as many cups as I desire, with no after-effects. I also tried a few other brands of coffee with the caffeine removed, but never liked any half so well as Kaffee-Hag. I have recommended it to all my friends. They also think it's great. It's Kaffee-Hag for me from now on."

Mrs. Lena Mielenz of 711 N. Cicero Ave., Chicago, Illinois, writes, "Kaffee-Hag tastes so good. I drink it every day and have a cup just before I go to bed, and sleep well. I also notice I'm not so nervous and my blood pressure is more normal."

"I have noticed the absence of heart palpitation when I drink Kaffee-Hag Coffee," writes Mrs. Jacob M. Fine, 506 Roscoe Street, Chicago. "I used to feel it regularly with other coffee. Now I've used nothing but Kaffee-Hag Coffee for several years."

Praise Comes from Many Cities.

"My family says, 'Mother, the more we drink Kaffee-Hag Coffee, the better it is,'" writes Mrs. Cecelia Bukowski, 960 Garfield Avenue, Detroit, Michigan. "Coffee for breakfast always made me nervous, but now I drink one or two cups of Kaffee-Hag Coffee and my nerves don't bother me at all. It's a wonderful coffee for our family."

Mrs. C. Wilmer Wiley of 2107 Hampstead Road, Cleveland Heights, Ohio, writes: "When I drink Kaffee-Hag Coffee I have no acidity at night as I had with our other coffee. We were out of Kaffee-Hag for dinner last night, so we used another brand. It was the same old story of acid stomach at bedtime. From now on we plan to use Kaffee-Hag exclusively."

THE WILD BIRD

By OWEN JOHNSON

SYNOPSIS.

Barbara Browne, aged 22, is completely dominated by an adoring though jealous father, who is against every modern idea and improvement. Lynwood, their home, is in the prim and proper village of Oxbridge, a place of intellectual sanctity. Barbara seems predestined to join the ranks of the village spinsters. She contemplates rebellion. Gregory Rance, popular novelist, is visiting her cousin, Laurie Chiswick. They are mutually attracted. Barbara overhears Rance asking Laurie about her. He says she is the sort of girl he'd want to marry. Laurie leaves and Barbara makes her presence known to Rance. She asks him to marry her. But when she learns he is divorced, she tells him it is hopeless and leaves him. Gregory feels humiliated. The Chiswicks give a party to announce the engagement of Laurie's sister. Barbara and Gregory meet. She is torn between her love for Gregory and fear of hurting her father.

INSTLLMENT XVII.

HOPELESS LOVE.

When the music began again, Rance could not longer contain himself. Barbara was dancing with a young rellow he had seen with her before, a young man of the type he particularly detested, smooth and feminine, the opposite of all he was, who danced gracefully, with facile, gliding steps. He set his teeth and approaching abruptly, cut in. The young man turned, impatiently frowning, saw who it was and concealed his vexation.

"Insufferable, prancing little ass," he thought as he drew Barbara to him. "I could break him over my knee! And she was enjoying it!"

"That wasn't very generous of me," he said out loud.

"What?"

She said in a low voice, "Gregory, why should we hurt each other?"

"Then you know how I feel." He broke off abruptly. "Look here, this can't end this way. I've got to talk to you. Come."

"Don't dance with anyone else tonight," he blurted out.

"But ——"

"Don't you understand. Make any excuse—say anything. Damn all these people. Let's cut out. Walk home with me."

"Gregory, I can't."

They found a stone bench, hidden from the house at the end of the path, where the lawn fell abruptly to the river shimmering through the willows below.

"Are you real?" he blurted out. "Were the things you said to me real or were you just playing with a situation? That's what I want to know."

She started to speak and stopped.

"Then the only thing that was real was your desire to escape! That was real, all the rest, the picture you drew for me, was just an imaginary, an impossible Barbara."

"I don't blame you for thinking so," she said abruptly.

"And you think that's all there is to it," he continued, ruthlessly. "Well,

Approaching abruptly, he cut in—— it isn't. Look here. You made the situation, you can't escape it now. You can't just slip away. Do you hear what I'm saying?"

"Yes."

"What kind of woman are you? A pale shrinking Puritan, or the glorious, throbbing woman you were in my arms?"

"O, Gregory, that is too cruel!"

"Cruel! Who is cruel? What right had you to say what you did, if you hadn't the courage to go on. You either love or you don't love. And if you love, nothing can stop you. You go out, you cleave to your man—you break through everything!"

"How you hate me!" she cried, shrinking away.

"Hate you! No! I love you!" he blurted out, suddenly enlightened. She gave a cry.

"Not that—I didn't want you to say that!"

"You did," he said sternly. "Barbara, you say one thing but you mean another. You don't really want me to believe you. You want me to ride rough shod over everything that frightens you! Isn't that true?"

"No, that's not true!"

"But what in God's name then, is going to keep us apart?"

"If I were only free!"

"Free—you're not free?"

"My father!"

"Well, what? Let's get at it!"

She sat up striving to collect her disordered thoughts, to make her meaning clear, that he might not misjudge her.

"Gregory—Gregory, dear, try to understand me. Before I knew—— "

"That I was divorced. Well go on—what of it?"

"I thought, I hoped, no, I knew I could face my father, that I had the courage to win out. Because there was no real reason, real objection he could fall back on. Wait. Please. I want you to understand all I've had to struggle against. You don't know my father. He's a brilliant, lovable, lonely man, kind, generous, but on one point——"

"He doesn't want you to marry anyone. He's a damned, selfish old tyrant. He wants to absorb you completely. Say it."

"Yes. I'm afraid so. On this point, Gregory, he isn't sane. It's dreadful to say it, but it's the truth. And now? To tell him that I'm in love with a divorced man, to even pronounce the word 'divorce'!" She shuddered. "What scenes! What awful things he would say of you! Gregory, it's so desperately hopeless."

His anger vanished instantly, struck by her last words.

"Wait, let me get this straight. Then that's what you meant by hopeless. It wasn't you who were shrinking from me."

"I from you!" She laughed hysterically. "O, my dear!"

"Well then, to hell with all the rest," he said, taking her hand. "What utter, ridiculous nonsense! Let him rage. He can't hurt us. We're right and he's wrong."

"Gregory, I'm trying to warn you," she cried, as she drew away. "Don't take my hand. Let me keep my head. There are other sides to me, weak sides if you will, that in the end, at the final test——" she broke off, shrinking from the conclusion. "O, I don't know. Would I? Could I? I know so well what's ahead! He'd turn me out of the house. It would kill him!"

"Well, say I'm warned," he cut in. "What's that—and it isn't going to make the slightest difference. Now listen. I love you. I need you, and I'm going to have you. No, listen. Nothing is going to stop me!"

"O, you won't understand, and I so desperately don't want to hurt you," she cried in a last resistance.

"Too late."

"Gregory, you must listen to me!"

"Listen to you? I ought to take you and shake you! Who was it told me she was afraid that she would have nothing to suffer for? Yet you're afraid even to fight for your happiness."

"I'm not—not for myself."

"Well, what have you got to do with it, anyhow?" he said, laughing, because now that her reasons were clear, he was confident of his power over her. "Just sit back and wait. Leave the rest to me."

"But——"

"Where have you been locked up all these years? Parents don't own their children any more. You're a human being, Barbara. Frightened by an old bogey like divorce? Barbara, Barbara, what am I to believe? Are you a child or a woman?"

His hand closed over hers. All her resistance ran out.

CARROTS VARY YOUR MENU AND BUILD HEALTH

Vitamins in Vegetable Aid to Complexion.

BY MABEL BRYANT.

Eat crusts of bread and you will have a sweet voice. Eat carrots and you will have a clear complexion. Was there ever a child who wasn't coaxed by her mother or granny with those two maxims into eating carrots with her meals?

The virtue of this little orange-red vegetable hasn't lost any of it's value as time has gone on. Quite the contrary, for the carrot is served in so many appetizing ways that one can hardly ignore its place on the menu.

Procurable All Seasons.

There was a time when one's choice in the winter was confined only to large carrots that had been shorn of their graceful, green foliage before being shipped to market. Now we may purchase these long, tapering carrots ["tendersweet" by name of variety] as easily in winter as in midsummer. The farmer keeps the ugly, large carrots with which to feed his stock, for they, too, must have their vitamins. When milk has a rich, butter yellow tint you may be sure "Bossy" had carrots served to her.

There are many ways of serving carrots from "in the raw" to a delicious dessert. In fact, scientists claim that cooking tends to destroy much of the vitamin value in many foods, of which carrots head the list.

Can you imagine a delicious soup or lamb stew without the inclusion of some carrots? Or a few gratings of raw carrots added to cold slaw increases its attractiveness as well as increasing the supply of vitamins, of which a pound doesn't contain over a hundred calories. [This bit of information for those who watch their weight.]

Here's a Surprise Dish.

Use tender lettuce leaves for the foundation. Upon these place a large slice of well chilled pineapple. On the slice of pineapple place half a Bartlett pear, also chilled, with hollow side up. Fill the cavity with grated carrot. The amount of carrot to use for servings is—one cup of grated carrots mixed with two tablespoons of mayonnaise, one tablespoon of finely chopped chives and pinch of salt. After adding this to pear, pour over the top two tablespoonsful of chilled French dressing deepiy colored with paprika. Thin wafers or toasted crackers, a sweet and some kind of beverage would be all one could wish for with this kind of salad.

How about putting on the "ritz" some time when guests are invited to dinner and surprise them with a carrot ring? This is a brand new way of serving our old friend, the carrot. A carrot ring is so attractive when brought to the table that one loaths to cut into it. For this tasty, "easy on the eyes" entrée use the following recipe.

Here's How.

Wash, scrape and grate enough carrots to make three cups full. Beat two eggs until light, add 1 cup of milk, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon sugar, a dash or two of pepper, ½ cup of coarsely chopped almonds and the carrots. Melt two tablespoons of butter in ring mold which has been allowed to get warm. Let butter run around mold to grease thoroughly and pour extra butter into the mixture. Fill the mold and set it in a pan of water which comes about half way up to side of mold bake in a slow oven until set. This takes about a half or three-fourths of an hour. Test its firmness with blade of a knife. When no batter adheres to knife blade, the ring is done. Turn out on a attractive dish and fill center with fresh green peas buttered and seasoned to taste.

FINE VEGETABLE SALAD DOES AS PRINCIPAL DISH

A good hearty vegetable salad as main dish for lunch or supper will appeal to even the hungriest man, especially if he stops to think of all the vitamins he receives. Here is such a salad:

VEGETABLE SALAD.

2 cups canned string beans.
2 cups canned peas.
2 to 3 hard cooked eggs.
Lettuce or cabbage leaves.
2 cups diced celery.
2 cups diced cooked carrots.
4 to 6 slices crisp bacon.
Salad dressing.

Combine the ingredients with the salad dressing and blend them well. Serve the mixture on cabbage or lettuce leaves.

The rest of the luncheon or supper menu might consist of whole wheat muffins, apple gingerbread cobbler, or hot gingerbread with whipped cream, and milk.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

A flour sifter that has two sieves accomplishes the double sifting required by most recipes all in one motion directly into the mixing bowl.

A FEAST OF FISH FLAVOR UNKNOWN TO MOST PEOPLE

MARY: "Why that's the taste you get when you cook fish right out of the water."

JANE: "I suppose we landlubbers don't know anything about the fresh-caught taste of fish."

MARY: "We certainly don't. You can't tell how fish is going to taste until you buy it, unless you know how old it is. Even your dealer doesn't know that."

JANE: "And old fish has little or no taste."

MARY: "That's it. But I found out that if I bought 40-Fathom Fish it always had that fresh-caught, deep-sea flavor that you get at the seashore. For 40-Fathom Fish fairly fly from deep-sea nets to your dealer."

Ask your dealer for 40-Fathom Fish by name. If fish in no wrapper or fish in some other wrapper is offered you as 40-Fathom Fish, don't buy it, for it is not 40-Fathom Fish. Get 40-Fathom Fish in the 40-Fathom wrapper with the name and old fisherman on the wrapper, or don't take it.

A Few of the Many Ways of Serving Cheese Are Told

Recommendations for the use of cheese, which is to be distributed to families on the relief rolls are made by Purdue university. These recipes are designed for the whole milk plain American cheese which will be processed and put up in half pound packages.

Cheese is a rich protein food—rich in fat, calcium, phosphorus and vitamin A. Since it is a concentrated food, it should be served at meals with fruits and vegetables. Cheese is a valuable addition to many oven dishes, to cream sauces and to various soups. It is excellent in onion soup, scalloped tomatoes, scalloped eggs and mixed vegetable casserole dishes. The suggested recipes are:

SCALLOPED CABBAGE, SPAGHETTI AND CHEESE.

1½ cups spaghetti broken in small pieces
3 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons butter or other fat
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
½ pound American cheese
1 quart shredded cabbage
1 cup buttered bread crumbs

Cook the spaghetti in boiling salted water for 30 minutes and drain. Make a sauce of flour, fat, milk and salt. Shave up the cheese, add to the hot sauce, and stir until melted. Put the cabbage, spaghetti, and sauce in a buttered baking dish in layers and cover the top with the buttered bread crumbs. Bake 20 to 30 minutes in a moderate oven.

SCALLOPED CHEESE.

Tear slices of bread into small pieces. Mix them with a small amount of melted butter. Spread a layer in the bottom of baking dish. Cover with a generous amount of American cheese cut into small pieces. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Add another layer of buttered crumbs over this. Pour in a mixture of egg and milk [allowing 2 eggs for each 1½ cup of milk] enough to almost cover crumbs. Set in pan of boiling water and bake slowly until firm.

CHEESE CROQUETTES.

1 cup thick white sauce
½ lb. American cheese
Salt and Pepper
2 cups cold boiled rice
1 egg
2 tablespoons milk
Lard

Make white sauce by melting 3 tablespoons butter and mixing with it 4 tablespoons flour, add ½ pint milk and cook over boiling water until thickened. Add cheese which has been cut into small pieces. Let stand for a few minutes until cheese is melted then beat until smooth. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Mix with rice. Cool. Form into rolls, making about six. Roll in fine cracker crumbs, then in the egg which has been beaten slightly and mixed with 2 tablespoonsfuls milk, then again in the crumbs. Fry in hot lard deep enough to cover the croquettes. Serve at once. If desired, additional white sauce made with less flour can be served over the croquettes.

COLLEGE FINDS NEW SQUASH IS RICH IN VITAMINS

The Buttercup squash, a variety developed at the North Dakota Agricultural college experiment station, has been found to be one of the best North Dakota adapted varieties in vitamins—those important food elements which means so much to health. Vitamin tests conducted at the college show the Buttercup squash to be an excellent source of vitamin A and a moderately good source of vitamins B and G.

The investigations were begun with the idea of determining the best variety of squash from the nutrition standpoint for use in North Dakota where stored winter vegetables are a part of the family diet during winter.

FOOD-WISE COOK PUTS UP JELLY IN WINTER TIME

Expensive Materials Are Not Necessary.

Economical tips for week-end food shoppers—a weekly radio feature—will be presented today by Mary Meade over station W-G-N. Tune in at 2 o'clock for Miss Meade's market chat.

BY MARY MEADE.

Tell your nearest neighbor that you spent the last gray afternoon making jams and jellies for next summer, when it will be too hot to fume in the kitchen, and she'll gaze at you with consternation and dismay. It's quite evident that your brain is weakening, she'll decide. But hold up your end of it, for you're right!

Deeper and deeper this idea is sinking in modern food-wise minds these days[that we don't have to stew ourselves all summer making spreads and relishes to tide over the winter. Let the winter take care of itself, if not altogether, at least by putting up its share of deliciousness to take effect while we fan and fume next summer.

Which doesn't mean that luxuries need be bought to uphold the fruit end of it. Canned, dried, and citrous fruits, also fruit juices canned or purchased, are alluringly low this time of year when numbers of their fresh fruit brothers are missing from the market. Canned fruit adapts itself admirably when made into jams, and when the solids are gone the juices become jelly with the aid of commercial pectins which take the place of the jellifying pectins we cannot coax from the ripe, cooked fruits. Citrous fruits, singly or romping together, can be turned into piquant jellies and marmalades. And as proof I give you:

ORANGE, GRAPEFRUIT, AND LEMON MARMALADE.

3 cups prepared citrous fruits
6 cups sugar
½ bottle fruit pectin

You will need an orange, a grapefruit, and a lemon—one of each. Peel them first, drawing the skins off in quarters. Lay these skins flat on a board and trim out about one-half of the white membrane. Now, with a sharp paring knife cut the rinds lengthwise into narrow strips, one-sixteenth inch or less. To this add 1¼ cups of water and one-quarter teaspoon soda. Simmer for ten minutes, while frequently stirring. Meanwhile peel off the membrane sheath around each section of fruit, leaving only the pulp still in shape. Add the pulp and juice to the cooked rind and cook very slowly for ten minutes, covered. Now measure the sugar and cooked citrous pulp in the proportions given above. In measuring flood each cup with juice or, if necessary, with water. Bring it all to a boil and boil very gently for five minutes. At this moment remove the kettle from the heat and stir in the fruit pectin from the bottle. Now for five minutes stir and skim the mixture by turns to keep any of the fruit pieces from floating in the jars. Pour at once into clean hot glasses. Seal with melted paraffin. This will supply your shelves from these simple ingredients with eight glasses of tangy spread for hot buttered biscuits.

Next in line for a showing stands:

DRIED FIG JAM.

3 cups prepared fruit
5 cups sugar
1 bottle fruit pectin

Weigh out three-quarters pound of stemmed stewing figs. Add the juice of a lemon and two cups of water. Let this stand covered over night. In the morning drain the fruit, run it through a food chopper, and return it to its juice. At this point have the sugar measured into a large kettle and measure in, after it, the three cups of prepared fruit, adding water to the last cup if necessary. Stir well and bring to a hard boil, stirring constantly. Continue stirring and cooking for one minute, then take the kettle from the heat and stir in the bottle of liquid pectin. Skim the jam and pour it at once into clean hot jelly glasses. Seal with melted paraffin, cool, and store. You should prepare nine glasses for the whole batch.

Which leaves us one other winter spread of note. This is a jelly made from canned fruit sirup. It reads thus:

JELLY FROM CANNED FRUIT SIRUP.

2 cups canned fruit sirup
4 cups sugar
½ bottle fruit pectin

Drain off the sirup carefully from the fruit and, if it seems to lack flavor or tartness, add the juice of a lemon. Combine the sugar and juice in a saucepan and bring to a full boil, stirring carefully. As soon as it boils briskly all over pour in the fruit pectin, stirring diligently, and bring it back again to a full galloping boil. Now take from the fire, skim, and pour at once into clean hot glasses. Seal with hot paraffin and you own six brand new glasses of winter made jelly which will do much to ease the lady when summer comes.

HERE IS RECIPE FOR BEET SOUP, CALLED BORSCH

Borsch, which translated into English means beet soup, was served at a banquet given for Maxim Lityinoff, commissioner of foreign affairs of soviet Russia, during his stay in the United States. It is made in this way:

BORSCH.

½ cup raw carrots, cut fine.
1 cup onion, cut fine.

Boil all together in a small amount of water for 20 minutes. Drain and add:

1 tablespoon butter.
2 cups beef stock.
1 cup tomato.
1 cup finely shredded cabbage.
Salt and pepper.

Boil all together 15 minutes. After the soup is placed in the bowls for serving add one tablespoon thick sour cream as a garnish.

Here's a Way to Make Tasty Cheese Sandwich

Household Hints

When peeling a large number of apples, drop them into slightly salted water to prevent darkening.

A small amount of lemon juice added to fish salads will improve the flavor.

Plenty of sleep, or about eight hours a night, helps to build resistance to colds.

OVEN-BAKING

OVEN-BAKING in slow, dry heat cooks Heinz beans thoroughly, makes them tender, mealy and easy to digest. Oven-baked beans are perfectly good for everyone—man, woman and child . . . and men, women and children all "go" for them! Everybody likes oven-baked beans, because they're so mealy and munchy and cram-full of good flavor. . . It is very nice that the kind of beans that are fun to eat are also best to eat. . . Remember the name—

HEINZ

—the beans that are really OVEN-BAKED!

HEINZ TOMATO KETCHUP

SPECIAL OFFER SEE FOOT OF PAGE

ALONG with the salt and pepper put Heinz Ketchup on the table. The salt and pepper will be taken for granted. The Ketchup will be welcomed and enjoyed. (More people, the world over, use and love Heinz Ketchup than any other sauce that's made!)

Put it on the table regularly. Because, like salt and pepper, different people like it with different foods. Examples: The Chinese pour it on rice. In India they relish it with curried meats. And we know a man in Delaware who stirs it into his clam chowder . . . you never can tell.

Now the reasons most everybody just loves our Ketchup are two:

First. We are thoroughgoing about our tomatoes. We cross-breed prize seeds to get tomatoes still more luscious, still more wholesome. We rear the plants in our own greenhouses, then transplant them to fields, where we vigilantly oversee the care of the ripening tomatoes.

Second. We are thoroughgoing about our spices. We journey round the world for the rarest spices and make sure, first hand, that they are pure and fine.

These things make Heinz Ketchup so good, so delicious, so thrilling to taste that all around the world people love it best. Put it on the table. You can be pretty sure it will be reached for, poured and enjoyed.

Concoct Rare Dishes With Help of Cooked Spaghetti

By Josephine Gibson

Here Miss Gibson's radio talks on foods, N B C, Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning.

A long-standing favorite in famous metropolitan restaurants! A thrilling dish from south of the Rio Grande! Here are quick, inexpensive recipes for these unusual foods. So many meals to be prepared in a hurry and so many occasions when "something different" is in order. Truly, Heinz Cooked Spaghetti is a kitchen boon, for it is delicious, easy to fix, and so versatile. Keep these recipes for future use.

SPAGHETTI CARUSO: —Cook six chicken livers in boiling salted water until tender. In a frying pan with two tablespoons butter, cook one-half pound sliced fresh mushrooms until delicately brown. Add sliced chicken livers and season with salt, pepper, and one teaspoon Heinz Worcestershire Sauce. Add one large tin of Heinz Cooked Spaghetti and stir gently until thoroughly heated. Heap on hot platter and serve. This recipe serves six.

MEXICAN SPAGHETTI: —Brown one cupful diced cooked ham, one medium green pepper and one medium onion in ham fat or butter. Add one large tin Heinz Cooked Spaghetti, and cook slowly for about 15 minutes serve with garnish of Heinz Genuine Dill Pickle slices. This recipe serves six.

Heinz prepares strained foods for babies to save you the trouble. Yes. But more than that! These eight Heinz foods, because of the Heinz method, have more vitamins than ordinary home-prepared baby foods.

Heinz keeps the fresh fruits and vegetables in air-tight vessels all through the cooking process, keeping in them all the juices, and saving valuable minerals and vitamins.

Home Manicure Is Inexpensive and Easy to Do

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A couple of years ago, or during the era when everybody had money, the weekly manicure was just one of those things that seemed imperative. Enforced economies haven't appeared to dim the nails, however. The habit, so well fixed, was not abandoned because the price of the professional manicurist was prohibitive. Not with our bright young women, at least.

Of course, it is still nice if you can wangle a weekly or semi-monthly professional treatment out of the weekly stipend. But, if not, the home treatment is not hard to master, with the clever and inexpensive manicure kits available.

First, there is the good, clean washing of hands in warm, soapy water and the scrubbing of the nails with a good brush.

Then comes the shaping of the nails, this to be considered in relation to the hands. If fingers are short and plump, let's have a slightly rounded nail tip. Too sharp a point won't do. If your fingers are long and slender, then you may go in for long and slender tips. Use your emery board for the nail shaping. It's better than the steel file. The coarse side of the emery board is used for shaping, the fine side for beveling. If you don't want a run in your stockings be sure to smooth off the rough nail edges with the beveling process. Now, dip your orange stick, with a fresh bit of cotton wound around it, in a cuticle remover and work gently around the cuticle and under the nail tip to bleach it. Dry this with a fresh bit of cotton and push the cuticle back to reveal the half moon. Now rinse the hands in clear water, brushing the nails again with the nail brush. Dry the hands and press the cuticle back again. Try not to cut the cuticle.

Then come the polish applications. Be sure the nail is dry and free from grease. Begin at outer edge of the moon, apply with even strokes, and wipe the polish off the nail tip. A touch of nail white, a dab of hand cream, and you are ready for any game that comes along.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Wandering Eyes.

"Dear Miss Blake: When I go out with the boy I love, he just can't keep his eyes off the girls who pass by. He says he can't get rid of the habit. Please advise." SHERRY."

Why worry about the wandering eyes? You have his company's haven't you?

Choose Interested One.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a fellow who lives upstate. He says he cares, but seldom writes. There is another fellow interested in me. I like him. What'll I do? BOOP."

I'd advise concentrating on the one who showed real interest, Boop.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

If you've had any notion that the French had a corner on the perfume market so far as knowingness is concerned you should have been with us on a fascinating expedition through the perfume section of one of our department stores yesterday. A kind gentleman acting as guide, we sniffed at scents from almost every corner of the globe . . . scents that were soothing, exciting, teasing, or just generally thrilling, until we were almost delirious.

What to choose of perfumes at the moment? Well, if you want to play up your femininity, as the beauty wise girls seem to be doing at the moment, you'll ease up on the blatantly exotic. Floral scents, either sweetly straight or subtly blended, are your dish. You can get blends bearing BIG names or you can have them blended for you—a sniff of jasmin, say, with a dash of blue geranium and a drop or two of violet to top it off. Just step up to the bar and have a blend of anything you'd like. Once you choose that perfume is yours, practically copyrighted.

Us, we're of simple tastes. As we said, we sniffed and sniffed, flitting from one thrilling bottle to another. And know what? At the end we felt that we wanted more than anything in the world a big, big bottle of one of those fresh garden-after-a-rain odors that came, not from France, not from Russia but from England. As befits a staid English company, perfumer to H. M. the King, the bottles are a bit on the unromantic side as perfume bottles go—but, O, those lovely, lovely sniffs of violet, of honeysuckle, of blue geranium!

Tastes in perfumes are probably the hardest tastes in the world to analyze. You might want to be a thrilling sort of person, with a thrilling sort of scent associated with your particular personality. There are such in abundance—sniff and see. Or you might choose to be not electric, but restful. There are fragrances that are associated, at least to our mind, with just that type of person.

In fact there are scents for every one, easy to find and fun to choose. The main thing is to find the one that is unmistakably, unforgettably YOU!

Chicago Dobbs Ferry Club to Elect Officers

Tomorrow the Blatchfords are going up to Charlevoix on a winter sports week-end party as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ayres Boal. Mr. and Mrs. Boal are opening their big rambling summer home for the occasion and have ordered it stocked with plenty of country sausage, ham, beans, and coffee. Others in the party will be Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence H. Howe and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Clark.

Charles H. Swifts to Leave Sunday.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Swift will leave on the trip that is to take them to New Zealand by way of Los Angeles, Honolulu, Auckland, and Australia. They plan to be away at least three months so that the tulips and crocuses will be up in their Mundelein garden when they return.

Instead of returning to New York Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vanderlip, their son, Frank Vanderlip Jr., and their daughter, Miss Virginia Vanderlip, are continuing their trip west to the Pacific coast. Mrs. Vanderlip, her son and daughter left yesterday by train, but Mr. Vanderlip, anxious to make the trip as quickly as possible, took off by plane.

In California the Vanderlips will go to their beautiful 1,000 acre ranch, Palos Verdos, which is near Los Angeles. Another son, Kelvin Vanderlip, is living on the ranch this year studying a housing project which Mr. Vanderlip hopes to put into effect there as he did in Scarborough, N. Y., when he and his family went there to live a number of years ago.

Frank Jr. is intensely interested in this work, so that his father feels he is indispensable to him. He also feels the same way about his daughter, Virginia, for she is his efficient secretary.

While in Chicago the Vanderlips were the guests of Robert F. Carr, spending considerable time, too, with the Walter Carr family. This week-end incidentally the young "Bob" Carrs are to have Miss Helen Clifford of Minneapolis for their house guest.

John E. Dobsons at Wellesley.

The many Chicago friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Esser Dobson [the former Evelyn Mott] will be interested to hear that they are settled in a tiny house in Wellesley, Mass. They were married in Charlottesville, Va. [Mrs. Dobson's former home], last Dec. 9, after their engagement had been announced here in Chicago while Mrs. Dobson was visiting her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Mulford.

Mrs. George Lytton is leaving tomorrow for Baltimore where she will visit her sister. She will return to Chicago the end of this month and in mid-March she will depart for Poland to join her daughters, Mrs. Thaddeus Zazulinski and Miss Rosemary Lytton. Mr. Zazulinski, who came to Chicago shortly after Mr. Lytton's death, left last Monday to return to Poland.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Forgan Jr. are sailing on Feb. 8 to spend a fortnight in Bermuda.

Board of Sunbeam League Meets Today.

The board members of the Sunbeam league are meeting for luncheon today at the home of Mrs. Otto Mast with a definite purpose in mind. They are going to start shaping plans for their annual card party to be held the afternoon of April 3 at the Stevens hotel. The card party is always anticipated as one of the major charity social events of the early spring season.

The woman's board of St. Mary's Home for Children on West Jackson boulevard is sponsoring a fashion show and tea on Monday afternoon, Feb. 12, from 2 to 5 o'clock. Mrs. Charles Palmerston Anderson, widow of Bishop Anderson, is honorary chairman of the board, Mrs. John Harned Jr. is chairman of arrangements, and among the models will be the Misses Virginia Thatcher, Lucy Harrison, Shirley Ann Johnson, Ruth Carolyn Johnson, and Jean McCarton.

The South Shore Service league has set Feb. 21 as the date for its annual Yankee Doodle carnival and dance to be held in both the Joseph Urban and Pompeian rooms of the Congress hotel. The board has planned to make the decorations a study in red, white and blue, and to feature silhouette artists, tintype makers, and fortune tellers on the entertainment bill.

Nursery Quilt Has Fleecy Lamb Done in Green and Blue

LAMB.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Baby may have her little lamb, and its fleece may be as you like it. Modern mothers have been lured away from the all white, pink or blue era, and today's quilt block consists of a suitable color scheme for a child's quilt. It is a lively, soft green for the lamb, combined with a child's blue, and is appliqued on a white ground.

For a quilt pattern of this design, send five cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn street.

W. A. C. Enjoys Duet Lecture on Right Living

Members Review Talks at Luncheon.

The main topic of conversation over the luncheon tables in the Woman's Athletic club after the morning lectures that are given twice a month at that conservative and popular club always is what the women have been told that morning.

And, of course, yesterday comparison between the gentleman who had talked on "Wisdom in Living" that morning and the one who talked two weeks ago on "Tapping Your Energies" was inevitable, for both are well known psychologists and authors of books giving advice about how to adjust one's self to modern life.

The lecturer yesterday was Dr. Harry A. Overstreet of the New School of Social Research in New York and head of the philosophy department of the College of the City of New York, and the one a fortnight ago was Walter B. Pitkin, professor of journalism at Columbia university and author of the best seller, "Life Begins at Forty."

Over tomato bouillon, breast of chicken, pear salad and raspberry ice and mint ice cream—all delicious just as everything served at the club always is—the women who had filled the ballroom for both talks discussed them and decided that both men had given them worthwhile ideas for improving their social adjustment and for pursuing that evanescent will o' the wisp which all are striving for, happiness.

The consensus was that Mr. Pitkin got down to brass tacks more than Dr. Overstreet did, but that both gave vitally interesting talks. Perhaps the reason that Dr. Overstreet's talk was considered more abstract and not so material as Mr. Pitkin's was because the former was assisted by his poet wife, Bonaro Wilkinson Overstreet, who in a charming, well modulated voice read poetry illustrating how to achieve "Wisdom in Living."

Some of those who heard the Overstreet duet and later had luncheon at the club were Mrs. William N. Pelouze, Mrs. Harry W. Fuller, Mrs. Daniel Green, who recently moved here from New York; Mrs. Frank Wheeler, Mrs. George L. Cragg, Mrs. Allen Howes, Mrs. I. C. Elston, Mrs. Charles F. Fitts, Mrs. Kenneth Dick, Mrs. Ernest Salmon, Miss Jane Fortune, Mrs. David A. Hare, and Mrs. William W. Gurley.

Others were Mrs. Philip Kreuscher, Mrs. George A. Jaeger Sr. and Jr., Mrs. Botsford Young, Mrs. Grosscup Sampsell (Margaret Carr), and Mrs. Ferre C. Watkins, looking very smart in a tiny turban outlined with summer ermine tails that matched her three-quarter length fur coat.

Also Mrs. Stanley Zaring, Miss Jean Hyman, Miss Virginia Ashcraft, Miss Caryl Bloomingston, Mrs. Joseph H. Defrees, Mrs. Albert H. Wetten, Miss Florence Sargent, Mrs. Will H. Lyford, Mrs. Frederic d'Aix, Mrs. Homer W. Chapin, Mrs. William W. Dixon, Mrs. H. G. B. Alexander, Mrs. Thomas E. Wilson, Mrs. MacLeish Day, and Mrs. John G. Curtis.

Tonight Mr. and Mrs. Edgar J. Goodspeed are entertaining at dinner at their residence on Woodlawn avenue for Dr. and Mrs. Overstreet.

WEDDINGS

Miss Harriet Davidson of New York and Evanston will be married tomorrow to John R. Sheppard Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Sheppard of New York, in St. Luke's church, Evanston. The ceremony will be followed by a small reception at the residences of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson, 1615 Ridge avenue. The bride will have her twin sister, Miss Gretchen Davidson, as her only attendant. Mr. Sheppard, a theatrical producer, and his bride will return to New York after their wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Wilsberg of Rogers Park announce the marriage of their daughter, Jean Eleanor, to Paul Edwin McDonald which took place yesterday in Chicago.

JUNIOR GIRL'S DRESS.

The smart shoulder yoke of this darling dress is slightly caped in effect, and you may have long or short sleeves. The fitted peplum makes both hips and waistline look smaller, and you'll find it an easy dress to make. Chartreuse green, printed silk crepe, with the bow in a plain navy blue crepe and with the buttons matching the blue in shade, is suggested for a very smart dress.

The pattern, No. 3417, comes in sizes 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19 years.

Conductor Not a Yes Man in This Concert

Has Something to Say as Well as Soloist.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

One of the most interesting occurrences at the Chicago Symphony orchestra concert last night, about as interesting a thing as has happened all season, was the spectacle of two authoritative men, Ossip Gabrilowitsch, the piano soloist, and Frederick Stock, the conductor, saying the same thing in such complete accord with each other.

This happened in the performance of the Brahms Concerto in D minor. It frequently happens that it is the lot of a soloist in a concerto to express himself fully, while that of the conductor is to be merely a deferential accompanist. But Brahms wrote a different kind of concerto. Here he seems to have insisted that the conductor should not be a yes man, but should have something of his own to say.

So these two said it, telling different sides of the story, it is true, but frequently speaking out in full voice and agreeing with each other marvelously as to text, development, and the important part of the tale. It was as fine a specimen of dual virtuosity as the season has witnessed—two dashing, brilliant performances blended into one.

There was another curious point about the evening. Mr. Gabrilowitsch appeared immediately after the intermission. Just before it Mr. Stock had conducted Richard Strauss' "Thus Spake Zarathustra," and there was a surprising resemblance between the two compositions. It was not a case of imitation: perhaps the resemblance would never have been detected had the two works not appeared side by side. But while Strauss could never be accused of copying Brahms there was a strange likeness of mood, a likeness that at times brought out melodic phrases of almost the same shape.

The likeness continued in that here was another gorgeous performance. Before this in turn, Mr. Stock had opened the program with the Bach Suite in B minor, the one in which Ernest Liegl's flute took brilliant solo prominence. It was Bach of the finest, most glowing, and most transparent.

A letter signed by Arthur G. Cable, chairman, and Edward L. Ryerson, C. B. Goodspeed, and Chauncey McCormick, members of the committee attempting to meet the present critical situation of the orchestra's finances, was sent to season ticket subscribers yesterday. It outlined the deficits of the last three seasons, $47,940.41 in 1931, $80,344.43 in 1932, $64,053.18 in 1933, estimated the deficit for the current season as about $70,000, and stated that for the first time in thirty years it was necessary to ask the patrons of the orchestra to assist in providing funds.

Help can be given in either or both of two ways. In the words of the letter:

"1. Will you become a guarantor for this season to the amount of one-half of your season ticket subscription?

"2. If you cannot be a guarantor, will you purchase or sell an additional ticket for the remaining Thursday evening or Tuesday afternoon concerts?"

If the present deficit is taken care of, it is proposed to make an intensive campaign this summer to obtain additional season ticket subscribers for next season.

DULL, LIFELESS HAIR NOW THING OF PAST

"YOU SAY IT'S CALLED GERAL, AND THAT IT WILL ACTUALLY GIVE MY HAIR THE BEAUTY OF YOUTHFUL GIRLHOOD?"

"YES, — GERAL IS THE ORIGINAL MAKE-UP FOR THE HAIR. IT DOESN'T GIVE AN ARTIFICIAL LOOK. JUST RESTORES NATURAL BEAUTY."

Will you try this easy way to have beautiful hair?

To allow dull, faded looking hair to steal away your attractiveness and appeal, is now utter folly. You can end this handicap in a moment. Just comb your hair with Geral—the original make-up for the hair. Geral is not a dye, bleach or henna—nor does it contain oil. It beautifies the hair as rouge, powder and lipstick beautify the face. No matter what the color of your hair—blonde, auburn, brown, brunette or gray—Geral will impart NOT an artificial look but the natural life, sheen and softness of youthful girlhood. Obtain Geral at all good toilet counters and drug stores.

Paris Relieves Travel Coats of Bulk and Gives Them Soft, Feminine Lines

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Coats that are leaving Paris in all directions are a lot less bulky and much less mannish than they were last season. The newest travel coats from the greatest Paris tailors look much more feminine and have dress-like details that fit them into the new styles.

The travel coat is a pretty difficult garment to change, even with the inventive talent of the French dressmakers busy on it. There are such strict rules of good taste for this kind of coat and such stern duties.

Creed, however, succeeds in making this kind of coat look dresslike, and does it so well that his travel coat shown here is one of the smartest to be found. The coat is made of blue tweed and has sleeves that are set in with raglan seams and that are tucked into their small cuffs at the wrists, thus giving the desired feminine look to the coat.

There is a small standing collar on this model, which has flaring tie ends in front, worn to look like a jabot. The revers are half hidden by this tie. A belt of the tweed fastens on a steel buckle.

Men Stay Shy of Woman Who Talks Too Much

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"He explained that she is what he is looking for, but she earns too much money, which makes her independent and domineering—AND SHE TALKS TOO MUCH."

The above excerpt from a letter, with no intention of delivering a sermon, does deliver a good one, to the girl who talks too much!

There are two kinds of "talking women," one who can get away with it and one who can't. The kind no one objects to, man or woman, unless you get them in too large doses, is the chatterbox who just rattles away for the sake of chatting. Some times she is amusing. But the tolerance extended her is based on a feeling of superiority her idle chatter gives her audience. Also, there is a friendliness about this type of talker that warms people.

But the talker who annoys is the efficient person with independent views and a domineering way of speech. Her talk may be clever, her voice good, but antagonism rises because of the sureness in her tone. It's a challenge, in a way. As a debater or chief speaker for the Thursday afternoon club, the woman may be good. But her professional manner of holding the floor for an hour at a time just does not soothe the tired business man's brain.

Women have talked themselves out of romance more often than the guilty ones ever suspect. We call attention to the fault, not because it is a new one, but because there is more than a little male antagonism in the air against the highly successful business woman anyway, and the less she plays that rôle in social life the better for her romantic interests.

Union League Club Will Display Famed Collection of Art

The quarter-million dollar art collection of the Union League club will be on display in the club quarters on the nights of Feb. 5 and 6. Paul Schulze, chairman of the art committee, said yesterday that the exhibition is to be held to allow "members of the club and any of their friends to become acquainted with one of the largest and finest private art collections in the city."

The collection boasts an Innes valued at $50,000, three historical portraits by George Healy, Henry Ranger's "The Pool at Hawk's Nest," a Claude Monet called "Trees in Blossom," and the "George Washington" by Gilbert Stuart.

J. O. Y. MAKES STRONG BID FOR GOLDEN GLOVES

200 Jewish Boys to Compete.

[Tomorrow is the last day to enter Golden Gloves. Boys intending to compete in amateur boxing's biggest tournament must mail their entries before midnight tomorrow. Entry blank will be found on page 29.]

BY FRENCH LANE.

A warning to the ambitious young boxers who are seeking Golden Gloves championships this year is to look sharp when they draw opponents who wear the insignia of the Jewish Organized Youth.

IRVING GOLDSTEIN.

Less than three months ago the Jewish People's institute decided to band its youthful athletes into an organization whose aim would be to encourage physical perfection. The strides that have been made since that recent beginning are amazing.

Under the guidance of such noted Jewish fighters as Barney Ross, Charley White and a great many others the campaign got under way. The first objective was to whip together a team of which the Jewish people would be proud in THE TRIBUNE'S Golden Gloves tournament.

200 Boys Seek Titles.

Almost over night there popped up 200 Jewish boys who aspired to be boxers. This made it necessary to arrange a tournament out of which by a process of elimination will come the members of the J. O. Y. team which will fight for the team trophy in the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions.

A visit to the Jewish People's institute gymnasium any afternoon or evening this week will reveal that the boys who come through the tournament, which is to be held there next Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights, will loom as a dangerous threat to any organization or club which has its eye on the Tournament of Champions team trophy.

There's color, punching power, boxing ability and a lot of determination in this new Jewish boxing camp. From the way the ringsiders scream when Joe Lubin, a contender for the middleweight championship, crawls through the ropes it is easy to come to the conclusion that he will be one of the heroes of the team.

An Aggressive Fighter.

There is a reason for this. In build, boxing style and in his willingness to take a punch in order to land one of his own stingers, he reminds the Jewish boxing enthusiasts of their own spectacular Kingfish Levinsky. And not unlike the Kingfish the punches which Joe sets going do not always fly in the same direction. Some of them act as if they are aimed at the roof of the building, but enough of them have hit the bullseye so far to keep Joe always out in front of his antagonist.

Irving Goldstein, a runner-up on last year's Chicago intercity team, is another headliner in the Jewish Organized Youth ranks, and has shown a big improvement over his form of last year. Irving is a featherwight, but will have no easy time of it winning the title, for in Sammy Kaplan, who is also a Golden Gloves veteran, he has a powerful rival.

Kaplan a Favorite.

Among the Jewish People's Institute fans Kaplan has just as many admirers as Goldstein, and if they come together in the finals of next week's tournament, which is quite possible, the outcome will probably be the most rousing scrap of the night.

The fans at the Jewish People's institute have already picked their favorites in the tournament. The boys they expect to see make the best showing are:

112 pounds—Morry Cornick, Jules Jones.
118 pounds—Ben Friedman.
126 pounds—Irving Goldstein, Sammy Kaplan.
135 pounds—Harold Brown, Phil Rosenberg.
147 pounds—Harold Jacobs, Morry Biner.
160 pounds—Joe Lubin.
175 pounds—Joe Finclstein.
Heavyweight—Bernie Bauman.

DENIED VICTORY BY MONTREAL'S OVERTIME RALLY

Sheppard Leads with Two Goals.

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 1.—(AP)—The Chicago Blackhawks remained tied for first place in the American section standing of the National Hocky league tonight by playing a 3 to 3 tie with the Canadiens, who twice came from behind.

JOHNNY GOTTSELIG

The Hawks ran up a 2 to 0 lead, but before the first period was completed the Canadiens broke through for a goal. After they had scored the Canadiens seemed to hit their stride and gave the Hawks a hard battle, with Sylvio Mantha making the tying point early in the second session.

Nineteen seconds of overtime had been played when Johnny Gottselig scored off Tommy Cook's pass to give the Chicagoans the lead again, but Wildor Larochelle forced another deadlock half way through the extra period.

Sheppard Scores Twice.

Johnny Sheppard rattled two goals into the Canadiens' cage in the first period. Roger Jenkins got an assist on the first and Jack Leswick and Leroy Goldsworthy figured in the next. Jack Portland, brought up from the Canadiens' defense to play center, made the play for Johnny Gagnon's goal in the last few minutes of the same period. Then Mantha made it 2 all in the second on a brilliant individual play.

The Hawks fell back on the defensive after Gottselig's overtime goal, but the Canadiens started a long scramble in front of Chuck Gardiner. A double pass from George Mantha and Jack Riley gave Larochelle the opening for the tying goal.

Morenz Rejoins Team.

Howie Morenz, star Canadien center, who has been out for several weeks with an injured ankle, drew a big cheer from the crowd of 7,000 as he returned to active duty. Cook's stick accidentally clipped Marty Burke over the eye, but it was later reported not serious.

After seven minutes the Hawks took the lead on the first of two goals Sheppard made in the opening period. Jenkins rushed down center, swung over to right wing as he crossed the Canadiens' blue line, drawing the defense with him. He shot a pass in front of the goal and Sheppard raced in and scooped the rubber into the cords as Chabot dropped to his knees.

Suddenly the Hawks struck again with the period 16 minutes old. Sheppard grabbed a double pass from Leswick and Goldsworthy, caught the Canadien defense napping and whirled through them to snap the puck past Chabot for his second goal.

Just before the period ended the Canadiens scored. Portland shouldered inside the Hawks' defense and Gagnon followed close behind to knock his rebound into the Chicago cage.

Tied in Second Period.

Seven minutes after the second period opened the Canadiens tied the score and the game remained in a deadlock throughout the session.

Sylvio Mantha, Canadien defense man, rushed down the left boards, stick handled through the Hawks' defense, and snapped the puck past Gardiner.

The first few seconds of overtime had just ticked by when the Hawks resumed the lead. Cook got the puck at the face-off, feinted through the Canadiens' defense, and shuttled a short pass to Gottselig, who golfed the rubber into the cords before Chabot could shift.

DAD'S DAYS.

DAD'S DAYS have become fixtures among middle western colleges and universities. That is the day when the chap who ordinarily does not figure largely in the undergraduate life of son or daughter, except to foot the expense, comes into his own.

On such occasions, dad, all spruced up in his best suit with a fresh haircut—we know because we've been a Dad's day guest—visits the fraternity or boarding house for lunch, attends the football game in the afternoon where the home eleven does or does not overwhelm the opposition, and winds up at some evening campus function. If his son be an athlete, dad meets the coach of that team, is told son stands a good chance of earning his varsity letter the next season. It's quite an affair for the old boy, even if he may wonder at the rubbage in vacant lots containing so many empty quart and pint bottles.

We have no illusions about empty bottles, simply because we do not imagine youth has changed basically in 30 years—only in our college days we drank beer because it was available and less expensive. With repeal, we anticipate those days may return. Which reminds us of our last Dad's day.

As we stood on the front porch of the sorority house wondering whether or not it would rain and spoil the football game, the cutest little freshman co-ed said, "O girls, if it does rain hard, lets take the dads out to 'The Elbow' and give them a real good time." Plenty of nudges and subdued "Shsssshes" for the co-ed. Later we learned "The Elbow" was an anti-prohibition resort in a nearby suburb.

Those familiar with Dad's day statistics report, however, that the net result is beneficial—net result being in the effect on dad. He unloosens his poke more often after this temporary homage, and sometimes even donates to college endowment or campus projects.

Fritz Crisler, football coach at Princeton and familiar from past experience with our western Dad's days, made a tremendous hit with parents of Old Nassau squad boys by extending them a special invitation to attend the last home game, with Navy, at Palmer stadium as guests of the management.

A Princeton dad, writing to us of it, said: "What parent does not like to see his son play in an important game and what parent, who, in these times, sacrifices so much to send his son to college, does not feel that when that son is giving so much of his time and energy to football, that the parent himself likewise contributes his moiety to the team's efforts.

"I do not recall a time other than this in the last 35 years when the coach of a major football team has recognized so tactfully the significance of parents 'giving their sons' to football."

Origin of Hoosier.

HTW: I have another version of the origin of the nickname Hoosier for Indianians. Early Hoosiers took their liquor as nature provided it and fought with the implements nature equipped them with. An early Hoosier, awakening the morning after, went into a tavern for his morning's morning. Kicking the sawdust idly, he uncovered an object in the blood incrusted sawdust, but recognizable. He inquired of the keeper "Whose yere?" This is said to be the origin of Hoosier.—Nic.

ST. JOHN SCOUTS EAST FOR NEW COACH AT OHIO

Stuhldreher Is Candidate for Willaman's Job.

Columbus, O., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—The usual smoke screen following the resignation of a football coach and the employment of a successor was being laid down today by athletic figures and figureheads of Ohio State university.

The smoke screen was in the form of a denial by athletic board members that a definite approach has been made to "any man concerning his availability or his willingness to come to Columbus as a successor to Sam Willaman, who resigned from the head football coaching job yesterday and then announced that he had signed a three year contract as head track and football coach at Western Reserve university at Cleveland.

St. John Seeks Coach.

L. W. St. John, Ohio athletic director, was "somewhere in the east today" on a scouting trip to interview at least three easterners who include Deormond [Tuss] McLaughry of Brown, Harry Stuhldreher of Villanova, and Gil Dobie of Cornell.

While it is acknowledged that St. John is interviewing these men, it is believed on reliable authority that the new Ohio State coach will be either Clark Shaughnessy, present coach of the University of Chicago; Don Peden, former Illinois star and now coach of Ohio university at Athens, or Stuhldreher, who, it is known, is willing to come to Ohio State if offered the post.

St. John, before leaving for the east, was quoted in Columbus papers as having said that Shaughnessy had been offered the post. This was denied today by Clarence D. Laylin, chairman of the athletic board.

KIPKE GETS BIG FISH

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Harry Kipke, coach of the University of Michigan football team, was guest speaker before the Fort Lauderdale Rotary club this noon.

Following luncheon he and Mrs. Kipke were taken by Chairman Ray Whyte and other Rotarians on Kikpe's first ocean fishing trip. Weather was rough and waves tossed the little fishing boat around. After several fumbles, both the coach and Mrs. Kipke scored touchdowns by landing kingfish.

Kipke failed to convert his point after touchdown so the final score on the kingfish contest was Mrs. Kipke, 22 pounds; Kipke, 21 pounds. Mrs. Kipke struggled for thirty minutes before bringing in her fish.

The Michigan coach, who is stopping at Miami on vacation, plans to motor home in about ten days.

OFFER LEO SPITZ CHAIRMANSHIP OF RACE COMMISSION

Governor Awaits Reply of Chicago Lawyer.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 1.—Rumors came from the executive mansion here today that Leo Spitz, an attorney from Chicago, will be appointed chairman of the Illinois state racing commission.

Mr. Spitz, who is a member of the law firm of Spitz & Adcock, is an attorney for the Balaban & Katz's theatrical enterprises. His law partner, Edmund D. Adcock, is a veteran Democratic leader of Chicago.

The reports heard here were to the effect that Gov. Horner is awaiting the naming of the racing commission until advised by Mr. Spitz as to whether or not he will accept the appointment.

Other names mentioned as members of the commission included Peter B. Carey, president of the Board of Trade; Harry Ash, formerly assistant to the attorney general of Illinois; Valentine Crane of Geneva, Ill.; Charles Levy of Chicago, a circulator of newspapers and magazines, and former Congressman James McAndrews.

Gov. Horner is reported to have experienced considerable difficulty in handing out the racing commission appointments as the members of the commission must serve without salary.

The only officer in connection with the new turf governing body to draw a salary will be the secretary of the commission.

Gov. Horner is said to be anxious to name the commission as soon as possible. Owners of the race tracks in the state have advised the governor that they are unable to proceed with their plans for the coming season until the commission begins to function.

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

FOR years they have called University of Minnesota athletic teams the Swedes, but Sig Harris, assistant coach, recalls that the 1903 football eleven that tied Michigan had a Jewish quarter back, an Indian end, a Negro at the other end, an Irish center, two German tackles and a German full back. There wasn't a Scandinavian on the team. . . . Frank Boucher of the New York Rangers and Lionel Hitchman, formerly of the Boston Brains, were members of the Royal Canadian Mounted police when they signed to play pro hocky a few years ago. . . . The Cincinnati Reds would have trained in Havana next spring had it not been for the political disurbances in Cuba. . . .

Stuyvesant Peabody Jr., who played tackle at Middlesex school, has taken examinations to enter the University of Chicago. . . . Top registered woods in golf are expected to be a dollar cheaper this year. . . . Indiana's leading track athletes—Charley Hornbostel, Van Fuqua, Wes Bicking, and Don Harpold—forfeited their Christmas and post examination vacations to prepare for the Millrose games in New York tomorrow night. . . . Champ Seibold, 233 pound freshman tackle, is said to be one of the best football prospects Wisconsin has had in years. . . . He also is a standout in the shotput and discus. . . . When big Ed Rusbach, who pitched for the Cubs on the west side, went into training at De Paul university, Father Murray used to catch his slants bare handed. . . .

Pug Rentner of the Northwestern coaching staff intends to play professional football next fall. . . . He has been offered a contract by the Philadelphia Eagles. . . . Bill Schmidt, proprietor of the Superior racing stables of Chicago, is recovering from an operation for a throat affliction. . . . Few speed skaters make good in professional hocky. . . . Irving Jaffe, Edmund Lamy and Joe Moore tried and failed. . . . The late Knute Rockne was the only man who could stop the garrulous Jay Wyatt, Big Ten football official. . . . Whenever Wyatt attempted to razz Rockne the Notre Dame leader would remind him of the head linesman who called an offensive center off side. . . . It is impossible, of course, for an offensive center to be off side, but Wyatt once offered this explanation to the captain of a Notre Dame team. . . .

Ralph Metcalfe of Marquette, one of the greatest sprinters of all time, is developing oratorical ability, too. . . . He was voted one of the three best speakers who appeared before the Elkhorn, Wis., Kiwanis club in 1933. . . . The new wooden floor at Broadway armory is the largest in the country. . . . It accommodates four tennis courts, which are kept busy day and night during the winter months. . . . Twelve of the 16 members of the Northwestern basketball squad live in Illinois. . . . Ten of the 12 are from Cook county. . . . Earlham college of Richmond, Ind., holds the modern Hoosier record for consecutive basketball victories. . . . Starting late in the season of 1931-'32 the team piled up 24 straight before losing to De Pauw on Dec. 12, 1933. . . .

Fritz Crisler and his entire Princeton coaching staff will conduct a summer schcool at Moorhead, Minn., this year. . . . Johnny Fischer of Michigan will spend the spring in Florida preparing for the Walker cup matches in England. . . . Eppa Rixey, Cincinnati pitcher, is the oldest player in the major leagues in point of service. . . . He came into the National league in 1912 and has played with only two teams, Philadelphia and Cincinnati. . . . Paul Stagg is studying for a master's degree at Columbia university. . . . It seems that a background in law is essential for a job on the University of Chicago football coaching staff. . . . Clark Shaughnessy studied law at Minnesota. . . . Julian Lopez is a member of the Louisiana bar. . . . Marchy Schwartz is a graduate of the Notre Dame law school. . . . Sam Horwitz and Bill Cassels, line coaches, are law students at the Midway. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today—Clarence Taffy Abel was a member of the United States hocky team that defeated Sweden, 20 to 0, in the semi-final round of the Olympic games championships. . . . Eddie Shea was matched to go ten rounds with Eddie Goozeman at East Chicago. . . . Mrs. Molla Mallory, seven times American tennis champion, said she would represent Norway in the Olympics. . . . CANN QUITS AS FOOTBALL COACH AT NEW YORK U.

New York, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Two years after his appointment as successor to John F. [Chick] Meehan, Howard G. [Jake] Cann resigned tonight as head football coach at New York university.

Though the board of athletic control announced Cann's resignation was voluntary and received with great regret, there seemed little doubt it could be attributed in part, at least, to undergraduate protests against the brand of football N. Y. U. is deemphasized teams have played the last two seasons.

Undergraduate opinion which had forced Meehan from university heights to the comparative calm of Manhattan college executed a complete right-about face. The youngsters who had complained about the big time football methods of the Meehan régime called for Cann's scalp after N. Y. U. had been beaten by Colgate, Purdue and Fordham in 1932 and by West Virginia Wesleyan, Colgate, Georgia and Fordham last season.

Basketball coach at N. Y. U. since 1932, Cann will retain that post and also will continue to serve as assistant professor and director of physical training.

STUNDL BREAKS U. S. ICE RECORD FOR FOUR MILES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Oconomowoc, Wis., Feb. 1.—Led by Eddie Stundl of Chicago, who established a new American record in the four mile event, a team of skaters representing the United States scored a decisive victory over a group of Canadian stars in a challenge match on Lake Fowler tonight.

Stundl, who negotiated the four mile test in 11 minutes 30.8 seconds, piled up 50 points for individual honors in the men's division. Eddie came to Oconomowoc to race tonight after having tied for first place in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S annual Silver Skates Derbies last night.

Kit Klein of Buffalo, N. Y., tied with Edith Kingsmill of Winnipeg for first place in the women's standings with 50 points each. The only Canadian to score in the men's competition was Stanley Bachinsky, who got 16 points with a third in the three-quarter mile.

COX'S 139 LEADS AGUA CALIENTE OPEN GOLF FIELD

Runyan, Hunter Card 141 and Tie for Second.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Wilfred [Wiffy] Cox, 36 year old Brooklyn professional, added a 70 today to a 69 yesterday to lead the field in the $7,500 Agua Caliente open golf tournament by two strokes.

Just before nightfall Cox wrested the lead from Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., who had held the 36 hole lead since noon with a count of 141, compiled through rounds of 69 and 72. Willie Hunter, who played with Cox, followed a first round 71 with a second 70 to tie Runyan for second place.

Cox, Hunter, and Horton Smith of Oak Park, Ill., played in a group. Smith scored 73 and, with 71 in his first effort, went into a four cornered tie for fourth place with 143.

Mehlhorn Equals Course Record.

Bill Mehlhorn equaled the course record of 67 made yesterday by Craig Wood to offset his unimpressive 76 in the first round. Vic Ghezzi of Rumson, N. J., shaved par by two strokes to get 69 to go with his 74. Olin Dutra, Santa Monica pro, who also started with 74, bounded back into the picture with a 69.

Craig Wood, leader of the field yesterday with a 67, fell to 77 today and was tied at 144 with Jimmy Thompson, long hitting Long Beach star, and Abe Espinosa, veteran Chicago pro.

Tom Creavy of Albany, N. Y., a junior sensation only a few years ago, went around the course in 68, for a two round total of 145. Denny Shute, British open champion, also had a 36 hole count of 145, thanks to a 70 today.

Ackerbloom Gets 146.

Julius Ackerbloom of Little Rock, Ark., joined the circle of players able to break 70 by turning in a score of 69 and a two day compilation of 146.

Several of the stars of yesterday stumbled today. Bobby Cruickshank of Richmond, Va., fell from a 68 to 80. Leo Diegel, with par 71 yesterday, could do no better than 79. MacDonald Smith duplicated his 73 and at 146 was eight strokes behind the leader.

Johnny Dawson of Chicago scored 74 today, while Dr. Cliff Baker of Portland, Ore., was taking 78 and the two went into a tie at 150 to lead the amateurs at the halfway mark. Dawson has been low amateur in all the previous Agua Caliente tilts.

Cox covered the first nine holes today in 34 strokes, one better than par, and came to the home hole needing only a par four to score another 69, but his approach from a bad lie overran the green.

Hunter Has Hard Task.

Hunter had to work hard for his 70. The former British amateur champion left himself some difficult putts for his pars on three holes, but he knocked them in with the exception of the 18th, where his approach landed in the sand and he just missed a long putt for his four.

HARDEST HITTERS OF PING-PONG TO MEET TOMORROW

U. S. Team Title Matches to Open Here.

The spectacular hitter usually is a favorite with a crowd at ping pong tournaments. This undoubtedly will be true again at the national intercity team championship tournament which opens tomorrow afternoon in the Cameo room of the Morrison hotel.

Carlton Prouty, a member of the Chicago team, and Merle Arens, who plays for Dayton and was last year's winner of the Ohio state championship, are two of the best forehand drivers in America. When they get a ball in the right spot, the opponent might just as well go out for a walk.

Jacobson A Hard Hitter.

Jimmy Jacobson, present national champion and captain of the New York team, has very much the same type of forehand smash, which he displayed to great advantage during the national tournament played here last year.

Sam Silberman, a member of the New York team, has one of the greatest backhand smashes in the game. When going right, it is good for plenty of points. It will be interesting to watch Silberman using a backhand smash against such a player as Prouty, who relies almost entirely on his forehand.

Take Them as They Come.

Jimmy McClure, present Indiana and Ohio state titleholder, will show what can be done with both a forehand and backhand smash. Coleman Clark, captain of the Chicago team, is another player who takes the balls as they come.

The first session of the championship events will run from 1 to 5 tomorrow afternoon. The second session will be played from 7 to 11 tomorrow night and the third session will be played from 2:30 to 5:30 on Sunday afternoon.

Winning Ping-Pong

BY COLEMAN CLARK.
[National Champion 1933.]

THE DRIVE.

JUST as there is a more or less fundamental stroke for tennis, so there is for ping-pong. The ideal shot in ping-pong is the topspin drive, a stroke which, if properly made, gives you a fast, low ball. Strike the ball with a quick upward and forward swing with generous wrist action and follow through. The extent of the necessary lift or pullup will determine the degree to which the little white pill will take the desired nose dive after passing the net.

On either forehand or backhand this is the bread and butter stroke of ping-pong. Proficiency in it is as necessary to sound ping-pong as an adequate swing is to golf. In making this shot be sure that the wrist begins to turn over as the ball is contacted and continues to do so afterwards. Study the correct form shown in the illustration.

Metropolitan Polo Teams Drill Today

Final workouts for tomorrow night's intercity double header in the Metropolitan Polo league are scheduled for this afternoon. The games will be played at the 124th Field Artillery armory arena, 5200 Cottage Grove avenue, and will mark the fifth round of the league tourney, which this year has been widened in scope to include the strongest teams in Ohio and Wisconsin as well as national championship contenders of Chicago.

Drill at Three Armories.

This afternoon's windup practice sessions are set for three armories, with the Cleveland Riding club and the Milwaukee Badgers going through their final paces at the 124th Field Artillery armory, the Sixth Corps area tuning up at Fort Sheridan, and the 122d Field Artillery getting on edge at their own armory.

Defeated in their first start in league competition, the Cleveland Riding club trio, who will meet Sixth Corps in tomorrow night's windup game, and the Milwaukee Badgers, who will clash with the 122d Field Artillery in the evening's opener, will be out for revenge.

Sixth Corps Surprise.

The Sixth Corps three, undefeated in two starts, have been the surprise of the league. Capt. C. E. Davis has built the team around himself, Lieut. Larry G. Smith and Lieut. John L. Hines Jr. Lieut. Smith played last year with the Chicago Riding club's high goal team in the nationals. Lieut. Hines is a newcomer and the most active player in the league, doing double duty on the Sixth Corps and Fort Sheridan teams.

CONTENDERS FOR K. OF C. TITLE TO PLAY SUNDAY

Ties for various positions in the south and west divisions of the Knights of Columbus basketball league may be broken Sunday when both sections stage a number of important games. In the south division at White City, McHale vs. Perez and Loyola-Hyde Park vs. La Rabida will top the program, while the west side headliners will include Carroll vs. Hughes, Tonti vs. Hennepin, and Barry vs. St. Cyr.

Kelly Heavies Defeated 4th Time in Row

Kelly's heavyweight basketball team suffered its fourth consecutive defeat in the central section of the Chicago Public High School league yesterday, losing to Phillips, 48 to 16, at Phillips' gymnasium. It was Phillips' second league victory.

Malcolm and Bingley, forwards; and Welch, guard; led the Phillips attack. Malcolm scored five field goals; Bingley contributed five baskets and one free throw, and Welch collected 9 points. Zack, forward, starred for Kelly, shooting three baskets and two free throws.

Parker and Bowen, who are tied for first place in the south section heavyweight division, engaged in a non-league game on Parker's court. Parker, led by Peterson, who scored six baskets and four free throws, triumphed, 41 to 38. The lineups:

PHILLIPS [48]	B	F	P	KELLY [16]	B	F	P
Malcolm, f	5	0	2	Yasnis, f	1	0	3

Waukegan will seek its tenth victory of the season at Woodstock, Ill., tonight. Waukegan has lost only to Thornton, state champion, 24 to 21. Capt. Martinez, diminutive Waukegan forward, and Goerlier and Morstadt, reserve guards, were among the mid-year graduates.

Two heavyweight and two lightweight games will be played in the South Suburban league tonight. Bloom's quintets will travel to Harvey to oppose Thornton, while Kankakee's teams will visit Blue Island.

The Chicago Public High school league schedule for this afternoon includes three heavyweight contests and one lightweight game. Sullivan will meet Amundsen, Senn will play Roosevelt, and Manley meets Harrison in the heavyweight division. Tilden's lightweights will oppose Lindblom.

St. Patrick's lightweight and heavyweight teams play St. Philip tonight at the latter's gymnasium, Kedzie avenue and Jackson boulevard. The game features the Chicago Catholic High School league schedule.

FEW CHANGES IN FOOTBALL RULES SEEN BY YOST

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Fielding H. Yost, Michigan athletic director and district representative on the national football rules committee, is to leave here tomorrow en route to Atlanta, where he will attend the rules committee meeting Feb. 9, 10, and 11.

On the basis of a survey conducted among colleges of his district, including Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, and Minnesota, Yost believes few rules changes will be made. Those most frequently suggested to him are that the ball be moved in 15 yards from the side of the field rather than 10 yards, and that an incompleted forward pass over the goal line be ruled a down rather than a touchback.

SMITH GETS 3D CHANCE ON MAT AT SONNENBERG

Jack Smith will get his third chance at Gus Sonnenberg, former world's heavyweight wrestling champion. Promoter Doc Krone announced last night that the Chicago youngster will meet Gus Feb. 16 at the Arcadia Gardens.

Smith refused to sign, however, unless the match was two out of three falls. When Krone obtained special permission from the Illinois athletic commission to do this Jack signed. Smith and Sonnenberg wrestled to a draw their first meeting and two weeks ago Gus triumphed by butting Smith out of the ring, although the latter was leading at the time.

RANGERS TRAIL 3-0; RALLY TO TIE TORONTO, 5-5

Bun Cook Leads Comeback with 3 Points.

New York, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The Toronto Maple Leafs and New York Rangers battled through 70 minutes of exciting hocky to a 5 to 5 tie tonight before a sellout crowd of about 16,000. The draw kept the Rangers in a tie with Chicago for the American division lead.

The Leafs scored three goals in the first period while holding the Rangers scoreless. Then the world champions brought the count up to 4 to 3 at the end of the second frame, tied it at 4 to 4 in the first half of the third, and brought the final deadlock with only three and one-half minutes to go.

Bun Cook Shines.

Bun Cook was the hero of the event. He scored two goals, including the last, and paved the way for two more when his shots made it possible for Cecil Dillon and Earl Siebert to net the first two Ranger tallies. Bill Cook got the other goal and Frank Boucher shared high scoring honors with three assists.

Lineup:

BOSTON, 2; DETROIT, 2

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 1.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins, with Eddie Shore playing with old time abandon, fought a 2-2 overtime tie here tonight with the Detroit Red Wings in a National Hocky league match.

Shore, applauded as he stepped on the ice and "razzed" in old time fashion on numerous occasions thereafter, had no part in the Boston scoring. Boston took a lead early in the first period on a goal by Clapper but Detroit forged into the lead before the period ended on two goals by Aurie, in which Lewis got both assists. In the second period Beattie tied up the score.

Lineup:

Phagan, Reed Box Tonight at Fronton

Johnny Phagan and Chuck Reed, Chicago 150 pound boxers, will meet in the six round windup bout tonight at Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. It will be Reed's hardest test.

Reed, a southpaw, stopped Eddie Stiegal and beat Fred Miller in his latest appearances. Johnny Dailey of Michigan faces Sammy Adams in a four round semi-final at 148 pounds. Preliminary matches:

Hugh Allen vs. Joey Bozak [4], 128.
George Schrosbree vs. Al Schiarato [4], 136.
Les Schultz vs. Bill Steffel [4], 148.
Fred Ledebuhr vs. James High [wrestling].

Freddy Gravelle, Kankakee, Ill., junior lightweight, and Joey Bozak of Blue Island have accepted a five round engagement at Midway Arena Monday. . . . Harry Dublinsky left yesterday for New Orleans, La., for a 10 round match with Eddie [Kid] Wolfe Monday.

Davey Day, west side lightweight, will box in a preliminary to the twelve round bout between Champion Barney Ross and Pete Nebo at Kansas City, Mo., Wednesday. Day and his co-manager, Sam Pian, will leave for Kansas City Monday. . . . A boxing show, sponsored by the Lincoln Park post of the American Legion and St. Alphonsus parish, will be presented March 5 at Edward Hines hospital.

Two amateur boxing programs are scheduled for tonight, one at the 24th Ward club, 3242 Roosevelt road, and the other at Our Lady of Pompeii auditorium, 1224 West McAllister place. In addition to the show at Our Lady of Pompeii several prominent Italians will speak on the formation of an Italian youth organization.

Tony Canzoneri, former lightweight champion, meets Cleto Locatelli of Italy in a twelve round bout at New York tonight. It will be their second meeting, Canzoneri being awarded a ten round decision over Cleto last Dec. 15. Canzoneri will be seeking his fifth triumph in as many starts since he failed to dethrone Barney Ross in the east Sept. 12. He won from Frank Klick and Locatelli and knocked out Kid Chocolate and Cecil Payne.

The Fathers' club of St. Luke's church, River Forest, will hold an amateur boxing show tonight at Community Recreation center, 4711 Madison street. Eight matches are scheduled. Phil Collins and Tuffy Griffith will referee.

IF ALUMNI PAY FRIEDMAN WILL BECOME COACH

New York, Feb. 1.—[Special.]—If alumni pay his salary, Benny Friedman will become football coach at City College of New York. Friedman, former University of Michigan star and for the last several seasons one of the leading quarter backs in the professional football ranks, was reported to be ready to sign.

Insufficient funds at the present time precludes any possibility of adding another coach to the staff, President F. B. Robinson said today. A member of the faculty, Dr. Harold J. Parker, has been coach of the City college football and baseball teams for several years.

KENTUCKY IN LEAD.

AT THE DESK OF HIS TEACHER

Elmer Layden Goes on Duty at Notre Dame

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Elmer Layden sat down at Knute Rockne's famous old desk today and began his active campaign to bring Notre Dame back to its former glory in the football world.

Back on the grounds where he gained fame as fullback on the "Four Horsemen" eleven, Layden officially took charge of Notre Dame's athletic destinies as director of athletics and head football coach. No ceremonies were held with his induction to office, although two weeks ago he was given a tumultuous reception at the annual football banquet.

Layden, who won national renown as a football player under the late Rockne and a reputation as a fine football coach at Duquesne university, brought one new assistant with him as he took over the offices, previously held by Jess Harper and Heartly Anderson. The newcomer was Joe Boland, who played on Notre Dame's football teams in 1925 and '26 and who will be Layden's chief gridiron assistant.

Tom Conley, captain of the undefeated 1930 team, was the only survivor of the 1933 football coaching staff, being retained as end coach. One more assistant, to be named later, will be hired. Working with Layden in other departments were George Keogan, basketball coach, and John Nicholson, track coach. They are the only members of the entire coaching staff who are not Notre Dame graduates, Keogan coming from Minnesota and Nicholson from Missouri.

NORTH CENTRAL MEETS CARTHAGE FIVE TOMORROW

North Central college will seek its fourth Little Nineteen victory tomorrow when it meets Carthage college at Naperville. North Central defeated Carthage, 35 to 29, at Carthage three weeks ago and has since defeated Wheaton and lost to De Paul university.

The Carthage forwards, Markel and Morrison, and Smith, a guard, are the outstanding men of the southern team. Markel made 13 of his team's points against North Central. Carthage has defeated Bradley, Bradley beat Knox, Knox beat Macomb, and Macomb defeated North Central decisively, so that Carthage is given an even chance to win although previously conquered by North Central.

Lake Forest and Ripon Fives Meet Tomorrow Night

Lake Forest and Ripon basketball teams will meet for the second time this season at Lake Forest tomorrow night. Ripon won, 41 to 26, in the first encounter, but the score should be much closer this time due to the return of Les Dohr, Lake Forest's six feet three inch center, who was out in the previous game with an injured ankle. The squad has also been strengthened by Lloyd Roberts, who reported two weeks ago. He is a guard.

Central of South Bend, Mishawaka Meet Tonight

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 1.—[Special.] Central of South Bend and Mishawaka, athletic rivals for 25 years, will renew their feud on the basketball court here tomorrow night in the leading game in the eastern division of the Northern Indiana High School conference. All teams are scheduled for conference play Friday with Riley of South Bend at Goshen, Napanee at Elkhart, and Laporte at Michigan City.

Woods and Waters By Bob Becker

Should the farmer who has a lake on his property be given power to regulate the fishing there to suit himself? Should nonmigratory game such as rabbits, squirrels, and pheasants, belong to the land owner so that he could regulate the seasons and conduct a game farm as he pleases?

William C. Kelsey of Orland Park, Ill., has brought up these questions in connection with future Illinois game codes because, he points out, under existing laws a farmer cannot run his land as a game farm for revenue.

Mr. Kelsey outlines his views as follows:

"I have noticed your articles in THE TRIBUNE in regard to game management in other states and have been interested because we have been trying to turn our farm into a fish and game farm. We find that the state laws are unfavorable to us. The state claims control of the fish and game and it is hard to run a game farm under such conditions.

"It seems to me that the farmer should be able to claim the game on his land as his own and regulate the bag limits and the length of season to suit himself. I think that a law modeled after the English law would be about right. It is out of the question to think that there can be free hunting and at the same time game to hunt.

"I believe it would help for you to get in touch with the officials of the Illinois Agricultural association and try to get them interested. There would be a twofold benefit to the farmers because such a system would take land out of production and would also furnish another source of income from land not used entirely for game raising."

There isn't any doubt that Illinois is behind the parade on up to date game laws which will permit a land owner to raise wild game, enjoy the hunting of it himself, or lease shooting rights for revenue. Just how far a land owner should be permitted to go with respect to seasons and other details is controversial. At the present time Wisconsin, for example, has liberalized its laws encouraging the raising of pheasants for profits, giving the land owner the right to sell his birds in the market, as well as a long season during which he can lease shooting rights or invite his friends in to shoot the birds raised on the property.

In Wisconsin the game farm is subject to all state laws regulating the seasons on other game so that only the pheasant angle is given wide latitude permitting commercialization.

The thing about the game farming idea that has impressed us is this: All the country around the pheasant growing area gets stocked with birds without cost to the state. Scores of pheasants leave the preserve and set up housekeeping on "open" land, outside of the posted preserve.

Three Champions Lose Decisions in C.Y.O. Bouts

Three Catholic Youth Organization boxing champions lost in three of the outstanding bouts of the regular show at the C. Y. O. center, Congress street and Wabash avenue, last night. John Logan, heavyweight titleholder, lost to Tom Kenneally; Frank Schultz, flyweight champion, was defeated by Joe Memici, and Phil Kenneally, holder of the lightweight crown, dropped a decision to Joe Esposito.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL SYSTEM — COURTESY EFFICIENT SERVICE ALWAYS

Consider the Railroads —for Safety

The safety of the service that is provided by the railroads is usually taken for granted.

There could be no greater tribute to a safety record, but the things that are responsible for such a record cannot be taken so lightly.

On the physical side, railroads can give safe service because they have their own roadways, the track is solidly built, flanged wheels hold the trains to their course, and signals guard the way.

On the human side, too, there are reasons for railway safety. Trains are operated according to rules and orders which give safety first place, and every employe who has any part in their operation is sober, physically fit and thoroughly trained.

BRUIN LACROSSE TEAM LOSES TO PITTSBURGH, 17-15

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—The Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets won over the Chicago Bruins in the lacrosse game here tonight, 17 to 15. Pittsburgh is now leading the race in the National Lacrosse league with the Chicago team only fourteen points behind.

The local team has eight more home games to play while the Bruins also have several scheduled on their floor. The last time the Chicagoans played here two extra periods were necessary to decide the contest.

WESTERN INDOOR DRAWS LEADING SPEED SKATERS

Nearly every outstanding speed skater of the United States and Canada will compete in the Western Open indoor ice meet tomorrow night at Chicago Stadium.

Winners in the national tournament at Minneapolis and North American champions crowned at Oconomowoc, Wis., last Sunday afternoon, will be in the field. This will be their final chance of the season to win major skating honors in this territory.

Eddie Schroeder, Chicago star, who skated off with the senior title in the North American meet, will be making his first appearance in the Western Open Indoor. The Olympic games kept him away in 1932 and last year he raced in Norway, where he won the world 10,000 meter championship. Tomorrow night will be Schroeder's last showing here before he departs for Norway to appear in special races.

Leo Freisinger, national and North American intermediate champion, will defend his Western Open Indoor mile and half mile championships. He is undefeated this year. He raced in five events in the national championship meet and the same number in the North American tournament without being seriously pressed.

DREWRYS

Canada's Pride ALE Since 1877

Good Ales have a much heavier body than beer, and the alcohol content, which is usually much higher, is also much more effective because of the body content—and, of course, we think the BEST Ale is Canadian. Drewrys is the first Canadian Ale made in the U. S. A. The alcohol content is slightly greater than in Canada.

TEST SHOWS MAIL 28 HOURS ON WAY FROM A SUBURB

Many Letters in Transit More Than 12 Hours.

A new series of tests of the mail service conducted by THE TRIBUNE shows that it requires from 4 hours 59 minutes to 28 hours 42 minutes for a letter mailed in the suburbs to reach a downtown destination. Similar experiments made recently disclosed that it requires from 20 hours 15 minutes to 63 hours 26 minutes for letters mailed in New York to reach Chicago.

In the suburban tests letters were mailed in Evanston, Deerfield, Oak Park, Berwyn, Harvey, and Chicago Heights at approximately 10 a. m., 3 p. m., and 8 p. m., all addressed to The Tribune Tower. They carried slips stating the mailing time and red crosses on the backs of the envelopes made them readily detected, so the time of their arrival in THE TRIBUNE mail cage could be stamped upon them. MRS. BRUNDAGE NAMED ESTATE ADMINISTRATOR

Mrs. Germaine Vernier Brundage, widow of Edward J. Brundage, former attorney general, was granted letters of administration for his estate yesterday by Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to the probate judge. Mr. Brundage was found shot to death Jan. 20 in his home at 700 South Ridge avenue, Lake Forest.

Assets of the estate consist of land in Ogle county, valued at $30,000, and $10,000 in personal property, of which $5,000 is insurance payable to the estate. Mrs. Brundage declared Wednesday at Waukegan, where she was appointed guardian of her children, that the estate is insolvent.

The heirs at law are Mrs. Brundage and the children, Edward Jr., 18 years old; Margaret, 16; Robert, 14, and Jacqueline, 10. Attorney Roswell B. Mason told Mr. Caplan that no will had been found.

RITES TODAY FOR MRS. ANNIE CLARK, PIONEER HERE

Mrs. Annie Carter Clark, member of a pioneer Chicago family and widow of Edgar A. Clark, one of the founders of the old house of Storey & Clark, will be buried in Rosehill cemetery this afternoon following services in the chapel at 3 p. m. at 3834 Irving Park boulevard. She died Wednesday in her home at 4526 Malden avenue.

Mrs. Clark was 75 years old. She was born at Milwaukee and Elston avenues in the old town of Jefferson. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Carter, settled there about 1831 or 1832 and were believed to be the first farm owners in Chicago to use a threshing machine.

For many years Mrs. Clark and her husband lived on the south side gold coast and were active in social affairs. He died about thirty years ago. Surviving Mrs. Clark is a daughter, Edgarda.

GATES A. RYTHER, DROVERS BANK OFFICER, 75, DIES

Gates A. Ryther, vice president and director of the Drovers National bank, died yesterday in his home at 456 Normal parkway, following a brief illness. He was 75 years old. Mr. Ryther, a recognized authority on live stock loans, entered the banking business in 1886 in the employ of the old Live Stock National bank. He became vice president of the Drovers National bank in 1917.

Mr. Ryther is survived by two daughters, Mrs. F. K. Crosby and Mrs. H. R. Walton, and one son, Henry W. Ryther. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at St. Bartholomew's church, 67th street and Stewart avenue, with burial in Oakwoods cemetery.

Funeral Tomorrow for A. C. Humphrey, 74

Funeral services for Albert C. Humphrey, retired employe of the Western Union Telegraph company, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow in the chapel at 214 South Western avenue. Burial will be in Oak Ridge cemetery. Mr. Humphrey died Wednesday, at the age of 74, in his home at 2027 Walnut street. He retired in 1927 after more than 50 years service with the telegraph company. For 40 years he had been active in the religious meetings of the Salvation Army. A son, Frederick, survives.

Last of Lincoln's Audience at Bloomington Is Dead

Leroy, Ill., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—William H. Porter, 94, the last survivor of the group which heard Lincoln's last speech in Bloomington, is dead at his home here following a short illness. Funeral services will be held at two o'clock Friday afternoon.

HAROLD TEEN—TO THE VICTOR GO THE SPOILS

TWO MEN KILLED AS AUTO CRASHES INTO STREET CAR

35 Passengers Shaken; Year's Toll 126.

Cory Wood, 50 years old, 8725 Throop street, a cattle buyer, and Fred Bucher, 42, of 5540 South May street, a cattle handler, were killed last night in a head-on collision between their automobile and a street car at 47th and Aberdeen streets.

The cattle buyer, at the wheel, and his friend were driving west in 47th street at the time. As they neared Aberdeen street their automobile moved too far to the left and crashed into the front of the approaching surface car.

Both Hurled from Car.

Both men were hurled from their machine, which immediately burst into flames. The front platform of the trolley car was smashed. By the merest chance, Motorman John McGlynn and an unidentified girl passenger escaped injury. Thirty-five passengers in the car were shaken up.

These deaths and three others brought the 1934 motor toll in Cook county to 126. The other victims:

Raymond McLernon, 6 years old, 709 South Hermitage avenue. Struck by an automobile in front of 635 South Paulina street.

Philip Aldridge, 28 years old, 3519 LeMoyne street. Died in the West Side hospital of injuries received when he was hit by a truck at 1301 South Rockwell street.

121 Deaths in January.

January, just ended, was a bad month in the record of fatal automobile accidents, Coroner Frank J. Walsh reported yesterday. During January 121 persons were killed in the county, an increase of more than 60 per cent over January of 1933, when only 81 deaths occurred, the coroner said. Unusually mild weather and wider employment were held by himt to be the main factors in the high death rate.

Andrew Cotta, 24 years old, 6007 South Winchester avenue, a clerk, was taken to St. Luke's hospital last night, suffering from a skull fracture, after he had been hit by a car at Michigan avenue and 16th street. H. A. Wertheimer, 6019 Winthrop avenue, the driver, was not held.

FIND H. E. JONAS, TEA MERCHANT, DEAD IN GARAGE

Henry E. Jonas, 999 Bluff road, Glencoe, was found dead yesterday afternoon in his garage, believed to be the victim of a heart attack and carbon monoxide fumes. Mrs. Jonas found the body, lying face down in the gas-filled garage, when she entered preparatory to driving her bridge guests to their homes. The motor of the car was not running, although the ignition switch was on.

Sole owner of the Royal Tea company for 28 years, Mr. Jonas retired from business 10 years ago. He had not been in good health recently, his wife said, and had suffered several heart and stomach attacks. One of these was thought to have struck him while at work on his automobile, leaving him prey to the gas fumes.

Mr. Jonas was 60 years old, a member of the Masonic order and the Kildare Country club.

In addition to his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Lillian Warren, Glencoe, and Mrs. Hope Stein, New York City, survive.

An inquest will be held at 10 a. m. today in the undertaking parlors at 907 Linden avenue.

Bury Mrs. Sarah Gilmore in Deerfield Tomorrow

Mrs. Sarah Gilmore, 75 years old, an old resident of Chicago, will be buried in her home town, Deerfield, tomorrow following services at 1:30 p. m. at the Calvary Presbyterian church, Jackson boulevard and Keeler avenue. Mrs. Gilmore died Wednesday at the home of a son, Joseph S. Gilmore, 2848 Lunt avenue. Her home was at 4049 Madison street, where she had lived for the last thirty-six years. Surviving Mrs. Gilmore in addition to Joseph are three other sons, Edward F., Charles H., and Pascal M. Gilmore.

Sam Wheeler, Playwright, Actor, Dies in St. Louis

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Sam Wheeler, 79, an actor in the era when candles were used for footlights, died today. Wheeler was identified with the theater as an actor, playwright and theater owner, for more than half a century. After Bob Ford killed Jesse James, the outlaw, Wheeler obtained the contract of the Ford brothers to appear at his theater in Chicago, and often boasted that this probably started the "personal appearance" tradition of much publicized persons.

Fritz Haber, Nobel Prize Winner in Chemistry, Dies

BASEL, Switzerland, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Fritz Haber, a German chemical authority and winner of the 1918 Nobel prize in chemistry, died here today at the age of 66. Dr. Haber, at one time president of the Emperor Wilhelm Scientific Research foundation in Berlin, in 1911 discovered a method of producing synthetic ammonia. He later was acclaimed for perfecting an aparatus designed to prevent mine explosions.

PLAN MILITARY FUNERAL FOR SLAIN OFFICER

A military funeral service will be held on Monday morning for Policeman Thomas Murphy, 39 years old, who was critically wounded on New Year's eve by gunmen at 3443 South La Salle street attempting to seize a pay roll which he was guarding. The service will be held at St. Basil's church, 55th and Honore streets. Burial will be in Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

He served 27 months in the marine corps during the world war and was thrice cited for bravery by the French government.

The widow and her children, Thomas Jr., 5 years old, and John Patrick, 4 years old, mourned yesterday at their home, 5527 South Lincoln street. Among those who came to pay respects was Policeman Lawrence Selbach, who worked nearly 12 years alongside Murphy at the New City station before Murphy was transferred recently to the Stanton avenue station.

GIN GOES ON AIR BUT IT'S JUST STATIC IN THE DRY STATES

New York, Feb. 1.—[Special.]—For the first time on record a radio announcer will invite persons listening in Saturday night to tune out his station. The invitation was devised by station WOR to safeguard a program, for which a liquor company is the sponsor, from being construed as advertising in sections banning liquor advertising.

Before a male trio goes on for this concern, a gin distillery, the announcer will say:

"Those listening in from dry states may now tune out this station, for the next program is not intended to offer alcoholic beverages for sale or delivery in any state or community wherein the advertising, sale or use thereof is unlawful."

BURY HEADBURG, FREIGHT TRAFFIC EXPERT, TODAY

Funeral services for Albion L. Headburg, retired freight traffic expert, will be held at 2:30 o'clock today in St. Paul's Episcopal church, 50th street and Dorchester avenue. Burial will be in Oakwoods cemetery.

Mr. Headburg died suddenly of heart disease Wednesday evening. His widow, Mrs. Virgine Jennings Headburg, who is prominent in Chicago club affairs, found his body in a chair in the library of their home at 5001 Dorchester avenue when she returned home from a dinner.

Mr. Headburg was a freight claim agent for the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad for 25 years. Later he was employed for eight years by the Illinois commerce commission, as a rate expert, and for two years by the Western Classification association. He retired in 1932. He was an honorary life member of the Traffic Club of Chicago.

WORLD MONEY RATES SEETHE IN DOLLAR MIXUP

'Gold Rush' Follows Treasury $35 Bid.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 1.—World money markets seethed today in a series of conflicting movements predicated upon uncertainties arising from the American devalution program. However, at the close of the exchange market here today the dollar value showed a small net loss in terms of the French gold franc, but a sharp rise against the British pound sterling.

The dollar also showed modest losses against other principal foreign currencies with the exception of the Canadian dollar which eased a few points along with the pound. In terms of gold, the dollar closed at a value of 61.20 cents against 61.50 cents in the preceding session. The pound dropped 4 cents to $4.98.

Premium Starts "Gold Rush."

However, the present dollar quotation shows a premium over its new parity and in view of this some of the leading banks prepared to purchase gold abroad for sale to the treasury at $35 an ounce.

Foreign exchange departments of the larger banks were at first confused and skeptical over the new provisions for purchases of gold imported from abroad at $35 an ounce. When once they received assurances that the treasury was prepared to make such purchases, a scramble ensued to purchase gold in London for transfer here.

The National City bank was the first to arrange for a shipment. It announced that it had obtained $3,500,000 of bullion in London which it was shipping here on the liner Berengaria. Gold in London soared to a new high of 138s 6d and was purchased at the unheard of premium of 1s 31½d, but even at this price, which was equal on the basis of a $5 pound sterling to about $34.20 an ounce, a handsome profit was available.

Find Gold Hard to Buy.

Foreign exchange dealers who came to the federal reserve bank in the morning to inquire about the new regulations ran for their offices like rabbits, once they heard the news, to wire orders abroad for gold. But they discovered that not only was gold hard to buy, but that the treasury had already arranged for most of the available gold shipping facilities. Insurance limitations are the bars to free shipments of the metal.

These obstacles in the way of the gold movement were regarded as temporary, but so was the big chance for profit. Most bankers felt that as soon as a skeptical financial world had been convinced that the United States was really back on gold and that it stood ready to buy at $35 an ounce all the gold offered at home and abroad [with the exception of hoarded domestic gold] the world price of gold would quickly rise to meet the United States price and the dollar would drop.

LONDON PUZZLED

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The action of President Roosevelt in fixing the price of gold at $35 an ounce, his announcement of purchase and sale at this price, and the institution of a 59.06 cent dollar stood the London financial district on its head today.

The purchase and sale feature of the President's proclamation is taken here to mean that the United States has returned to a modified gold standard, but there is much uncertainty about the future, as the President still has the power to devalue the dollar or increase the price of gold.

When the President's figures were read in the morning papers, brokers, bankers and speculators got busy figuring out what it all meant. The result they arrived at was that the true parity of the pound to the dollar is $5.16, while that of the dollar to the franc is 15.5 francs and the pound to the franc 78 francs.

British Bankers Silent.

British banking circles are unwilling to say anything yet about the British policy, preferring to watch the course of the dollar-pound exchange for a few days before making up their minds.

Today's movements of the dollar were satisfactory to them. It had been expected the dollar would be far lower in terms of pounds than it proved to be. If this tendency continues, Britain is ready to sit tight.

If, however, the dollar should become too cheap in terms of sterling, the exchange equalization fund might be brought to bear in a drive to raise the value again, thus depriving the United States of the advantage of cheap money in export trade. So far there is no indication that Britain intends to change its policy of managed sterling in the near future.

Paris Has Wild Session.

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Feb. 1.—The Paris exchange market today had one of its most exciting and confusing sessions since the franc was stabilized in 1928. The dollar proved wildly erratic because no one in Paris knew, even well after the markets and banks had closed, whether New York would buy gold freely at $35.

Inflationists Rewarded by Rise in Stocks

Leading figures in the organization known as the "Committee for the Nation to Rebuild Prices and Purchasing Power" have found their campaign on behalf of inflation highly profitable, an examination of the price movement of stocks of companies in which they are interested discloses.

VINCENT BENDIX.

This organization had its birth in a meeting of business men in November, 1932, when the depression was seriously threatening many American business enterprises. This meeting was followed by a later gathering which was attended by a number of agricultural leaders, economists, bankers, and others in addition to the original group. The committee began to function in January, 1933.

Feared Collapse of Credit.

Describing the thought back of the November meeting, a bulletin issued by the committee states:

"Each felt that the business he managed and the workers dependent upon it were in the grip of forces little understood and entirely beyond his individual control. They sensed the then impending danger of the collapse of the nation's credit and banking structure."

The committee now contains members in all parts of the country. The following are included among the well known members: John Henry Hammond, chairman, Bangor and Aroostook railway; Vincent Bendix, president, Bendix Aviation corporation; George W. Borg, chairman, Borg Warner corporation; E. L. Cord, president, Cord corporation; E. L. Norton, chairman, Freeport-Texas corporation; Max Epstein, General American Transportation corporation; Frederic H. Frazier, chairman, General Baking company; William J. McAneeny, president, Hudson Motor Car company; M. B. Nelson, president, Long Bell Lumber corporation, now in receivership; J. H. Rand Jr., president, Remington-Rand, Inc.; Lessing J. Rosenwald and Gen. Robert E. Wood, chairman and president, respectively, of Sears, Roebuck & Co.; F. L. Innes, president, Spiegel-May-Stern company, and Philip K. Wrigley, president, the William Wrigley Jr. company.

Launches Inflation Campaign.

While the committee for the nation was functioning in the early part of 1933, it was not until after the inauguration of President Roosevelt that it really became active. It has carried on its campaign on behalf of inflation through meetings, in the press, over the radio, and through the mails. Prominent members of its committee have written articles and pamphlets suggesting that prices generally be raised through raising the price of gold. They recommended that the price of gold be boosted from $20.67 an ounce to around $36 an ounce.

One pamphlet of the committee, issued after its campaign was in full swing, contains this remark:

"At critical periods in the development of national policy the committee has placed its data and recommendations directly in the hands of the administration, its advisers, and members of congress.

How Prices Have Risen.

Th following table shows the prices of stocks of a number of companies whose officials are members of the committee. The first column gives the prices of stocks in the middle of January, 1933, when the committe began to function. The second column gives prices on the day before Roosevelt was inaugurated, or at the closest preceding day on which there was a sale. The final column gives closing prices yesterday.

Wm Wrigley Jr.	37½	35	56

It will be noted that a few of the shares of the above companies show no noticeable appreciation, but they are the exception.

Some Gains Shown.

The annual report of one of them, the Cord corporation, of which Mr. Cord and L. B. Manning are officials, contains some interesting information. It discloses that the corporation made a profit of $2,289,228 from trading in securities and commodities, an amount that more than offset losses elsewhere and left the company net earnings of $1,380,006 for 1933.

The movement of Sears-Roebuck shares illustrates the profits made by their holders. In March, 1933, the total market value of the shares, on a basis of the 4,780,064 shares outstanding as of Jan. 28, 1933, was $69,908,436. On a basis of the same number of shares, their market value at the close of business yesterday was $236,015,650, an appreciation of $166,107,114.

STOCKS BOUND TO NEW HIGHS IN HEAVY TRADING

4,716,000 Share Day Best Since July.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 1.—Stocks surged forward 1 to 3 points today on a wave of fresh bullish enthusiasm engendered by de facto stabilization of the dollar on a modified gold standard basis. Trading assumed the heaviest proportions since July 21 of last year, the turnover mounting to a total of 4,716,000 shares.

Buying orders came from all over the country and from many points abroad particularly in the early dealings when operations ran at better than a million shares an hour. The ticker was behind most of the session and at one time was as much as seven minutes late with quotations.

Strength in bonds and commodities and a fair sprinkling of bullish business news from here and there helped to inspire the speculative community with fresh confidence in the future of corporation equalities.

Gold Issues Leaders.

Stocks of companies engaged in mining gold and other metals featured the upturn. U. S. Smelting jumping three points on its initial sale—later surrendering most of its gain on profit-taking—and homestake mining rising 10 points net. In the late dealings railroads and utilities assumed leadership.

Every group participated in the forward movement, U. S. Steel, American Telephone, American Can, Du Pont, Sears-Roebuck, and Montgomery Ward making their best showing among various shares.

Trading in numerous miscellaneous shares was heavy, National Distillers, the most active issue of the previous session, opened 2¾ points higher on a block of 18,000 shares. The specialist in this stock was delayed about 15 minutes in determining the initial sale on account of the large number of bunched orders.

What Leaders Did.

Final prices on some of the day's trading favorites showed United States Steel at 57⅛, up 1; American Can, 100, up 1; American Telephone, 120⅜, up 2⅜; General Motors, 40⅞, up 1⅝; General Electric, 24⅛, up 1½; New York Central 41⅞, up 2⅝.

Railroad shares made a splendid showing the group mounting to within striking distance of the peak levels it attained last July. Delaware & Hudson, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio and Union Pacific were among the best. Net gains of the section ranged from a fraction to around 2 points on the average.

Utilities moved up 1 to 3 or more points in the early trading but like the rest of the list were compelled to backwater somewhat in the face of realizing sales. The "steady" dollar was considered favorable to the position of corporations of this field which operate on fixed service rates.

American Telephone Up 2¾.

International Telephone was traded in huge volume and rose more than a point. American Telephone rose 2¾.

Farm implement and mail order shares were in brisk demand. Montgomery Ward responded to an official estimate of a rise in sales in January of 40 per cent over a year ago with a jump of nearly 3 points.

Brokers reported a free flow of money into stocks that seemed to have its origin abroad. They set it down to an influx of capital that had taken flight to await currency stabilization here.

DECEMBER AUTO PRODUCT EXPORT SETS 1933 RECORD

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—(AP)—December foreign sales of American automotive products were shown by department of commerce figures today to have established a record for 1933.

Exports during December were valued at $9,651,000, compared with $7,717,000 for November, and $5,508,000 for December, 1932.

The overseas demand for passenger cars, which reached its peak in August, however, has since shown a steady decline, culminating in the December figure of 2,969 units, the lowest of the year. The decrease was said to have been due entirely to the lessened demand for the low price range, since other price groups improved slightly.

Truck exports reached the highest valuation for this group since March, 1931. Shipments of miscellaneous automotive products gained 30 per cent over November, the highest previous monthly figure for the year.

Roosevelt, Aids Consider New Export Credits

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—Plans for the formation of an agency within the Reconstruction Finance corporation to finance exports to Russia and other countries became known following a White House conference today participated in by Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the RFC; William C. Bullitt, ambassador to Russia, and John Wiley, counselor of the embassy at Moscow.

"We discussed the possibility of working out some exchange business with different countries," Jones said. The RFC probably would not put up a large sum of money, he explained, and neither would the immediate plan involve the extension of large credits abroad.

Credit for Exporters.

It probably would operate through the granting of necessary credits to exporters and manufacturers in the United States with which they could make favorable terms with foreign customers.

"The question was whether we needed new financing facilities and, if so, what," Jones said.

In emphasizing that Russia is not the only country involved, the RFC chairman said that additional credit facilities have been studied for trade with the Balkan countries and South American republics.

"Banking" of Trade.

Bullitt, who said his primary purpose in attending the conference has been "to listen to Mr. Jones," described the plan as one for "banking international trade."

While not specific in his description of the plan, Jones indicated that this work would be on a much smaller scale than the broad international trade plan being worked on by George N. Peek, special administration assistant delegated to this task. To a large extent, it was indicated, the plan would call for exchange of goods.

Ambassador Bullitt said he planned to sail for his post on Feb. 15, but whether the RFC would have its export credit arrangement working by that date Jones declined to say.

COIN AND BULLION ALL THE SAME TO TREASURY NOW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—Conforming to the country's new gold status today, the treasury's daily statement as of Jan. 30 lumped all gold in the sum of $4,829,092,988 instead of carrying it separately as gold coin and bullion.

The present stock of gold has a dollar value of $6,822,033,506, giving the treasury a profit of $2,792,940,577 on the revaluation of the dollar at 59.06 per cent.

A notation on the daily statement reading "Gold Fund, Federal Reserve Board [Act of Dec. 23, 1913, as amended June 21, 1917], $1,761,840,015," was dropped.

INDEX OF WHOLESALE COMMODITY PRICES RISES FOR FIFTH WEEK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—(AP)—A slight increase in average wholesale commodity prices last week marked the fifth consecutive week in which prices have advanced and brought them approximately to the level of May, 1931, Isador Lubin, commissioner of labor statistics, announced today.

The price index last week was 72.4 per cent of the 1926 average of 100, as compared with 72.3 the previous week and 73.2 in May, 1931. Prices last week were 20 per cent over the corresponding week of 1933, when the index stood at 60.4, and 21½ per cent above the low point of 1933, in the week ended March 4, when the index was 59.6. The present level, however, is 24 per cent under the general average for 1929, when the index number registered 95.3.

Five of the major groups showed increases last week, three recorded decreases, while two groups remained at the level of the preceding week. The group of miscellaneous items showed the largest advance, rising by nine-tenths of 1 per cent. Farm products advanced eight-tenths of 1 per cent, the food group one-half of 1 per cent, while hides and leather products and chemicals and drugs both moved up one-tenth of 1 per cent.

Metals and metal products dropped one-half of 1 per cent, while building materials and lighting materials both dropped three-tenths of 1 per cent.

BANK CLEARINGS FOR WEEK 14.8% ABOVE YEAR AGO

New York, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Bank clearings for the week ended Jan. 31, as reported to Dun and Bradstreet from leading cities, totaled $4,829,113,000, an increase of 14.8 per cent over a year ago.

The aggregate this week was $443,274,000 above the total for the third week in January this year, an unusual showing, the agency said, against the comparable period of a year ago, when the increase between the same two weeks was $207,976,000.

New York City clearings were $3,478,848,000, compared with $2,989,593,000 a year ago, an increase of 16.4 per cent.

At many outside centers, including Boston, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Chicago, Detroit, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Richmond, Atlanta, Dallas, Louisville, San Francisco, Portland, and Seattle, substantial gains were shown.

U. S. DEMANDS OTHER NATIONS CUT WHEAT CROP

Must Enforce Drastic Reductions Here.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—The United States, it was learned today, has demanded that foreign nations signatory to the London wheat agreement take steps to control their production and export of wheat equally as concrete as the regulatory measures already adopted by this country.

The United States, it was announced by the department of agriculture, regards present efforts to increase world wheat consumption and to devise a means of pegging the international price of wheat, as mere "palliatives." Although this government would be willing to participate in any feasible plans along these lines, it was said, the department of agriculture is insisting that they must be accompanied by practical measures toward crop reduction and export control.

Face New Reductions.

At the same time, it was disclosed that the United States is faced with the necessity of enforcing new and drastic wheat crop reductions in order to comply with the terms of the international agreement. At least three million acres, it was estimated, will have to be removed from the 1934 harvest in addition to the seven million acres taken out of production by the AAA wheat production control campaign.

The 1931-'32-'33 average harvested acreage in this country, it was explained, amounted to 53,933,000 acres. Under the terms of the London pact, this country agreed to reduce this harvest by 15 per cent, or down to 45,800,000 acres. The estimated 1934 harvest, figuring in normal abandonment and expected reductions under the wheat campaign, will be 51,222,000 acres, according to the department of agriculture, so that some 5,422,000 acres must be withheld from harvest in order to bring the 1934 crop under the limitations of the international agreement. Officials of the department expect unusually high abandonment of 1934 acrs to reduce this figure materialy, estimating that in the end some three million acres, in addition to the seven million acre wheat campaign reduction, will have to be eliminated from the 1934 harvest.

Announcement Is Coming.

"Definite plans for steps to secure further reduction in wheat acreage by the United States will be ready for announcement by the AAA within the next week or two," it was stated.

Among these plans, according to officials of the department, are proposals for renting additional acres and plowing up wheat already sowed; increasing the percentage of acres to be taken out of production under the existing wheat reduction contracts, and removing surplus varieties of wheat.

The proposal for an international system of pegging wheat prices was advanced several days ago at London by an international subcommittee appointed to explore the possibilities of such a move. At the same time, another subcommittee submitted the results of a study regarding the effectiveness of increasing world wheat consumption.

"The representatives of the United States at London," said the depart-

Farm Buying Boosting Mail Order Sales

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

One of the outstanding pieces of recent financial news has been the remarkable showings made by the big Chicago mail order houses. Both Montgomery Ward and Sears-Roebuck since the middle of 1933 have been reporting constantly expanding sales, with the business done by their mail order departments far overshadowing their other activities.

Montgomery Ward & Co. recently reported that its January mail order sales were 70 per cent ahead of those of January, 1933. Recent Sears-Roebuck sales have not generally been divided as to departments, but in one recent period this company's business done by mail was reported to be 70 per cent above that done in the corresponding period of the preceding year. Sears-Roebuck is expected to issue a four week period report today or tomorrow which, it is predicted, will detail substantial gains over last year.

Sales Increase 90 Per Cent.

Another house, Spiegel, May, Stern Company, Inc., yesterday issued its annual report, which disclosed that its net sales in 1933 were 90 per cent above those of 1932.

1. Prices of farm products have increased substantially.

2. The federal government has been and is pouring millions of dollars into the agricultural sections of the country.

3. The increase of general business has enabled the city folks to buy the products of the farmers in greater volume in recent months.

"All this money which has poured into the rural sections—no matter what the source—has had a stimulating effect on buying by farmers," an official of one company stated. "For years the farmer has had nothing to spend. Now he has some cash jingling in his pocket and he is spending it. He is buying his wife a new dress and new shoes for himself. He is buying wire to repair his fences and paint to brighten his home.

Pay Debts, Help Spending.

"Furthermore, farmers in some sections, through federal and other aid, are paying interest on mortgages, or they are making arrangements for refinancing their obligations. This has the effect of loosening purse strings of other groups in the rural communities, helping along the spending."

The cotton and tobacco growers, hog raisers, wheat and corn farmers and others are all getting money. Some is coming directly through federal subsidy and some is coming through higher prices.

The Spiegel, May, Stern report disclosed that 1933 sales totaled $13,540,792, compared with $7,114,359 in 1932. Net profit for the company for 1933 was $1,317,715, compared with a deficit of $318,291 in 1932. Current assets as of Dec. 31, 1933, stood at $11,545,711, while current liabilities were $4,678,075.

Judge Permits Dismissal of East Side Trust Receiver

Judge William V. Brothers entered an order in the Circuit court yesterday allowing the dismissal of the receiver of the East Side Trust and Savings bank, 10103 Ewing avenue, which has been closed since the bank holiday. It is said that the bank will reopen shortly. When it failed to open the bank had deposits exceeding $200,000. In connection with the reopening, depositors waived immediate payment of 50 per cent of their deposits and stockholders provided $80,000.

N. Y. RESERVE CUTS DISCOUNT RATE TO 1½ PCT.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

(Statistics on page 32, column 8.)

The way was paved yesterday for the federal government's huge financing program, calling for the flotation of billions of bonds by July 1, by the action of the directors of the Federal Reserve bank of New York in cutting its rediscount rate to the historic low figure, 1½ per cent.

Rediscount rate, the figure at which member banks borrow funds from the reserve, has held at 2 per cent since last October.

The new rate is the lowest for any central bank in the world. The Bank of England's present figure is 2 per cent and the Bank of France's 2½ per cent. Only once before in the history of the reserve system, for a few months in 1931, has the new low rate been equaled.

Move to Force Credit.

The reduction, it was said, also marks the beginning of another ambitious attempt on the part of the Roosevelt administration to force an expansion of credit. In this attempt the present administration is following the example of the Hoover regime during which a strenuous drive was made to stop the relentless tide of deflation by manipulation of the rediscount rate and open market operators. That attempt failed, but it apparently has not discouraged men now dictating the policies of the reserve system.

By making it cheaper for reserve member banks to borrow from the central institution the theory is that they will be more apt to extend credit to their own customers. This failed to pan out according to the dopesters early in the depression because of the frantic aim of the member banks to obtain extreme liquidity of resources.

Hope to Reverse Action.

The present administration apparently reasons that with the financial crisis past—as far as bank runs are concerned—a cut in the rate now will obtain the desired results.

The 1½ per cent rate was tried in the summer of 1931 for a few months, but was discarded when England left the gold standard in September and a huge run on American gold reserve began.

A similar easing of rediscount rates by other reserve banks usually follows a cut by the New York bank. Directors of the Chicago reserve bank hold their regular meeting this morning. Chicago rate is now 2½ per cent.

Bar to Foreign Capital.

The slash in the rate may also help to discourage an influx of foreign capital—funds which may be withdrawn at any time—which might logically have followed the establishment of an international gold bullion basis by this country. If it succeeds in opening the long term financing market it may also serve to relieve the RFC and other governmental agencies of part of the burden they are now carrying in tiding private enterprise over debt maturities.

The action too is interpreted as a public notice to the world that the New York Reserve once more resumes the function of a central bank in a gold standard country, thus giving assurance to foreign nations who were apprehensive that this country was

New York, Feb. 1.—Harmonizing with the rally in the stock market on the dollar devaluation news, speculative bonds monopolized bond trading today with a broad advance. Traders apparently considered secondary bonds as good a medium as stocks for quick profit making opportunities.

Gains of 1 to 4 points were rung up among speculative issues, with all the established favorites figuring prominently in the play. Coinciding with strength in the stocks of the company, International Telephone bonds advanced sharply, the debenture 4½s making a new high.

Wire Issues Benefited.

Postal 5s rose along with the bonds of the parent company, which was considered to be in a particularly good position to benefit from the dollar action, since a major part of its business is derived from abroad.

Railroad bonds not of the highest grade were in strong demand, gains of 1 to 2 points occurring in issues of Southern Pacific, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Illinois Central, Northern Pacific and Great Northern.

Volume totaled $26,189,000, compared with $19,435,000 yesterday. Nearly $17,000,000 was traded in the first three hours.

Treasury issues displayed a decidedly strong tone, although the market was quiet during the greater part of the day. The best showing was made by the 4¼s on a gain of about ⅜ of a point on a large turnover.

High Grades Rule Firm.

High grade bonds were eclipsed by the spectacular market for lower grades, but they held their ground impressively.

Germans were features of strength in the foreign section, and with a special reason. Before the market opened traders had the news from Berlin that instead of facing a reduction in long term debt payments holders of dollar bonds are likely to receive more in the first six months of 1934 than in the last half of 1933. South Americans vied with Germans for demand.

HOLC BONDS.

Home Owners' Loan corporation bonds were quoted at 96½ bid, 97½ asked, yesterday.

Timken-Detroit Axle.

Investors' Guide: Ar information will be appreciated on Timken-Detroit Axle company. Is there any preferred stock? You may publish.—P. J.

Answer: Timken-Detroit Axle company is one of the largest and oldest manufacturers of automobile axles. In recent years it has branched into the manufacture and sale of oil burners and is now the largest producer in that field. It also manufactures special axles for electric railway cars, bevel gears and other miscellaneous items.

Pickup in automobile sales did not come soon enough for the company to avoid a loss of $1,450,000 for the first half of 1933, against loss of $820,000 for the first six months of 1932.

Expenses in merging Silent Automatic company, a manufacturer of oil burners, and a $200,000 special reserve for accounts receivable and inventories, as well as adverse effects of general business conditions, accounted for a loss of $1,194,000 in 1932, against net income of $328,000, or 13 cents per common share, in 1931. Net income in 1930 was $842,000, against $1,513,000 in 1929 and $2,063,000 in 1928.

Current position has been maintained at a high level. On June 30, 1933, current assets were almost 10 times current liabilities, while cash assets alone were about 3½ times total current liabilities.

Funded debt, due serially to 1937, totals $869,000. Stock equity consists of 27,748 shares of 7 per cent $100 par cumulative preferred and 980,319 shares of $10 par common. Although dividends are being paid on the preferred, nothing has been paid on the common since April 1, 1931.

Both the preferred and common are speculative.

Great Western Tin Plate.

Investors' Guide: Where can one find that the Great Western Tin Plate company, located in Joliet, Ill., from 1890 to 1899, was a subsidiary of United States Steel corporation?—Mrs. F. H. E.

Answer: We have the following from H. L. Austin, controller of United States Steel corporation:

"Great Western Tin Plate company, located at Joliet, Ill., sold its plant to American Tin Plate company in December, 1898. Shortly thereafter the plant was dismantled. The capital stock of American Tin Plate company was acquired by United States Steel corporation April 1, 1901."

Norwegian Krone.

Investors' Guide: Kindly inform me as to the valuation of the Norwegian crown [krone] in 1931 in the month of April.—Mrs. H. O.

Answer: On April 1, 1931, the Norwegian krone was quoted at 26.745 cents; on April 15, 26.75 cents, and on April 29, 26.775 cents.

DETROIT BANK LENT $640,000 TO 43 JUDGES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C. Feb. 1.—The senate committee on banking and currency disclosed today that among the so-called "policy loans" on the books of the Wayne First National bank, major unit of the Detroit Bankers' company, were those of forty-three judges, most of them residents of Detroit.

These loans to judges, according to a statement supplied the committee by the receiver of the collapsed structure, totaled $639,631 as of Dec. 11, last, the most recent check by the receiver in charge of the liquidation of the bank. This was an average of $14,875 per judge. The names of these judges may be disclosed tomorrow.

Dividends Far Above Profits.

It was also brought out in evidence from the files of the controler of the currency that as of June, 1932, dividends declared by the First National exceeded the net earnings for the previous five years by nearly $15,000,000, while in November, 1932, loans to directors totaled $9,262,465, of which $6,588,192 were direct and $2,674,273 indirect loans.

The fast approaching collapse was pictured by the national examiners in startling fashion. The reports teemed with charges of "deplorable conditions," of failure to correct past managerial errors, of the continuance in office of incompetent officials who were described as "fair weather bankers," the declaration of unwarranted dividends, loss of morale, and the making of loans to directors, officers, employes and outsiders which were beyond the pale of good banking.

Stair Pleads Ignorance.

Edward D. Stair, publisher of the Detroit Free Press, who was president of the Detroit Bankers' company in the year preceding the crash in February, 1933, was the witness to whom Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, disclosed these criticisms and charges involving principally the Wayne First National, of which bank Stair was also a director.

Stair pleaded ignorance of most of the conditions brought to his attention. He was, he explained, 75 years old and his "memory was slipping." Also he pointed out that he was only "an honorary head" of the banking company, a nonactive head who drew no salary and whose only participation in the affairs of the company was a fairly regular attendance at board meetings. Until today he had no knowledge of the wholesale loans to judges. When the total of these loans was repeated to him he said he found it hard to believe it was true.

Witness Is Surprised.

"Are any judges among your stockholders?" asked Pecora.

"I do not know," replied Stair, "and if there are I don't know who they are. I know one who was a stockholder. I refer to Judge Tuttle of the United States court. I know of no other judge who was a stockholder."

Arthur J. Tuttle is the senior judge for the federal district of Michigan.

Stair had testified earlier in the day that "there was not the slightest reason for the closing of the First National bank, notwithstanding it had some bad loans."

"Over a period of two years," he said, "I should say at least $1,000,000 to $1,500,000 a week of deposits were oozing out through the unfortunate publicity of the radio priest there."

Father Charles E. Coughlin has taken part in the controversy over the Detroit banking situation.

FORD'S OUTPUT FOR LAST MONTH IS 57,575 CARS

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Ford production in the United States in January totaled 57,575 units, it was announced today at the home offices of the Ford Motor company.

The total was the largest January production since 1930 and the greatest volume in any month since June, 1932. The January pay roll in the immediate Detroit area totaled $1,500,000.

Actual production in January was 10,791 units in excess of the production originally scheduled for the month. This represents a 23 per cent increase over the first schedule. All of the increase, it was said, was required to meet additional orders from dealers beyond original commitments.

U. S. BOOSTS HOG ORDERS TO HALT PRICE DECLINES

Lighter Kinds Rise 25c; Cattle Sell Lower.

As the 50 cent increase in the federal processing tax on hogs became effective yesterday, the government threw more support into the market to head off the break in prices which developed in the preceding session. Packers representing the relief corporation were instructed to increase their purchases, and also to buy medium weight hogs if necessary to fill out their orders.

It was learned that the corporation increased its purchases more than 10,000 hogs daily at all points, bringing the total daily purchase above 32,000 head. The new order calls for 190 to 240 pound hogs to be cut into Wiltshire sides, frozen green, and held for instructions as to distribution.

Sell Unevenly Higher.

Receipts of hogs fell short yesterday and buying on federal account drove prices for 240 pound averages and under up fully 25 cents and in places the market for these kinds was as much as 30 to 35 cents above the low spots of the day before. However, only the light and medium weights bought for the government showed the full advance. Heavier hogs dragged when packers refused to follow the lead of government buyers.

"House" hogs averaging 250 pounds and heavier finished about in line with the average of Wednesday and fully 25 cents under the high point of the week. Federal buyers took 6,100 hogs at Chicago, mostly 170 to 240 pounds at $3.85 to $4, while packers bought sparingly in the 250 to 300 pound class at $3.45 to $3.75. Some houses remained out of the market.

The general average price for the day, including government purchases, at $3.75 showed 15 cents advance. Including the tax, hogs at this price must be sold to the wholesale pork trade in a basis of $5.25 live cost.

Cattle Prices Dip.

Cattle receipts were light yesterday, but the demand was lighter, and sellers met a difficult market. Prices ruled weak to 25 cents lower, the market easing as the day wore on. A fair number remained unsold.

Long yearlings of choice quality topped at $6.75. Twelve steers averaging 985 pounds reached $7. The bulk of beef steers cashed at $4.50 to 6.50, with few under the $4 line. Federal buying in canner cows held these steady, but other butcher stock shared in the general weakness.

Sheep and lambs advanced again, the former reaching the highest winter levels in four years. Old ewes averaging 110 pounds advanced 25 cents to $4.85. Lambs were carried into the late afternoon with packers and sellers at grips over prices. A few minutes before the session closed the bulk of good grades cleared at $9.35 to $9.50.

LONDON WOOL.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Offerings at the wool auction today amounted to 6,631 bales, of which 5,468 were sold. The moderate selection met with a fair demand, but lack of interest exhibited by the home trade and German buyers because of firm limits gave the market a quieter tone and caused frequent withdrawals. The series will end tomorrow.

GRAIN TRADERS NOT IMPRESSED BY MONEY MOVE

Wheat Closes Steady to Fraction Higher.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Grain and commodity traders were apparently not greatly impressed by the official devaluation of the dollar and the higher price for gold. A short burst of buying was witnessed at the start and wheat advanced about 1 cent and cotton 75 cents a bale, but both reacted and closed with little net change in prices. Sugar, coffee and cocoa closed higher and silver and hides lower. Rubber was unsettled.

A good part of the strength in wheat which sold at 93 cents for the May option at the top was due in large measure to the rise in stocks and to buying by houses with eastern connections. Liberal profit taking sales appeared on the bulges in grains and cotton.

Support Not Adequate.

There was some broadening in outside interests, but it was not sufficient to maintain the upturn in the face of the aggressive selling. Wheat and corn closed unchanged to ⅛ cent higher, oats unchanged to ⅜ cent higher, rye ¼ to ⅞ cent higher, and barley ½ cent higher.

Many wheat traders turned to the bear side of the market on the early advance due to the failure of outside interest to broaden materially on what was regarded as extremely bullish news. Lack of leadership on the buying side was pronounced.

Dry weather reports are rapidly assuming a more disquieting tone, and resulted in some selling of May and buying of July, the latter showing the most strength.

Wide Price Disparity.

The trade paid some attention to the wide disparity between May wheat in Chicago and Buenos Aires. The difference at the close yesterday was about 41 cents per bushel, while the import duty is 42 cents.

Frank A. Theis, chief of the marketing section of the AAA wheat division at Washington, was quoted as saying prices would have to advance materially before imports would be likely and said that should the United States price reach a point at which imports would be invited, the flexible provision of the 1930 tariff act would allow an increase in the duty by a maximum of 50 per cent, or 21 cents per bushel.

The provisions of the flexible tariff, however, were not brought into effect last fall when several million bushels of European and Canadian rye were imported despite the duty of 15 cents a bushel.

Winnipeg wheat gained 1 cent in American funds, while Liverpool was ¾ to ½ cent a bushel higher.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Fresh eggs were generally ½c higher. Refrigerators quoted at 17½+18c. Receipts 6,046 cases. Butter sold at former prices. Receipts 6,782 tubs. Potatoes easier on western and firmer on northern stock. Receipts 129 cars with 419 cars on team track. Live hens and old roosters were ½c higher and leghorn hens 1c higher. Receipts 2 cars and 21 trucks.

LARD STOCKS INCREASE; PRICES MOVE HIGHER

Stocks of dry salted clear bellies decreased 1,501,650 pounds for the month, and 16,115,828 pounds. A year ago stocks were 9,744,161 pounds.

Profit taking and hedging sales of lard futures were well absorbed due to the early advance of 15 to 25 cents in hogs and to a fair run of commission house buying.

Cash trade was fairly good and closing trades on lard futures were 15 to 17½ cents higher, and on bellies 5 to 12½ cents. Cash lard prices moved up 12½ cents to $5.85, loose advanced 15 cents to $5.15 and leaf gained 12½ cents and closed at $5.12½. Prices:

USED AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE.

a CADILLAC grows old in years ONLY

Only Factory trained men work on these cars which are now offered for sale by Cadillac's Exchanged Car Department . . . and you KNOW what you are getting.

List prices to the buyers are lower by actual dollars than so-called "Bargain Prices" ever could be. Be Sure . . . buy your first car or next car from CADILLAC.
